JFK HOLDS CONFERENCE

U.S. Fires Series Of Complaints At Berlin Blockade

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States fired a series of protests to Russia Friday over its blockade of U.S. troop convoys to West Berlin. President Kennedy conferred twice with his top advisors on the crisis.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk called in Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin to complain in strong terms what was described as the "hasty" and "entirely unwarranted" Russian delay of U. S. military traffic on the lifeline autobahn to West Berlin.

CONFERENCE

A few hours later, the President called in Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Llewellyn E. Thompson, the State Department's expert on Soviet affairs, for a 45-minute White House conference. The same four huddled again for 30 minutes late in the day.

A White House spokesman said the President would change his plans to leave at mid-day today for a weekend at Camp David, Md., if the Berlin situation had not eased before then.

Rusk delivered a brief, oral protest to Dobrynin and asked for an explanation of the latest East-West flare-up. Dobrynin was said to have promised to consult Moscow.

Similar protests were delivered to the Soviet government in Moscow and to the Soviet military command in East Germany.

Administration officials made no attempt to minimize the gravity of the situation, which aroused concern not seen in Washington since the Cuban missile crisis a year ago.

The implication was that Washington's policy was to give Moscow a chance to prevent a major new blowup over Berlin that could wreck current Soviet-American diplomatic efforts to ease cold war tensions.

On the other hand, high American officials believed that if the Russians refused to withdraw their blockade, they would be permitting a crisis to grow to the possible proportions of the showdown over Soviet missiles in Cuba last October.

Foy D. Kohler, U.S. Ambassador to Moscow, delivered a protest in the Soviet capitol and sought an explanation from Soviet government officials.

Army Forces Fight Berbers In Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—Rebel Berbers and Algerian army forces clashed in open battle Friday. While the Berbers gave ground, rebel chieftain Hocine Ait Ahmed called for war throughout the new nation against President Ahmed Ben Bella's regime.

The shooting followed 10 days of oral sniping.

Berber guerrilla forces suffered a setback in a fire fight at Fort National, in the Kabylie Mountains east of Algiers, when Algerian armor smashed into that town of 7,000 population. The rebels withdrew under heavy automatic weapons fire toward hill positions.

Headquarters of Ait Ahmed at the Berber stronghold of Michelet were evacuated and those forces also withdrew into wild mountain country.

On a twisting road through the mountains, Algerian troops rolled on toward Michelet. Snipers harried them from the hillsides.

Ait Ahmed, in uniform and draped with ammunition belts, urged Berbers at a rally in Michelet to give Ben Bella's forces no respite.

The Berber tactics followed a pattern used throughout the seven - year rebellion against French rule. The Berbers, backbone of that rebellion, are accustomed to fighting and fading. They frustrated the French and apparently were headed for the same kind of bitter warfare against the armed forces of Ben Bella.

Ait Ahmed, who broke with Ben Bella over what he called one-man rule, defiantly called for a general uprising.

There were reports that casualties were heavy, but there was no way to confirm them. An Associated Press newsman in the area said he understood Berber losses were high.

In an angry gesture toward a press it considers is not reporting the Berber uprising properly, the Algerian government today expelled Associated Press correspondent Andrew Borowiec, United Press International bureau manager Alain Raymond and a freelance French newsman.

Tories Thrust Lord Home Into Power Struggle

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — A powerful group of Conservative lawmakers thrust Foreign Secretary Lord Home into the power struggle to succeed stricken Harold Macmillan as Britain's prime minister.

The action, by several ex-ministers and senior politicians Friday, clearly was intended to shut out Richard A. Butler, deputy prime minister, and Lord Hailsham, the science minister who is renouncing his title to run for office.

But Butler, judged by all the rules of political form, still seemed to be front runner in the leadership race. A golden chance to enhance his claims awaits him today, when he makes the windup speech of the ruling Tories' annual conference here.

A leading member of the Cabinet reported leaders of the government and party alike are hoping to settle the issue within about a week.

"The longer this rat race goes on the more it will damage our party's chances to win next year's general election," he said bluntly. "Anyway, most of us are sick of what's going on."

There is a widespread impression that Home, dark horse candidate, could take over the prime ministership if he wants to.

Marshal Serves Official Papers

BATON ROUGE (AP) —A federal deputy marshal served Lt. Gov. C. C. (Taddy) Aycock Friday with papers in the U. S. Justice Department's new lawsuit attacking the constitutionality of Louisiana's voter registration laws.

Already served as defendants were Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion, Hugh Cutrer, director of the state Board of Registration, and House Speaker Tom Jewell.

Deputy marshal Tom Grace had made an appointment with Aycock to provide service.

The Justice Department filed suit Wednesday to overturn the registration law, contending it was designed to discriminate against Negro voter applicants.

South Africa Hit By U.N. On Prisoners

Group Demands Blanket Release For Dissenters

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — With only South Africa voting no, the U.N. General Assembly condemned that country anew Friday and demanded the blanket release of anyone held in jail there for opposing racial segregation.

HEAVY VOTE

The 111-nation assembly approved 106-1 an Asian-African resolution which asked also the immediate ending of the trial of a group of African nationalists charged with plotting armed revolt.

Acting on last-minute instructions the United States, Britain and France joined in supporting the resolution recommended to the assembly Thursday by its special political committee.

The big Western powers and six other nations had abstained in the 87-1 vote in the committee. Others who joined the West in switching to yes Friday were Canada, Belgium, Australia, New Zealand, the Netherlands and Panama.

Portugal, which had voted no in the committee, was absent in the assembly, along with Honduras, Spain and Paraguay.

Jubilant African delegates applauded loudly as the Western delegates announced the change in their position.

But the entire assembly greeted with dead silence the declaration by Hilgard Muller, the South African delegate, that the assembly was violating the U.N. charter by attempting to interfere with his country's judicial processes.

He said he had no official information on the group of 11 nationlists reportedly held for trial in Pretoria, but that he could assure the assembly that any prisoners could count on a free and fair trial.

He charted that by approving the Asian-African resolution the assembly was sowing the seeds of destruction of the United Nations.

U.S. Ambassador Francis T. P. Plimpton told the delegates that the "whole world knows the United States is uncompromisingly and irrevocably opposed to racial discrimination."

Condemnation of South Africa for its policy of apartheid has been voted many times before in the assembly, but never by such a large vote.

Friday's action followed South Africa's plea to the assembly to take a fresh look at the way its government is handling its racial problems.

ASKS FOR STINGING

Device Milks Bees Within 5 Minutes

WASHINGTON (AP)— A device that asks to be stung by whole colonies of honey bees is busy collecting bee venom for scientific research.

It takes five minutes for the device to milk a colony of bees—and it gets precious little venom for its effort.

But a group of Cornell University researchers reporting on the process said the device can be moved easily from hive to hive—and milking about 20 hives on the average yields about one-thirtieth of an ounce of venom.

That's roughly the venom produced by 10,000 worker bees under the best of conditions.

The device is rather simple in design. It shocks the bees electrically and often, this angers the bees who sting through a nylon material, ejecting their venom.

It's relatively safe for the bees too—since seldom more than a dozen in any hive lose their stingers in the process, the researchers reported in the journal "Science" of the American Association.

The chemical composition of bee venom is not well-known. Although the venom has been used to treat arthritis in Europe, there have been objections to such uses in the United States, largely because not enough of it has been available for analysis or clinical testing.

Bee venom might also be used to desensitize those persons who have wild allergic reactions to bee stings—but again not enough has been available.

The researchers encountered one drawback to the collection device. Bees in the colonies being milked get irritable. As they sting, they release a sort of alarm smell.

This excites any bee in the vicinity and he normally stings the nearest stingable object. The device operator had to use special clothing.

Barry Labels JFK's Policy As Disaster

Formula Leaves Threat By Reds For Tomorrow

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater on Friday night labled President Kennedy's foreign policy "the most disastrous" in United States history.

The silver-haired Arizona Republican said the Kennedy formula is: "Leave the problems of a retrenched Communist world for tomorrow; solve today only the political problems of the administration."

"Under the present administration," he said in an address prepared for the Military Order of the World Wars, "this nation is following the most disastrous foreign policy in its history."

RED CARPET

Goldwater flew to San Antonio and got a red-carpet welcome midway through a three-night speaking schedule that will take him across the nation.

A crowd of fans chanted, "We want Barry" and waved, "Goldwater for President" signs as the senator rode from the airport in an open convertible.

Goldwater, rated by poll takers as a leader among potential candidates for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, waved and leaned over to shake hands. In his speech, the conservative Republican said the strength built under past administrations has kept the peace.

"Should that strength wane, as the present administration seems to be willing to see it wane, then a combination of weakness at home and weakness abroad would invite ultimate disaster for this nation and for the hopes of freedom everywhere in the world," Goldwater said.

He said administration foreign policy "stands" wall-eyed in Berlin and cross-eyed in Paris and blind in Cuba."

Goldwater said the United States will "reap no new harvest of freedom by patching up the Soviets crumbling agricultural economy" with the wheat sale approved by Kennedy.

He said the President should have included a demand that the Russians get their troops out of Cuba as part of the wheat price tag.

In Africa, he charged, the administration "responds like a high-strung puppy to any mention of colonialism but shies like a frightened colt from the real problems of development."

Children's Day, Horse Show To End Fair Here

"Children's Day" and a quarter horse show will be the main activities on the final day of the 1963 Ouachita Valley Fair today.

Special low rates for admission and all rides will be effective from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. today for youngsters. Prices will be 15 cents, with the exception of the live pony ride.

A quarter horse show, beginning at 9 a.m., will feature four classes of halter competition.

Attendance numbered close to 5,000 Thursday, according to fair officials. Huge crowds are expected today to bring the grand total up to 45,000 for the six-day run.

An auction of the prize livestock raised by Future Farmers and 4-H Clubbers was the highlight of Friday's fair program. (See Auction story on Page 5-B).

Hurricane Flora Dies In Atlantic

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hurricane Flora, leaving almost 4,000 persons dead in her wake, was dying in the cold North Atlantic Friday night.

The 12-day old storm, its winds now diminished to 80 miles an hour, was located in a late advisory far off the North American coast.

The only danger the storm presented was to ships in its vicinity, the weather bureau said. Gale force winds extended 400 miles in all directions.

THESE ARE THREE of four persons, accused of being spies, who were exchanged between Russia and the U.S. Friday. Marvin W. Makinen, 24, of Ashburnham, Mass., left, imprisoned in Russia since July, 1961, and the Rev. Walter Ciszek, 59, Pennsylvania-born Roman Catholic priest, not shown, imprisoned since 1940 by the Russians were released by them. Ivan D. Egorov, 41, right, and his wife, Aleksandra, 39, center, were released by the U.S. They were arrested and charged as Russian spies by the U.S. in July of this year. (AP Wirephoto)

New Carrier Causes Rift In Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The question of whether a new Navy carrier should be atomic-powered whipped up a sharp controversy Friday in the Pentagon.

It produced what amounted to a split between Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and one of his civilian service chiefs, Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth.

The question, which had been hanging fire for months while the Navy argued the nuclear power and McNamara listened, flamed into a red hot issue between the two associates Thursday.

McNamara tentatively decided that spending an extra $180 million to provide atomic instead of conventional power for the carrier which Congress has approved would fly in the face of efforts to hold down defense costs.

Korth, who for months had been conferring with his naval designers and operators and with McNamara, went back to McNamara with a protest.

A report of McNamara's tentative decision was published.

Korth, a man of powerful voice and firm opinion, apparently made a strong presentation.

When newsmen asked at the Pentagon about the report that McNamara had decided that the new carrier should not receive additional funds for atomic engines, the Defense Department replied only that: "No final decision has been made."

Congress last year authorized building a conventionally powered carrier. Normally, the contract for construction would have been awarded before last June 30, which marked the end of the fiscal year in which the authorization was granted.

Extension of time does not mean with any certainty that McNamara may change his tentative ruling. He rarely changes his mind.

The controversy is only part of what can forebode more trouble over the carrier fleet and Korth's proposal that in the future all combatant ships over 8,000 tons be powered with nuclear plants.

Fair Forecast For Area Today

Temperatures in the Twin Cities today won't experience any significant changes according to the area weatherman. Today's forecast calls for more clear and fair "summertime" weather with hardly a cloud in the sky.

FAIR

Today's high will be somewhere between 88 and 93 and the low tonight will range from 52 to 60. The mercury soared to a warm high of 94 for Friday.

Winds in the Monroe area are expected to be between 5 and 15 m.p.h. and will vary in direction. The weatherman still says no to any forecast of rain.

TAKES TRADE ELSEWHERE

U.S. Disapproves Korea Wheat Buy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States protested Friday that South Korea bought $5 million of grain from Canada and Australia after America sent its Asian ally more than one million tons on generous terms.

The protest that this was "a rude act" was made to Kim Hakyol, vice chairman of the South Korean Economic Planning Board, at a meeting with U.S. foreign aid, agriculture and State Department officials

'EMBARRASSED'

Kim was reported to have complained bitterly at the meeting that he is being "embarrassed all over Washington" by the actions of the South Korean Agriculture Ministry.

The Agriculture Department, on the basis of data just received, learned that Korean grain importers bought 40,000 metric tons of Canadian wheat, 25,000 tons of Canadian barley, and 10,000 to 13,000 tons of Australian wheat, for delivery this year. The purchases were made through the giant Japanese trading firms of Mitsubishi and Mitsui, and credit terms were described as "easy."

The United States, according to aid officials, has arranged for the delivery of more than $55 million worth of grain to South Korea during this calendar year, either on a gift basis or with repayment to be in Korean hwan.

Bathing Babies Creates Hazard, Britishers Say

LONDON (AP) — Two specialists cried out Friday against doctors who advocate daily baths and cold fresh air for babies.

Writing in the British medical journal, the Lancet, Drs. Margaret Kerr and Gavin C. Arnell said:

"What we are saying is common sense. Actually, it would not hurt a baby if it never had a bath.

"A wash of the necessary parts is quite sufficient, without removing any clothes."

Dr. Kerr is on the staff of the Glasgow Royal Maternity Hospital. Dr. Arnell is on the staff of Glasgow University's Department of Child Health.

Some mothers may fault the Scottish doctors on the point — both are childless.

"Daily bathing is unnecessary," said their article. "It should be condemned in cold weather unless a steady room temperature of at least 70 degrees can be maintained."

For years a large section of the British public has condemned central heating as something oddly American or effeminate.

In the coldest weather they will throw open the windows.

WANTS STOCKADE

Perez To Lease Abandoned Fort

POINTE A LA HACHE, La. (AP) — Political chief Leander H. Perez wants to be really prepared if any racial demonstrators ever arrive in his Plaquemines Parish.

Perez, 72, a vigorous segregationist, got authorization Thursday from the Parish Council to negotiate a lease for old Ft. St. Philip. Perez is president of the council.

He wants to fix it up as a stockade for arrested racial demonstrators by encircling it with an electrified fence.

The old fort is located at the Mississippi River's Plaquemines Bend, about 80 miles south of New Orleans. The marshy parish extends from New Orleans southward to the Gulf.

The fort can be reached only by boat, helicopter or over miles of snake infested marsh. It's about 40 miles upriver from the Gulf.

The council also gave Perez a resolution that he take into custoday the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. a Negro civil rights leader, "should he see fit to visit the parish in case of trouble.'

Back in 1803, French Prefect Pierre Clement de Laussat visited Ft. St. Philip and described it as "like an isle and in the midst of marshlands. One is eaten alive by red bugs, mosquitoes and gnats." It hasn't changed much.

Perez said he learned last Sunday that a "national race agitator was in the parish stirring up dissension among the Negro population." Police couldn't find h Perez added.

The fort, located at the bend of the river com stream, has been deserted the owner, the late John V died last year. It was his hon. for years.

Freed Priest Held By Reds For 23 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States traded two accused Soviet spies Friday for two Americans imprisoned by the Russians, one of them for the last 23 years.

The Americans were the Rev. Walter Ciszek, 59, a Pennsylvania-born Roman Catholic priest, who was arrested in the Soviet Union in 1940 for espionage and who spent years in Siberia, and Marvin W. Makinen, 24, a former Fulbright scholar from Ashburnham, Mass., sentenced to eight years in Kiev for espionage.

EN ROUTE HOME

The Americans already were on their way home, due to arrive by transatlantic airliner in New York today. They were believed to be the only ones still imprisoned in the Soviet Union.

The Russians, who were to be flown out of Idlewild Airport late Friday night, were Ivan D. Egorov, 41, Soviet-born personnel officer for the United Nations, and his wife, Aleksandra, 39.

It was the second big Moscow-Washington spy trade in less than three years.

On Feb. 10, 1961, American U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers was released after 21 months in a Soviet prison, where he was sent for spying from a high-flying photo plane that had been downed in Soviet territory the previous spring.

In return for Powers, the United States released Soviet master spy Rudolf Abel, who was serving a 30-year prison term in this country for stealing military and nuclear secrets for his homeland.

A key figure in the 1961 swap was James B. Donovan, a prominent New York attorney, who later figured in the ransom of more than 1,100 Cubans imprisoned by Prime Minister Fidel Castro after the Bay of Pigs invasion.

Federal authorities said the latest trade was worked out in U.S.-Soviet negotiations in Moscow and Washington. They said it was not brought up in talks in Washington on Thursday between President

Woman Killed, Two Injured In Area Accident

JENA (Special) — A two-car collision at 3:45 p.m. Friday on Louisiana Hwy. 8, about 10 miles southwest of Jena, claimed the life of one person and left two others injured.

Dead is Mrs. Daisy Dayton, 49, of Whitehall.

Injured are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crook, of Jena, who were taken to an Alexandria hospital.

According to La Salle Parish sheriff officials the brakes on the automobile driven by Mrs. Dayton, locked, causing the car to go out of control and into the path of a northbound vehicle driven by Crook. Officials said that Mrs. Dayton apparently applied the brakes in an effort to keep from meeting the Crook automobile on a narrow bridge.

Crook's only other passenger was his daughter, Debra. She received minor bruises about the head and arms. Mrs. Dayton was alone.

The traffic fatality was the second for La Salle Parish this year. The first was last week when Dewey L. Moss, 65, of Alexandria, crashed into a tree near Jena.

Children's Day, Horse Show To End Fair Here

"Children's Day" and a quarter horse show will be the main activities on the final day of the 1963 Ouachita Valley Fair today.

Special low rates for admission and all rides will be effective from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. today for youngsters. Prices will be 15 cents, with the exception of the live pony ride.

A quarter horse show, beginning at 9 a.m., will feature four classes of halter competition.

Attendance numbered close to 5,000 Thursday, according to fair officials. Huge crowds are expected today to bring the grand total up to 45,000 for the six-day run.

An auction of the prize livestock raised by Future Farmers and 4-H Clubbers was the highlight of Friday's fair program. (See Auction story on Page 5-B).

Hurricane Flora Dies In Atlantic

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hurricane Flora, leaving almost 4,000 persons dead in her wake, was dying in the cold North Atlantic Friday night.

The 12-day old storm, its winds now diminished to 80 miles an hour, was located in a late advisory far off the North American coast.

The only danger the storm presented was to ships in its vicinity, the weather bureau said. Gale force winds extended 400 miles in all directions.

THESE ARE THREE of four persons, accused of being spies, who were exchanged between Russia and the U.S. Friday. Marvin W. Makinen, 24, of Ashburnham, Mass., left, imprisoned in Russia since July, 1961, and the Rev. Walter Ciszck, 59, Pennsylvania-born Roman Catholic priest, not shown, imprisoned since 1940 by the Russians were released by them. Ivan D. Egorov, 41, right, and his wife, Aleksandra, 39, center, were released by the U.S. They were arrested and charged as Russian spies by the U.S. in July of this year. (AP Wirephoto)

Freed Priest Held By Reds For 23 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States traded two accused Soviet spies Friday for two Americans imprisoned by the Russians, one of them for the last 23 years.

The Americans were the Rev. Walter Ciszek, 59, a Pennsylvania-born Roman Catholic priest, who was arrested in the Soviet Union in 1940 for espionage and who spent years in Siberia, and Marvin W. Makinen, 24, a former Fulbright scholar from Ashburnham, Mass., sentenced to eight years in Kiev for espionage.

EN ROUTE HOME

The Americans already were on their way home, due to arrive by transatlantic airliner in New York today. They were believed to be the only ones still imprisoned in the Soviet Union.

The Russians, who were to be flown out of Idlewild Airport late Friday night, were Ivan D. Egorov, 41, Soviet-born personnel officer for the United Nations, and his wife, Aleksandra, 39.

It was the second big Moscow-Washington spy trade in less than three years.

On Feb. 10, 1961, American U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers was released after 21 months in a Soviet prison, where he was sent for spying from a high-flying photo plane that had been downed in Soviet territory the previous spring.

In return for Powers, the United States released Soviet master spy Rudolf Abel, who was serving a 30-year prison term in this country for stealing military and nuclear secrets for his homeland.

A key figure in the 1961 swap was James B. Donovan, a prominent New York attorney, who later figured in the ransom of more than 1,100 Cubans imprisoned by Prime Minister Fidel Castro after the Bay of Pigs invasion.

Federal authorities said the latest trade was worked out in U.S.-Soviet negotiations in Moscow and Washington. They said it was not brought up in talks in Washington on Thursday between President

New Carrier Causes Rift In Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The question of whether a new Navy carrier should be atomic-powered whipped up a sharp controversy Friday in the Pentagon.

It produced what amounted to a split between Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and one of his civilian service chiefs, Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth.

The question, which had been hanging fire for months while the Navy argued the nuclear power and McNamara listened, flamed into a red hot issue between the two associates Thursday.

McNamara tentatively decided that spending an extra $180 million to provide atomic instead of conventional power for the carrier which Congress has approved would fly in the face of efforts to hold down defense costs.

Korth, who for months had been conferring with his naval designers and operators and with McNamara, went back to McNamara with a protest.

A report of McNamara's tentative decision was published.

Korth, a man of powerful voice and firm opinion, apparently made a strong presentation.

When newsmen asked at the Pentagon about the report that McNamara had decided that the new carrier should not receive additional funds for atomic engines, the Defense Department replied only that: "No final decision has been made."

Congress last year authorized building a conventionally powered carrier. Normally, the contract for construction would have been awarded before last June 30, which marked the end of the fiscal year in which the authorization was granted.

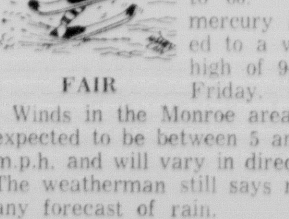
Extension of time does not mean with any certainty that McNamara may change his tentative ruling. He rarely changes his mind.

The controversy is only part of what can forebode more trouble over the carrier fleet and Korth's proposal that in the future all combatant ships over 8,000 tons be powered with nuclear plants.

Fair Forecast For Area Today

Temperatures in the Twin Cities today won't experience any significant changes according to the area weatherman. Today's forecast calls for more clear and fair "summertime" weather with hardly a cloud in the sky.

Today's high will be somewhere between 88 and 93 and the low tonight will range from 52 to 60. The mercury soared to a warm high of 94 for Friday.



FAIR

Winds in the Monroe area are expected to be between 5 and 15 m.p.h. and will vary in direction. The weatherman still says no to any forecast of rain.

TAKES TRADE ELSEWHERE

U.S. Disapproves Korea Wheat Buy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States protested Friday that South Korea bought $5 million of grain from Canada and Australia after America sent its Asian ally more than one million tons on generous terms.

The protest that this was "a rude act" was made to Kim Hakyol, vice chairman of the South Korean Economic Planning Board, at a meeting with U.S. foreign aid, agriculture and State Department officials

'EMBARRASSED'

Kim was reported to have complained bitterly at the meeting that he is being "embarrassed all over Washington" by the actions of the South Korean Agriculture Ministry.

The Agriculture Department, on the basis of data just received, learned that Korean grain importers bought 40,000 metric tons of Canadian wheat, 25,000 tons of Canadian barley, and 10,000 to 13,000 tons of Australian wheat, for delivery this year. The purchases were made through the giant Japanese trading firms of Mitsubishi and Mitsui, and credit terms were described as "easy."

The United States, according to aid officials, has arranged for the delivery of more than $55 million worth of grain to South Korea during this calendar year, either on a gift basis or with repayment to be in Korean hwan.

Bathing Babies Creates Hazard, Britishers Say

LONDON (AP) — Two specialists cried out Friday against doctors who advocate daily baths and cold fresh air for babies.

Writing in the British medical journal, the Lancet, Drs. Margaret Kerr and Gavin C. Arnell said:

"What we are saying is common sense. Actually, it would not hurt a baby if it never had a bath.

"A wash of the necessary parts is quite sufficient, without removing any clothes."

Dr. Kerr is on the staff of the Glasgow Royal Maternity Hospital. Dr. Arnell is on the staff of Glasgow University's Department of Child Health.

Some mothers may fault the Scottish doctors on the point — both are childless.

"Daily bathing is unnecessary," said their article. "It should be condemned in cold weather unless a steady room temperature of at least 70 degrees can be maintained."

For years a large section of the British public has condemned central heating as something oddly American or effeminate.

In the coldest weather they will throw open the windows.

WANTS STOCKADE

Perez To Lease Abandoned Fort

POINTE A LA HACHE, La. (AP) — Political chief Leander H. Perez wants to be really prelared if any racial demonstrators ever arrive in his Plaquemines Parish.

Perez, 72, a vigorous segregationist, got authorization Thursday from the Parish Council to negotiate a lease for old Ft. St. Philip. Perez is president of the council.

He wants to fix it up as a stockade for arrested racial demonetrators by encircling it with an electrified fence.

The old fort is located at the Mississippi River's Plaquemines Bend, about 80 miles south of New Orleans. The marshy parish extends from New Orleans southward to the Gulf.

The fort can be reached only by boat, helicopter or over miles of snake infested marsh. It's about 40 miles upriver from the Gulf.

The council also gave Perez a resolution that he take into custoday the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. a Negro civil rights leader, "should he see fit to visit the parish in case of trouble.'

Back in 1803, French Prefect Pierre Clement de Laussat visited Ft. St. Philip and described it as "like an isle and in the midst of marshlands. One is eaten alive by red bugs, mosquitoes and gnats." It hasn't changed much.

Perez said he learned last Sunday that a "national race agitator was in the parish stirring up dissension among the Negro population." Police couldn't find hi

Woman Killed, Two Injured In Area Accident

JENA (Special) — A two-car collision at 3:45 p.m. Friday on Louisiana Hwy. 8, about 10 miles southwest of Jena, claimed the life of one person and left two others injured.

Dead is Mrs. Daisy Dayton, 49, of Whitehall.

Injured are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crook, of Jena, who were taken to an Alexandria hospital.

According to La Salle Parish sheriff officials the brakes on the automobile driven by Mrs. Dayton, locked, causing the car to go out of control and into the path of a northbound vehicle driven by Crook. Officials said that Mrs. Dayton apparently applied the brakes in an effort to keep from meeting the Crook automobile on a narrow bridge.

Crook's only other passenger was his daughter, Debra. She received minor bruises about the head and arms. Mrs. Dayton was alone.

The traffic fatality was the second for La Salle Parish this year. The first was last week when Dewey L. Moss, 65, of Alexandria, crashed into a tree near Jena.

I am a young mother who quit high school at a very early age to get married. I have never finished my education and would now like to do so. Is there any way a person in Ouachita Parish can get a high school diploma that would be as good as one gained from attending the public schools?

According to Jack Young at the Ouachita Parish School Board office, there is an adult education program available in the parish. Jack said the classes meet twice a week — Monday and Thursday nights — at Crosley School in West Monroe. Tuition is free, he said, and the only expense is in materials such as workbooks, pencils and paper. He said the course will lead to a high school equivalency diploma which is equal to one received upon graduation from an accredited high school.

Is there a state or parish law concerning a teacher punishing a student?

According to P. B. Mangum, assistant Ouachita Parish superintendent of schools and former principal at West Monroe High School, there is no specific law relating to a teacher punishing a student. There is, however, a law forbidding any adult to administer corporal punishment (whippings, etc.) to minors. Mangum said that when he was a principal he and his faculty "counseled" students who were causing disciplinary problems. If this did not produce results, he said, then suspension from school was the next step taken. Then talks with the parents were held in order for the student to resume his school work. The length and severity of the suspension, Mangum said, were determined by the seriousness of the student's offense.

How does Columbia University compare with the outstanding universities in the United States?

This is a difficult question to answer since you give no indication of what fields you would like to compare Columbia with other institutions. However, Columbia is generally highly regarded in education fields. We submit the following information on the university to assist in making a determination:

Columbia University has a student body of 28,002 and a faculty of 4,258. These figures include the university itself, the New York School of Social Work and the Columbia Teacher's College. Columbia was founded in 1754 and in addition to the above facilities, has a medical school. This information was gathered from the latest World Almanac.

The sheriff's department and the police jury are bodies spending the most tax money at the local level. Their books are audited regularly. Is this audit available and is there a list of employees and their salaries available to the public?

L. B. Pettit, president of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury said that the audit is available at the police jury office in the court house. He also said that a listing of parish employees and their salaries is now being compiled and that he expects it will be available within the next week.

Sheriff Bailey Grant said that the audit was available to the press but would not be made available in his office to the general public. He explained that he could not efficiently run his office with people coming in daily to examine his books. He said any information contained in the audit will be made available upon request to the local press. He also said the same applies to employees and payroll figures in his office. He said he would not make the information available to individuals in his office but would be glad to supply the figures to the press.

Incidentally, the audits are done by J. B. Lancaster, supervisor of public funds, from Baton Rouge. Copies of his audit are made available to the Morning World and are published after being completed.

Is it true that Ouachita Parish High School will discontinue its homecoming parade and activities this year?

It is true that the parade will be discontinued this year, according to Principal S. T. Howell, but other activities will be continued. Howell said that the parade is being discontinued after a study of about two years. He said the school's money and energy will be channeled toward expanded decorations on the campus and in other homecoming activities rather than the parade. Howell said that the distance of the campus from the downtown area was one factor in the parade being discontinued. He said that the parade area was so far from the campus that many of the students could not get downtown to watch the parade. And he pointed out that by the time floats traveled the distance downtown, they were usually damaged. He also said the extreme length of the parade route snarled traffic for too long.

Homecoming at OPHS will be Oct. 18 — next Friday.

Is there a federal law which says "in order to qualify for federal aid for the public school lunch program, there can be nothing on competition with it on the school campus, such as a concession stand, during the lunch period?" If so when was it passed and who administers the law?

Our Washington news bureau wired the following reply:

"Earl L. Butler, head of the Department of Agriculture's school lunch division, says there is no law or formal department regulation applying to private concessions competing with school lunch cafeterias. However, the department has issued a policy statement to state-level school lunch agencies urging opposition to such concessions, except where concession profits return to the school. Butler says problem is mainly nutritional one: students buying from concession stand often fail to get balanced diet."

Who authored the legislative retirement bill passed by the recent legislature and what changes does it provide?

According to a resume of acts of the 1963 extra session of the Legislature (June 18-June 27), the bill in question was authored by Sen. B. B. Rayburn of Bogalusa, Rep. Vail Delony of Lake Providence, and Rep. Welborn Jack of Shreveport. Prior law required members of the Legislature to contribute an addiitonal three per cent of their salary and expense allowances to the retirement system to which they belong and provided an additional benefit for legislators equal to 1 per cent times the years of service. Persons who were or had been clerk of the House or president of the secretary of the Senate were also required to contribute an additional 2 per cent and provided an additional 1 per cent benefit for these. The new law increases the additional benefit for legislators and for the others mentioned above from 1 per cent to 2 per cent times years of service and states that such provision expresses the true intent of the Legislature in enacting Act 141 of 1962. Also increases the additional contribution of the clerk of the House and the president and the secretary of the Senate from 2 per cent to 3 per cent beginning July 1, 1963. It also provides that the computation of benefits for all these people shall be based on the average compensation for any five years of compensation, but retains the provisions that the allowance shall not be reduced for retirement prior to any applicable normal retirement age but that no allowance may exceed 100 per cent of the five highest years of compensation.

Under prior law, legislators who were members of an actuarially funded retirement system or who became members of a system within 60 days after June 29, 1959, were allowed credit for all service as a state employee prior to July 1, 1959, by paying 5 per cent of all salary earned as a state employee between Jan. 1, 1948, and June 29, 1959, which payment had to be made within six months after June 29, 1959. New law allows any legislator who is or becomes a member of an actuarially funded retirement system by Dec. 31, 1963, to obtain credit for all service as a state employee prior to Dec. 31, 1963, if he pays the same percentages on salaries and expenses as required of other legislators, which payment must be made by Dec. 31, 1963.

No provisions are made in this bill for a pension for the governor.

Wilson and Alabama Streets in Monroe have been repaired. Will the lower end of Georgia Street be paved?

Street Commissioner W.D.H. Rodriguez said yes, and added that the street is included in the 1964 street program. He said repairs and paving of the street were proposed by the city for the 1963 program but property owners requested nothing be done. Their reason, the commissioner said, was that trucks at that time using Mississippi Street would move to Georgia if it were paved and this objection should be nullified. The street, he said, is not too important to the Monroe traffic pattern but was in need of paving, and the city recognizes the need.

INDICATIONS MOUNT

Dam May Cause Repercussions

BELLUNO, Italy (AP) — Indications mounted Friday of political repercussions from the Vaiont dam reservoir disaster with suggestions that the vast loss of life, estimated at 3,000 might have been avoided.

Communist senators and deputies charged that technicians at the 873-foot-high dam and government authorities had at least an hour's warning of impending disaster Wednesday night but failed to give an alarm.

A Christian Democrat deputy recalled that the people of this Italian Alpine area north of Venice had fears about the dam from the time it was first planned in 1959 to harness waters of the Vaiont River for a hydroelectric project.

A landslide Wednesday night brought on the disaster. Millions of tons of earth and stone tore loose from Mt. Toc and plunged into the reservoir, four miles long and 440 yards wide.

Displaced water flooded the lower Vaiont and Piaye River valleys, destroying whole villages.

Most of the victims are buried under tons of mud and rock.

Thousands of Italian army troops—aided by U.S. and Swiss helicopters and French disaster experts — have recovered only about 700 bodies.

The work was carried on under the threat of an epidemic. All persons in the area were ordered inoculated.

Helicopters carried 200 persons from Mt. Toc villages threatened by new slides but many inhabitants refused to leave.

Soldiers undertook a search for personal belongsings. In Longarone, a town of 4,600 which was hardest hit, all the watches, rings and other items found hardly filled an aluminum cooking pot.

Premier Giovanni Leone personally toured the area in a helicopter.

Leone is expected to resign next month to open the way for a center-left government based on an accord between the Christian Democrat and Socialist parties. But the disaster probably will be felt in the political maneuvering.

Sen. Mauro Scoccimarro, president of the Communist group in the Senate, told a Belluno news conference that his party will call for the creation of an all-party parliamentary inquiry commission.

The Communist lawmaker said he and other Red Parliament members had obtained evidence that engineers at the dam phoned national police an hour befor the disaster to warn of trouble.

Scoccimarro noted that the Rome Communist paper L'Unita had been prosecuted two years ago on charges of publishing false news after running a story that the dam was in a geologically dangerous area. The paper was acquitted.

Giacomo Corona, a Christian Democrat leader for years, said the Communist were trying to capitalize on the disaster.

But he said the population in the area had long been concerned about the dam. The Belluno Provincial Council voted a resolution of concern two years ago.

Chips From The Stump

Kennon-Passman

NEW ORLEANS (Special) — Robert F. Kennon and Congressman Otto E. Passman met in New Orleans Friday night and held a press conference before teaming for a weekend campaign swing through south Louisiana.

Passman has endorsed Kennon's candidacy for the Louisiana governorship and declared intentions of actively campaigning for Kennon "because he made Louisiana the best governor our state ever had in 1953-56 and because he is the best qualified man in the race now."

Passman told a press conference that he was "deeply concerned about the many problems that face our state and nation. Louisiana needs a man of Bob Kennon's stature and ability in the governor's office," Passman declared.

The fifth district congressman from Monroe has been called America's foremost critic of foreign aid waste.

He said he would appear on the campaign stump for Kennon as much as his busy Washington schedule would permit between now and election time on December 7.

"I feel that, as a responsible citizen who understands and is deeply concerned about the problems of our times, I have an obligation to support and help elect the man best qualified to be our next governor. I believe," Passman said, "that every citizen has such an obligation.

"These are very critical times — more critical than many of us realize," Passman said.

"I am convinced that among the several candidates for governor Judge Kennon is the only one with the qualifications background, and ability and convictions to effectively lead our state in the direction in which it must go.

"This is particularly true," Passman said, "in dealing with the matter of federal interference in state, local and individual rights.

"While governor of Louisiana before, Bob Kennon was outstanding and did more for Louisiana than any governor before or since.

"He brought more industry to our state than any governor before or since. More than 30,000 new industrial jobs were brought to Louisiana during his term.

"He practically eliminated organized gambling and as a result more pay checks went home to wives and children instead of being given to the underworld element. Dope peddlers who preyed on our youth were dealt with harshly, many of them still serving prison terms.

"He brought decency and integrity to our state government.

"Bob Kennon demonstrated a deep human understanding and concern when he improved and modernized our mental medical and penal institutions.

"As our governor, Kennon sponsored a civil service system that gave our career state employees pride and dignity, in addition to security from political firings," Passman declared.

"The record of Robert Kennon as our governor is one of achievement, economy integrity and business-like government.

"It is reassuring to review Judge Kennon's great record and know that he will be our next governor," Passman said.

He concluded "That my friends, is why I intend to do anything that is honorable and within my power to help him be elected."

Jackson

D. W. McBride of Oak Grove has been selected as fifth district coordinator for the Shelby M. Jackson gubernatorial campaign.

His job will be to coordinate the parish Jackson for Governor organizations with the state Jackson committee. Headquarters for the fifth district Jackson candidacy are located at 603 Louisville in Monroe. It was announced the Jackson organization has a full time staff at this location.

McBride is a retired high school principal and farmer. He served as teacher and coach for one year at Weston High School in Jackson Parish, as principal at Kilbourne High School in West Carroll for two years, and as principal of Oak Grove High School 39 years, before retiring last year.

U.S. Allocates Hurricane Fund To Aid Haitians

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States allocated $250,000 from foreign aid funds Friday for transportation and related services for the relief of hurricane-devastated Haiti.

The Agency for International Development, which announced the allocation, said the Department of Defense will coordinate the operation under the command of Adm. Harold P. Smith, commander in chief of U.S. Atlantic Forces.

Government and private agencies are working closely in the relief effort, and a U.S. military cargo plane is flying 26,000 pounds of donated food, clothing and drugs from Norfolk, Va.

Stocks of U.S. food, commodities, drugs and clothing, have been diverted from other areas.

CARE, Catholic Relief Services, Church World Service, and the Salvation Army are participating. The American Red Cross and its representatives are buying cooking utensils and other relief supplies.

U.S. Chamber Asks For More Liberal Trade

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Chamber of Commerce Friday called for more liberalized trade policies toward the Soviet Union as a followup to the pending wheat deal with Moscow.

In a statement endorsing the wheat sale, chamber President Edwin P. Neilan said now "seems to be an opportune time to explore the possibility of broadened, liberalized trade with the Soviet Union in other non-strategic goods under the same conditions as the wheat sales."

He added, "good two-way trade cements peaceful relations."

The sheriff's department and the police jury are bodies spending the most tax money at the local level. Their books are audited regularly. Is this audit available and is there a list of employees and their salaries available to the public?

L. B. Pettit, president of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury said that the audit is available at the police jury office in the court house. He also said that a listing of parish employees and their salaries is now being compiled and that he expects it will be available within the next week.

Sheriff Bailey Grant said that the audit was available to the press but would not be made available in his office to the general public. He explained that he could not efficiently run his office with people coming in daily to examine his books. He said any information contained in the audit will be made available upon request to the local press. He also said the same applies to employees and payroll figures in his office. He said he would not make the information available to individuals in his office but would be glad to supply the figures to the press.

Incidentally, the audits are done by J. B. Lancaster, supervisor of public funds, from Baton Rouge. Copies of his audit are made available to the Morning World and are published after being completed.

Is it true that Ouachita Parish High School will discontinue its homecoming parade and activities this year?

It is true that the parade will be discontinued this year, according to Principal S. T. Howell, but other activities will be continued. Howell said that the parade is being discontinued after a study of about two years. He said the school's money and energy will be channeled toward expanded decorations on the campus and in other homecoming activities rather than the parade. Howell said that the distance of the campus from the downtown area was one factor in the parade being discontinued. He said that the parade area was so far from the campus that many of the students could not get downtown to watch the parade. And he pointed out that by the time floats traveled the distance downtown, they were usually damaged. He also said the extreme length of the parade route snarled traffic for too long.

Homecoming at OPHS will be Oct. 18 — next Friday.

Is there a federal law which says "in order to qualify for federal aid for the public school lunch program, there can be nothing on competition with it on the school campus, such as a concession stand, during the lunch period?" If so when was it passed and who administers the law?

Our Washington news bureau wired the following reply:

"Earl L. Butler, head of the Department of Agriculture's school lunch division, says there is no law or formal department regulation applying to private concessions competing with school lunch cafeterias. However, the department has issued a policy statement to state-level school lunch agencies urging opposition to such concessions, except where concession profits return to the school. Butler says problem is mainly nutritional one: students buying from concession stand often fail to get balanced diet."

Who authored the legislative retirement bill passed by the recent legislature and what changes does it provide?

According to a resume of acts of the 1963 extra session of the Legislature (June 18-June 27), the bill in question was authored by Sen. B. B. Rayburn of Bogalusa, Rep. Vail Delony of Lake Providence, and Rep. Welborn Jack of Shreveport. Prior law required members of the Legislature to contribute an addiitonal three per cent of their salary and expense allowances to the retirement system to which they belong and provided an additional benefit for legislators equal to 1 per cent times the years of service. Persons who were or had been clerk of the House or president of the secretary of the Senate were also required to contribute an additional 2 per cent and provided an additional 1 per cent benefit for these. The new law increases the additional benefit for legislators and for the others mentioned above from 1 per cent to 2 per cent times years of service and states that such provision expresses the true intent of the Legislature in enacting Act 141 of 1962. Also increases the additional contribution of the clerk of the House and the president and the secretary of the Senate from 2 per cent to 3 per cent beginning July 1, 1963. It also provides that the computation of benefits for all these people shall be based on the average compensation for any five years of compensation, but retains the provisions that the allowance shall not be reduced for retirement prior to any applicable normal retirement age but that no allowance may exceed 100 per cent of the five highest years of compensation.

Under prior law, legislators who were members of an actuarially funded retirement system or who became members of a system within 60 days after June 29, 1959, were allowed credit for all service as a state employee prior to July 1, 1959, by paying 5 per cent of all salary earned as a state employee between Jan. 1, 1948, and June 29, 1959, which payment had to be made within six months after June 29, 1959. New law allows any legislator who is or becomes a member of an actuarially funded retirement system by Dec. 31, 1963, to obtain credit for all service as a state employee prior to Dec. 31, 1963, if he pays the same percentages on salaries and expenses as required of other legislators, which payment must be made by Dec. 31, 1963.

No provisions are made in this bill for a pension for the governor.

Wilson and Alabama Streets in Monroe have been repaired. Will the lower end of Georgia Street be paved?

Street Commissioner W.D.H. Rodriguez said yes, and added that the street is included in the 1964 street program. He said repairs and paving of the street were proposed by the city for the 1963 program but property owners requested nothing be done. Their reason, the commissioner said, was that trucks at that time using Mississippi Street would move to Georgia if it were paved and this objection should be nullified. The street, he said, is not too important to the Monroe traffic pattern but was in need of paving, and the city recognizes the need.

INDICATIONS MOUNT

Dam May Cause Repercussions

BELLUNO, Italy (AP) — Indications mounted Friday of political repercussions from the Vaiont dam reservoir disaster with suggestions that the vast loss of life, estimated at 3,000 might have been avoided.

Communist senators and deputies charged that technicians at the 873-foot-high dam and government authorities had at least an hour's warning of impending disaster Wednesday night but failed to give an alarm.

A Christian Democrat deputy recalled that the people of this Italian Alpine area north of Venice had fears about the dam from the time it was first planned in 1959 to harness waters of the Vaiont River for a hydroelectric project.

A landslide Wednesday night brought on the disaster. Millions of tons of earth and stone tore loose from Mt. Toc and plunged into the reservoir, four miles long and 440 yards wide.

Displaced water flooded the lower Vaiont and Piaye River valleys, destroying whole villages.

Most of the victims are buried under tons of mud and rock.

Thousands of Italian army troops—aided by U.S. and Swiss helicopters and French disaster experts — have recovered only about 700 bodies.

The work was carried on under the threat of an epidemic. All persons in the area were ordered inoculated.

Helicopters carried 200 persons from Mt. Toc villages threatened by new slides but many inhabitants refused to leave.

Soldiers undertook a search for personal belongsings. In Longarone, a town of 4,600 which was hardest hit, all the watches, rings and other items found hardly filled an aluminum cooking pot.

Premier Giovanni Leone personally toured the area in a helicopter.

Leone is expected to resign next month to open the way for a center-left government based on an accord between the Christian Democrat and Socialist parties. But the disaster probably will be felt in the political maneuvering.

Sen. Mauro Scoccimarro, president of the Communist group in the Senate, told a Belluno news conference that his party will call for the creation of an all-party parliamentary inquiry commission.

The Communist lawmaker said he and other Red Parliament members had obtained evidence that engineers at the dam phoned national police an hour befor the disaster to warn of trouble.

Scoccimarro noted that the Rome Communist paper L'Unita had been prosecuted two years ago on charges of publishing false news after running a story that the dam was in a geologically dangerous area. The paper was acquitted.

Giacomo Corona, a Christian Democrat leader for years, said the Communist were trying to capitalize on the disaster.

But he said the population in the area had long been concerned about the dam. The Belluno Provincial Council voted a resolution of concern two years ago.

Chips From The Stump

Kennon-Passman

NEW ORLEANS (Special) — Robert F. Kennon and Congressman Otto E. Passman met in New Orleans Friday night and held a press conference before teaming for a weekend campaign swing through south Louisiana.

Passman has endorsed Kennon's candidacy for the Louisiana governorship and declared intentions of actively campaigning for Kennon "because he made Louisiana the best governor our state ever had in 1953-56 and because he is the best qualified man in the race now."

Passman told a press confernece that he was "deeply concerned about the many problems that face our state and nation. Louisiana needs a man of Bob Kennon's stature and ability in the governor's office," Passman declared.

The fifth district congressman from Monroe has been called America's foremost critic of foreign aid waste.

He said he would appear on the campaign stump for Kennon as much as his busy Washington schedule would permit between now and election time on December 7.

"I feel that, as a responsible citizen who understands and is deeply concerned about the problems of our times, I have an obligation to support and help elect the man best qualified to be our next governor. I believe," Passman said, "that every citizen has such an obligation.

"These are very critical times — more critical than many of us realize," Passman said.

"I am convinced that among the several candidates for governor Judge Kennon is the only one with the qualifications background, and ability and convictions to effectively lead our state in the direction in which it must go.

"This is particularly true," Passman said, "in dealing with the matter of federal interference in state, local and individual rights.

"While governor of Louisiana before, Bob Kennon was outstanding and did more for Louisiana than any governor before or since.

"He brought more industry to our state than any governor before or since. More than 30,000 new industrial jobs were brought to Louisiana during his term.

"He practically eliminated organized gambling and as a result more pay checks went home to wives and children instead of being given to the underworld element. Dope peddlers who preyed on our youth were dealt with harshly, many of them still serving prison terms.

"He brought decency and integrity to our state government.

"Bob Kennon demonstrated a deep human understanding and concern when he improved and modernized our mental medical and penal institutions.

"As our governor, Kennon sponsored a civil service system that gave our career state employees pride and dignity, in addition to security from political firings," Passman declared.

"The record of Robert Kennon as our governor is one of achievement, economy integrity and business-like government.

"It is reassuring to review Judge Kennon's great record and know that he will be our next governor," Passman said.

He concluded "That my friends, is why I intend to do anything that is honorable and within my power to help him be elected."

Jackson

D. W. McBride of Oak Grove has been selected as fifth district coordinator for the Shelby M. Jackson gubernatorial campaign.

His job will be to coordinate the parish Jackson for Governor organizations with the state Jackson committee. Headquarters for the fifth district Jackson candidacy are located at 603 Louisville in Monroe. It was announced the Jackson organization has a full time staff at this location.

McBride is a retired high school principal and farmer. He served as teacher and coach for one year at Weston High School in Jackson Parish, as principal at Kilbourne High School in West Carroll for two years, and as principal of Oak Grove High School 39 years, before retiring last year.

U.S. Chamber Asks For More Liberal Trade

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Chamber of Commerce Friday called for more liberalized trade policies toward the Soviet Union as a followup to the pending wheat deal with Moscow.

In a statement endorsing the wheat sale, chamber President Edwin P. Neilan said now "seems to be an opportune time to explore the possibility of broadened, liberalized trade with the Soviet Union in other non-strategic goods under the same conditions as the wheat sales."

He added, "good two-way trade cements peaceful relations."

U.S. Allocates Hurricane Fund To Aid Haitians

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States allocated $250,000 from foreign aid funds Friday for transportation and related services for the relief of hurricane-devastated Haiti.

The Agency for International Development, which announced the allocation, said the Department of Defense will coordinate the operation under the command of Adm. Harold P. Smith, commander in chief of U.S. Atlantic Forces.

Government and private agencies are working closely in the relief effort, and a U.S. military cargo plane is flying 26,000 pounds of donated food, clothing and drugs from Norfolk, Va.

Stocks of U.S. food, commodities, drugs and clothing, have been diverted from other areas.

CARE, Catholic Relief Services, Church World Service, and the Salvation Army are participating. The American Red Cross and its representatives are buying cooking utensils and other relief supplies.

Future Still Critical In Latin America After Assassinations, Military Coups

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you add up all the military coups, assassinations and other means by which Latin-American nations have changed governments in recent years, the unrest is disheartening.

Yet the outlook for the immediate future appears even more critical. A lot of people in this country, from President Kennedy on down, probably agree with an observation tossed off by Gen. David M. Shoup, commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps, on a recent stop-over in Tokyo.

"The time for real trouble in Latin America seems about ripe," he said.

Almost at the moment Shoup was talking, bombs were popping in Venezuela; Brazil was considering the possible need for a form of martial law to keep the lid on in that country; and there were rumblings of unrest in Salvador, Colombia, Bolivia and elsewhere in Latin America.

For the moment, Venezuela appears the most likely spot for a new crisis. Developments there also symbolize the existence of a new element in internal affairs of Latin Americans who for generations have been fighting among themselves for power in their own countries for reasons of plunder or patriotism.

The government of Venezuela officially blames the Communist dictatorship of Fidel Castro in Cuba—and communism in general—for the spectacular campaign of bombing and other violence aimed at overthrowing one of the few democratic regimes Venezuela ever had.

So far in 1963, constitutional governments have been toppled by military men in Guatemala, Ecuador, the Dominican Republic and Honduras.

The statistics on upsets of governments in recent years are just about the same as in the past. What's happened is that they are being ignored less now.

Changes occurred in 17 of the 20 nations south of the border. Exceptions were Chile, Mexico and Uruguay.

In some cases, nothing more than harsh words and pride were spilled in the 68 changes of governments since 1943.

One military coup in Brazil in 1955 was declared as an effort to assure that an elected president would be allowed to take office. He did.

Of the 68 changes, about 47 were of military origin. The figure is not precise because the extent and the nature of military participation varied widely. And some uprisings were the result of civilian politicians' plots in which the military gave their support or looked the other way.

The Kennedy administration has ruled out strong measures, such as use of the U.S. Marines, in the recent coups.

Last year, however, it put an impressive line of battleships on the horizon just off the coast of the Dominican Republic. That was to tell Ramfis Trujillo, son of the late dictator, that Washington stood squarely behind efforts to set up a democratic regime in the Dominican Republic.

Ramfis got the idea, packed a yatch with his elaborate wardrobe and bales of U.S. dollars, and headed toward Europe.

In bygone times, the United States often used the Marines to carry out its idea of the policies that some Latin-American nations ought to follow.

This brought frequent charges, and at times these rather convincing arguments: When citizens of a Latin-American nation saw the Marines landing they had no idea whether they were coming to uphold democracy or dictatorship, put a good guy or a bad guy in or out, or merely to collect debts for a New York bank, a consortium of financial houses which had underwritten a bond issue, or take charge of the country's customs collections to see that its debts were paid.

Curiously the Dominican Republic, where the Marines stayed the longest, produced the hemisphere's long-term dictator, the late Rafael L. Trujillo, who ruled more than 30 years, and left that country still a trouble spot.

Trujillo used to like to tell visiting U.S. correspondents:

"Prior to 1924, the country had 115 changes of government in 103 years—including 16 changes in military governors under the U.S. Marines. But now we have peace, a stable government, and progress. Ours is the only country in Latin America where you can drink with safety from any water faucet anywhere in the country."

Trujillo's critics would say you could get fatal lead poisoning, however, at any place in the country, or even in New York, if Trujillo agents were there.

"You fellows in the United States," Trujillo would observe, "simply are pushing this democracy business faster than it can be absorbed in Latin America."

The United States, Kennedy says, is working with other members of the Organization of American States to restore peace and democracy to countries where they have disappeared. "That is the policy of the United States," he says.

Sudden Change Of Mood

October seems to be a month of moods. A year ago this month, this country was forced into a firm position against Russia because that country had planted a brace of medium range missiles in Cuba. But this year, October has already seen a nuclear test ban treaty go into effect and an agreement made between the United States and Soviet Russia concerning a sale of our surplus wheat.

Even the same Russian official, Andrei Gromyko, who assured President Kennedy this time last year that there were no offensive Soviet weapons in Cuba, is now meeting cordially with Mr. Kennedy and Secretary of State Rusk.

Can we see any sincerity beneath such a rapid change of mood? This October appears to have arrived with anxiety largely gone and a new, but unsupported hope and optimism seeming to blanket official thinking.

We had little choice a year ago but to stand fast as a nation. Many persons believe we did not carry the naval patrols and inspections following the crisis far enough.

But we are wrong now to rush from the mood of caution which was justifiable a year ago, into the mood of optimism which now fills the autumn air.

The partial nuclear test ban with the Soviet Union and Britain has not ended the "cold war." As a matter of fact, at this writing, the Russians have just tied up two U.S. Army convoys along the highway approaches into West Berlin.

Be that as it may, from the mood now reflected in U.S. - Soviet relations, some might suppose that if the worst has not passed, there are prospects that easier times could be on the way.

So our officials speak in friendly terms of wheat sales to the Russians. This mood reaches all the way from liberals to conservatives since the latter are usually in the field of business or trade, and commerce is the foundation of capitalism.

But on closer examination, the wheat sale to Russia, no matter how helpful it would be to our commercial and farm surplus problems, would serve to strengthen Russia. We have waited 17 years for this weak spot. Now that it has become obvious, we appear to forget that Russia — not the United States — has many times over proclaimed herself an adversary of ours in the struggle for world leadership.

The quick change of mood from October, 1962, to the same month this year simply does not make good sense. We need more of a national spirit which rejects any notion that the game has about been won. The rosy glow of fall, 1963, for all those friendly meetings among the signers of the nuclear test ban and grain deals, hasn't yet shown one shred of evidence that the Soviets intend to take one step backwards on their march toward world domination.

Room For Indoctrination

The National Education Association, a powerful group of professional educators, recently said the nation's children should be taught the basic facts of communism.

Since this evil is with us as a political fact of life, the association shows good logic in realizing that school children should be informed of the workings of communism. Certainly the "cold war" is not over just because of a nebulous test ban treaty and an agreement that the United States will sell wheat to Russia

The battle for men's minds continues to rage, not only on the adult level, but at the children's level as well.

But the NEA suggests limitations in the teaching of communism to school children. The association says children should merely be taught about communism, not indoctrinated against it. Such teaching, stripped of any teacher's opinions or discussions as to Marxism's evils, could dispel children's questions and fears about NEA position.

What about the other side of the coin? Do the communists present any courses in political science or like subjects without indoctrination?

The classic Red textbook in this field is "Manual for Leaders of Children's Groups," published by the Executive Committee of the Young Communists International. Alice Widener, publisher of the U. S. A. Magazine, discussed key sections of this book in a recent column.

The third paragraph of the communist publisher's surface says:

"Today there is no room for, and no possibility of unpolitical, neutral education. The principal purpose of this booklet is to sketch briefly the methods of communist education, give practical suggestions on how to commence this work, and above all else, to give our interpretation of what we understand by the enrollment of the child in the class struggle."

Perhaps the spokesmen for the National Education Association already know of such communist attitudes and wish to avoid duplication of them in our system. After all, we have freedom of choice. If children are told communism objectively, and also learn of free, constitutional government, they will make their own conclusions and select the latter, or so NEA thinking appears to run.

Of course, once established, the communist system does not allow any such thing as a free choice. This makes any objective course concerning communism through a free educational system next to impossible. To us, any course in safe driving has to point out certain dangers to be avoided. And the same holds true in the only rational approach to teaching political theory — there are certain dangers and evils for which a free society must be on the lookout.

Cuba and the Soviet satellites are now teaching all elementary school children and group leaders that "children are naturally excellent agitators." Through indoctrination, the educational systems forced on these countries are breaking down the basic philosophy of home discipline and respect for parents.

If we don't somehow build up a resistance to this sort of thing, we might awaken some day to find that it's too late to make a choice between communism and freedom in the field of education or anywhere else.

First Consideration

There have been times when ultra efficiency — taking the form of plain rudeness — has run into big losses.

Some years ago, a couple appeared in the office of the president of Harvard University. "You will have to be brief," the president said, tartly. "I'm a very busy man and can give you only a few moments."

He did not give any impression that he would wait to see what the couple had to ask or to offer. So the man and his wife got up and left immediately.

Actually, their mission was to give Harvard several millions of dollars. But they gave it instead to a fund to start a new university in the West. It was named for the donor — Leland Stanford.

More recently, an elderly man was seen wandering around the corridors of a well-known New York bank. "May I help you, sir?" a courteous employe asked. "I hope so," the man answered. "I just left another bank where I stood around for 10 minutes and nobody even spoke to me."

The old gentleman accepted the courteous offer of help from the employe and was directed to a department where he opened a trust fund for half a million dollars. Several days later, he named the bank executor for his $800,000 will.

Congressman Cannon To Look Into U.S. 'Counter-Insurgency'

WASHINGTON — The so-called counter - insurgency program — President Kennedy's once loudly-touted plan to assist foreign governments to combat subversion and resolution — is undergoing exhaustive congressional scrutiny.

This unannounced investigation was instituted by Representative Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., veteran chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee. He has set up a large special staff, including a number of borrowed FBI men, to conduct this potentially highly explosive probe.

Cannon decided an extensive inquiry was called for as the result of a number of disconcerting disclosures in the course of his committee's months - long closed - door hearings on the budgets of government agencies. Much of this very revealing testimony will never be published as it has been censored on the ground of being classified information.

BUT IT can be reported that foremost among these backstage discoveries were:

Attorney General Robert Kennedy is the real boss of the Interdepartmental Committee on Counter-insurgency established by his brother, the President, to direct this program. Nominal chairman is Undersecretary of State U. Alexis Johnson, veteran career diplomat with wide experience in Iron Curtain countries. But the real ruler of the program is Bobby Kennedy.

Large amounts of foreign aid and Central Intelligence Agency funds are being used to finance the world-wide activities of the counter-insurgency plan. Most of this money is being spent in organizing, training, equipping and maintaining special police (security) forces.

The Appropriations Committee has ascertained that $3 million a year of such funds is being expended for this purpose in South Vietnam; more than $615,000 in the Dominican Republic during the seven-month regime of deposed President Bosch; and around $500,000 in Honduras, where President Villeda Morales was ousted by a military coup. In each of these government overthrows, the U. S. - financed and trained special police either did nothing or were wholly ineffectual.

Large sums are being spent for special counter - insurgency forces in Peru, Bolivia, Colombia and Venezuela — the last three seriously threatened by Communist terrorists on one hand and military take-overs on the other.

THE HOUSE investigators are particularly interested in learning the reason for Bobby Kennedy's exceptional interest in and domination of the counter-insurgency program — in view of the fact that it operates abroad and largely in the military field.

Privately, the probers deem this undercover situation another instance of the young Attorney General's active participation in virtually everything that transpires in his brother's administration.

Bobby has his hand in every important policy and decision at home and abroad — regardless of whether it has anything to do with the Justice Department or not.

The investigators propose to uncover the extent and nature of his activites in the counter-insurgency program, which proved a dismal flop in Honduras and the Dominican Republic, and is under sharp attack in South Vietnam where the U. S. - financed special forces have been used by the Diem brothers to attack and jail thousands of Buddhist priests and students, and beat up American newsmen.

Answers are being sought by the House probers to such other pertinent questions as:

Total of foreign aid and CIA funds already spent on counter-insurgency operations in foreign countries.

Who makes these decisions and on what basis?

What reports if any have been compiled by the Interdepartmental Committee on Counter-insurgency; who gets them and what is done about them — if anything?

Cause of the failure of the special police forces in Honduras and the Dominican Republic to avert or resist the military coups.

A full account of the tug-of-war between the Diem brothers and State Department officials, headed by Undersecretary Averell Harriman, for control of the special force in South Vietnam, numbering some 13,000. The Diems installed their own commander, Colonel Le Quant Tung, who led the violent crackdown on the Buddhists and students. The State Department, with President Kennedy's approval, tried to replace him, but so far to no avail.

IN ADDITION to Chariman Alexis Johnson and Attorney General Robert Kennedy, other members of the Interdepartmental Counter-insurgency Committee are General Maxwell Taylor, head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, CIA Director John McCone, Foreign Aid Director David Bell, and McGeorge Bundy, special foreign aid adviser to the President.

Governor Romney Born In Mexico

New polls demonstrating the dramatic decline of Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York as a potential Presidential nominee now place him roughly on a par in popularity with Governor George Romney of Michigan. Mr. Romney has not gained strength; it is simply that his relative position, as compared to Mr. Rockefeller, is improved.

This, however, has already begun to encourage those who see in him the ideal "stop Goldwater" candidate. And, in turn, his new position in the polls makes it necessary to examine his eligibility for the Presidency. By that, I do not mean his competence. I refer, of course, to the question: "Is George Romney a natural born American?" If he is not, the Constitution bars him from the nation's two highest elective officers.

GEORGE ROMNEY was born in Chihuahua, Mexico, where his Mormon parents had taken up residence to avoid United States laws against the practice of polygamy. The Constitution, however, does not define "natural born" — although the First Congress offered its own interpretation — never tested in the courts — in a bill setting up naturalization procedures. According to this probably discarded definition, the offspring of American citizens are natural born no matter where they are born.

The legally accepted interpretation, however, holds that this status applies only in cases where the parents are in the military, on the high seas, on diplomatic duty, or in areas where extraterritoriality in effect creates a special American sovereignty. The Romneys were neither soldiers nor diplomats — and Chihuahua was clearly Mexican territory.

Court decisions have supported the commonly held view that the progeny of Americans not born on American soil are not natural-born — with the exceptions I noted — and must be naturalized. The Supreme Court has ruled that a naturalized citizen "stands on equal footing with the native citizens in all respects save that of eligibility to the Presidency."

IN THE CASE of United States vs. Wong Kim Ark, the court ruled that "a person born out of the jurisdiction of the United States can only become a citizen by being naturalized, either by treaty, as in the case of annexation of a foreign territory, or by authority of Congress exercised . . . in enactments conferring citizenship upon foreign born children of citizens." (This decision spelled out other citizenship matters, but they are not pertinent to the Romney case.) In Wong Kam Wo vs. Dulles, a three-judge Federal Circuit court ruled that a child who is a citizen at birth by derivative ciitzenship under the statutes is "naturalized." This has been sustained in other cases.

WHERE DOES this leave Governor Romney? Unless there are decisions the lawyers have failed to discover — or unless the Supreme Court rules that past precedent no longer applies — he is clearly not eligible to be President. His followers argue — as did those who hoped that Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. was Presidential timber, (he was born in Canada) — that these are legalisms.

"If he is nominated," they say, "and then elected, no one will raise the issue of his Constitutional eligibility. And if it does go before the Supreme Court, the ruling will recognize the existence of an accomplished fact, then sustain the new President."

Much of this is academic. Governor Romney's chances are not bright, and indeed it is a question whether he truly wants to make the perilous race. But it does raise some serious moral questions for those who claim committal to his candidacy. If the court decisions and the statutes are clear-cut, then is it proper to propose Romney as a candidate on the ground that the Supreme Court will ignore legality in order to allow him the Presidency? The answer is obviously in the negative.

GOVERNOR Romney could, prior to the Republican convention and — or the primaries, ask Congress to pass a law making him properly eligible. But it is hard to see how any candidate, playing the usual coy game of Presidential possibilities, could lay his cards on the table so openly. The polls may equate Romney and Rockefeller strength, but until the status of his eligibility is decided, Romney is only a shadow candidate.

Congress To Probe Top Secret Group

WASHINGTON — The Central Intelligence Agency is on the hook again, and this time may find it tougher to get off.

Washington offers many governmental mysteries nowadays but none compare with the CIA, with its $35,000,000 headquarters deep in the Virginia woods, across the Potomac, its annual cost a carefullyguarded secret — estimates range from $100 million to $1 billion, but no direct appropriations are made for it — between 2,000 and 10,000 employees, and no accountability to anyone except its chief, John A. McCone, and President John F. Kennedy.

NOW THE chief of CIA operations in South Viet Nam, John H. Richardson, has been called home for Saigon, at the request of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, and Congress will undoubtedly want to know why. The recall is understood to have been concurred in by General Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, on their return from South Viet Nam, where they were sent by the President to survey and report on U.S. operations there.

News correspondents in Saigon have sent home bitter reports about CIA operations in support of the Diem family, describing them as completely separated from the policy of the U.S. embassy, the U.S. army and the U.S. information service, and working at cross purposes with all of them. They have described the CIA contingent there as a special force, apparently closer to the Diem government than any of the other groups, and maintaining the same secrecy as the CIA headquarters in Washington. It has been charged with using millions of dollars in CIA funds to support the Diem's private army.

The U.S. Senate is not likely to pass up this chance to probe the CIA to its depths. Because senators resent any branch of government operating in secrecy they have sought to pin down the operations of what they call "that billion dollar spook factory" on several occasions. The last was after the Bay of Pigs fiasco when Allen Dulles, brother of the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, was its chief. Dulles resigned in 1961, a few months after the Cuban fiasco and McCone, one time head of the Atomic Energy Commission, was appointed to succeed him.

THE DEEP secret organization was set up in 1949 by one of the most far reaching laws ever enacted in either war or peacetime. It empowered the director to hire and fire personnel without regard to other laws governing government employment. The act specifically exempts CIA from the provisions of any law requiring publication or disclosure of "organization, functions, names, official titles, salaries or number of personnel engaged. The Budget Director was instructed to "make no report" to Congress on CIA budget estimates.

The purpose was to fight Communism more effectively on the whole Cold War front. Only on that ground was it approved by a grumbling and hesitant Congress. But within two years the rapidly expanding intelligence organization, also called the "world's biggest spy works," was charged with being asleep at the switch in Korea when the North Koreans invaded South Korea, and President Truman had so little information about the extent of the aggression that he described the U.S. resistance as "a police action."

LATER THERE were charges that the agency had let the U.S. be caught flat footed on the Iraq coup in 1958, when King Faisal was assassinated by a pro - Nasser group, and President Eisenhower ordered U.S. forces temporarily to Lebanon.

Prior to that, CIA had obtained and transmitted to Washington 24 hours beforehand, information that Israel would attack Egypt and 48 hours in advance that Britain and France would attack in the Suez Canal area.

When the late Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) was set to include CIA in the probes by his Senate Investigations subcommittee in 1954, a Hoover Commission task force headed by General Mark Clark was said to have warded off the inquiry.

THE BAY of Pigs Cuban invasion by limited assault forces without U.S. support failed miserably. President Kennedy assumed full responsibility but it was not denied that CIA, through Allen Dulles had informed the White House that the Cuban people were ready to rise against Castro if an invasion began. Up to now, the reorganization which followed, under McCone, was generally believed to have improved the reliability of its intelligence, through its report that Russians removed all their long range missiles from Cuba has been repeatedly questioned, as has much of the other information given the White House on Cuba.

IN SOUTH Viet Nam, CIA has been reported to be spending at least $3,000,000 a year on its own to back up the Diem regime and to be almost completely at odds with the embassy. There are also reports that little of its information on recent Latin American revolutionary moves has been very anticipatory. Perhaps at long last some vestige of truth can now be pried loose.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Change Of Life Doubts, Worries

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am 51 years of age and have been going through the menopause for the last six years and have no more hot flashes. Is it possible that I can become pregnant now? — Mrs. R.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am 48 years old. I haven't had a period in 15 months. I have flashes, am tense and nervous. Can I be sure I am over pregnancy and childbearing? My husband thinks there's nothing to be concerned over now, but it's easy for him to say so. I asked my doctor and he said he couldn't be positive, but the chances were not in favor of becoming pregnant. Can you give me more definite information?—Mrs. G.

Comment: Dear Mrs. R.: Chances are you are way out of what many women call the "danger zone." Dear Mrs. G: You are not far behind. But like your doctor, I'll have to hedge; as the man said "Chances are you'd never get hit by lightning, but there's always the possibility when you expose yourself."

Incidentally, as you are feeling tense and having hot flashes, I suggest you send for my leaflet: "How to Manage Your Menopause. Write to me at this newspaper and enclose 15 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. You will find some pointers which will help keep you more comfortable.

I WRITE today of a woman who has reason enough to be nervous. You or I would be, too, under similar circumstances. And I enclose her letter so many women who are disturbed because they can't get a new fur coat, a new car or wall-to-wall carpeting, will be more patient and thankful for what they have. And, likewise, so many men who haven't become vice president of the firm, and are disappointed because they were next in line for the promotion, will be thankful for their good health and present success and not worry themselves unnecessarily. Here is the letter:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I read your advice to people every day in our paper. Now I have a complaint. I am sick of being sick. I don't know what to do about it. I have this awful weakness and this choking in my throat. I don't think I can stand it much longer.

Can you tell me what to do? I am 35 and have nine children. The youngest is 1 year old and the oldest is 21. I have a wonderful husband and am tired of worrying him about my sickness.

I am a poor woman. My husband just makes $120 a month and 11 of us have to live on it. I hate to worry my husband, but am so afraid. Please answer.—Mrs. X.

Comment: It's almost inconceivable that in these days of inflation, your husband makes only $30 a week. If that's true. I don't see how the 11 of you can exist on it. And there's certainly reason enough here for your weakness and choking in the throat.

I have no medicine to suggest. Only hope to offer you my best wishes for a betterment in your financial condition.

Having treated many men who were upset by continually being kept at the grindstone by wives who were always trying to live up to the Joneses, I know many will be gratified by your statement. "I have a wonderful husband." If anyone deserves a change of fortune for the better, it is you. And I hope you get it soon.

Who makes these decisions and on what basis?

What reports if any have been compiled by the Interdepartmental Committee on Counter-insurgency; who gets them and what is done about them — if anything?

Cause of the failure of the special police forces in Honduras and the Dominican Republic to avert or resist the military coups.

A full account of the tug-of-war between the Diem brothers and State Department officials, headed by Undersecretary Averell Harriman, for control of the special force in South Vietnam, numbering some 13,000. The Diems installed their own commander, Colonel Le Quant Tung, who led the violent crackdown on the Buddhists and students. The State Department, with President Kennedy's approval, tried to replace him, but so far to no avail.

IN ADDITION to Chariman Alexis Johnson and Attorney General Robert Kennedy, other members of the Interdepartmental Counter-insurgency Committee are General Maxwell Taylor, head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, CIA Director John McCone, Foreign Aid Director David Bell, and McGeorge Bundy, special foreign aid adviser to the President.

Governor Romney Born In Mexico

New polls demonstrating the dramatic decline of Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York as a potential Presidential nominee now place him roughly on a par in popularity with Governor George Romney of Michigan. Mr. Romney has not gained strength; it is simply that his relative position, as compared to Mr. Rockefeller, is improved.

This, however, has already begun to encourage those who see in him the ideal "stop Goldwater" candidate. And, in turn, his new position in the polls makes it necessary to examine his eligibility for the Presidency. By that, I do not mean his competence. I refer, of course, to the question: "Is George Romney a natural born American?" If he is not, the Constitution bars him from the nation's two highest elective officers.

GEORGE ROMNEY was born in Chihuahua, Mexico, where his Mormon parents had taken up residence to avoid United States laws against the practice of polygamy. The Constitution, however, does not define "natural born" — although the First Congress offered its own interpretation — never tested in the courts — in a bill setting up naturalization procedures. According to this probably discarded definition, the offspring of American citizens are natural born no matter where they are born.

The legally accepted interpretation, however, holds that this status applies only in cases where the parents are in the military, on the high seas, on diplomatic duty, or in areas where extraterritoriality in effect creates a special American sovereignty. The Romneys were neither soldiers nor diplomats — and Chihuahua was clearly Mexican territory.

Court decisions have supported the commonly held view that the progeny of Americans not born on American soil are not natural-born — with the exceptions I noted — and must be naturalized. The Supreme Court has ruled that a naturalized citizen "stands on equal footing with the native citizens in all respects save that of eligibility to the Presidency."

IN THE CASE of United States vs. Wong Kim Ark, the court ruled that "a person born out of the jurisdiction of the United States can only become a citizen by being naturalized, either by treaty, as in the case of annexation of a foreign territory, or by authority of Congress exercised . . . in enactments conferring citizenship upon foreign born children of citizens." (This decision spelled out other citizenship matters, but they are not pertinent to the Romney case.) In Wong Kam Wo vs. Dulles, a three-judge Federal Circuit court ruled that a child who is a citizen at birth by derivative ciitzenship under the statutes is "naturalized." This has been sustained in other cases.

WHERE DOES this leave Governor Romney? Unless there are decisions the lawyers have failed to discover — or unless the Supreme Court rules that past precedent no longer applies — he is clearly not eligible to be President. His followers argue — as did those who hoped that Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. was Presidential timber, (he was born in Canada) — that these are legalisms.

"If he is nominated," they say, "and then elected, no one will raise the issue of his Constitutional eligibility. And if it does go before the Supreme Court, the ruling will recognize the existence of an accomplished fact, then sustain the new President."

Much of this is academic. Governor Romney's chances are not bright, and indeed it is a question whether he truly wants to make the perilous race. But it does raise some serious moral questions for those who claim committal to his candidacy. If the court decisions and the statutes are clear-cut, then is it proper to propose Romney as a candidate on the ground that the Supreme Court will ignore legality in order to allow him the Presidency? The answer is obviously in the negative.

GOVERNOR Romney could, prior to the Republican convention and — or the primaries, ask Congress to pass a law making him properly eligible. But it is hard to see how any candidate, playing the usual coy game of Presidential possibilities, could lay his cards on the table so openly. The polls may equate Romney and Rockefeller strength, but until the status of his eligibility is decided, Romney is only a shadow candidate.

Congress To Probe Top Secret Group

WASHINGTON — The Central Intelligence Agency is on the hook again, and this time may find it tougher to get off.

Washington offers many governmental mysteries nowadays but none compare with the CIA, with its $35,000,000 headquarters deep in the Virginia woods, across the Potomac, its annual cost a carefullyguarded secret — estimates range from $100 million to $1 billion, but no direct appropriations are made for it — between 2,000 and 10,000 employees, and no accountability to anyone except its chief, John A. McCone, and President John F. Kennedy.

NOW THE chief of CIA operations in South Viet Nam, John H. Richardson, has been called home for Saigon, at the request of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, and Congress will undoubtedly want to know why. The recall is understood to have been concurred in by General Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, on their return from South Viet Nam, where they were sent by the President to survey and report on U.S. operations there.

News correspondents in Saigon have sent home bitter reports about CIA operations in support of the Diem family, describing them as completely separated from the policy of the U.S. embassy, the U.S. army and the U.S. information service, and working at cross purposes with all of them. They have described the CIA contingent there as a special force, apparently closer to the Diem government than any of the other groups, and maintaining the same secrecy as the CIA headquarters in Washington. It has been charged with using millions of dollars in CIA funds to support the Diem's private army.

The U.S. Senate is not likely to pass up this chance to probe the CIA to its depths. Because senators resent any branch of government operating in secrecy they have sought to pin down the operations of what they call "that billion dollar spook factory" on several occasions. The last was after the Bay of Pigs fiasco when Allen Dulles, brother of the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, was its chief. Dulles resigned in 1961, a few months after the Cuban fiasco and McCone, one time head of the Atomic Energy Commission, was appointed to succeed him.

THE DEEP secret organization was set up in 1949 by one of the most far reaching laws ever enacted in either war or peacetime. It empowered the director to hire and fire personnel without regard to other laws governing government employment. The act specifically exempts CIA from the provisions of any law requiring publication or disclosure of "organization, functions, names, official titles, salaries or number of personnel engaged. The Budget Director was instructed to "make no report" to Congress on CIA budget estimates.

The purpose was to fight Communism more effectively on the whole Cold War front. Only on that ground was it approved by a grumbling and hesitant Congress. But within two years the rapidly expanding intelligence organization, also called the "world's biggest spy works," was charged with being asleep at the switch in Korea when the North Koreans invaded South Korea, and President Truman had so little information about the extent of the aggression that he described the U.S. resistance as "a police action."

LATER THERE were charges that the agency had let the U.S. be caught flat footed on the Iraq coup in 1958, when King Faisal was assassinated by a pro - Nasser group, and President Eisenhower ordered U.S. forces temporarily to Lebanon.

Prior to that, CIA had obtained and transmitted to Washington 24 hours beforehand, information that Israel would attack Egypt and 48 hours in advance that Britain and France would attack in the Suez Canal area.

When the late Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) was set to include CIA in the probes by his Senate Investigations subcommittee in 1954, a Hoover Commission task force headed by General Mark Clark was said to have warded off the inquiry.

THE BAY of Pigs Cuban invasion by limited assault forces without U.S. support failed miserably. President Kennedy assumed full responsibility but it was not denied that CIA, through Allen Dulles had informed the White House that the Cuban people were ready to rise against Castro if an invasion began. Up to now, the reorganization which followed, under McCone, was generally believed to have improved the reliability of its intelligence, through its report that Russians removed all their long range missiles from Cuba has been repeatedly questioned, as has much of the other information given the White House on Cuba.

IN SOUTH Viet Nam, CIA has been reported to be spending at least $3,000,000 a year on its own to back up the Diem regime and to be almost completely at odds with the embassy. There are also reports that little of its information on recent Latin American revolutionary moves has been very anticipatory. Perhaps at long last some vestige of truth can now be pried loose.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Change Of Life Doubts, Worries

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am 51 years of age and have been going through the menopause for the last six years and have no more hot flashes. Is it possible that I can become pregnant now? — Mrs. R.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am 48 years old. I haven't had a period in 15 months. I have flashes, am tense and nervous. Can I be sure I am over pregnancy and childbearing? My husband thinks there's nothing to be concerned over now, but it's easy for him to say so. I asked my doctor and he said he couldn't be positive, but the chances were not in favor of becoming pregnant. Can you give me more definite information?— Mrs. G.

Comment: Dear Mrs. R.: Chances are you are way out of what many women call the "danger zone." Dear Mrs. G: You are not far behind. But like your doctor, I'll have to hedge; as the man said "Chances are you'd never get hit by lightning, but there's always the possibility when you expose yourself."

Incidentally, as you are feeling tense and having hot flashes, I suggest you send for my leaflet: "How to Manage Your Menopause. Write to me at this newspaper and enclose 15 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. You will find some pointers which will help keep you more comfortable.

I WRITE today of a woman who has reason enough to be nervous. You or I would be, too, under similar circumstances. And I enclose her letter so many women who are disturbed because they can't get a new fur coat, a new car or wall-to-wall carpeting, will be more patient and thankful for what they have. And, likewise, so many men who haven't become vice president of the firm, and are disappointed because they were next in line for the promotion, will be thankful for their good health and present success and not worry themselves unnecessarily. Here is the letter:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I read your advice to people every day in our paper. Now I have a complaint. I am sick of being sick. I don't know what to do about it. I have this awful weakness and this choking in my throat. I don't think I can stand it much longer.

Can you tell me what to do? I am 35 and have nine children. The youngest is 1 year old and the oldest is 21. I have a wonderful husband and am tired of worrying him about my sickness.

I am a poor woman. My husband just makes $120 a month and 11 of us have to live on it. I hate to worry my husband, but am so afraid. Please answer.—Mrs. X.

Comment: It's almost inconceivable that in these days of inflation, your husband makes only $30 a week. If that's true. I don't see how the 11 of you can exist on it. And there's certainly reason enough here for your weakness and choking in the throat.

I have no medicine to suggest. Only hope to offer you my best wishes for a betterment in your financial condition.

Having treated many men who were upset by continually being kept at the grindstone by wives who were always trying to live up to the Joneses, I know many will be gratified by your statement, "I have a wonderful husband." If anyone deserves a change of fortune for the better, it is you. And I hope you get it soon.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

A special train from the East pulled into the Indianapolis depot on Oct. 17, 1863 just as the Louisville train was about to pull out.

A messenger ran from the special and ordered the Louisville train held. Then a man left the special, hastened along the platform and swung aboard the Louisville train. There he met the man he wanted to see.

The man who hastily left the special train was U. S. Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton. The man he greeted was Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant. They never had met before. Furthermore Grant was in the dark about why he had been summoned all the way from Vicksburg, Miss., via Cairo, Ill., to meet "an officer of the War Department."

They introduced themselves and Stanton handed Grant two orders, signed by President Lincoln.

Stanton told Grant to accept whichever he preferred.

The orders were identical except for one provision. They made Grant chief of a new Division of the Mississippi. The new division comprised all the Union armies west of the Alleghany Mountains except the command of Maj. Gen. Nathaniel P. Banks in the southwest.

One order left departmental commanders as they were. The other replaced Maj. Gen. William S. Rosecrans as head of the army of the Cumberland at Chattanooga, Tenn., by Maj. Gen. George H. Thomas.

Grant accepted the order replacing Rosecrans.

For Grant this was more — much more — than a dramatic meeting on a train and a promotion, as great as that was. It meant that Sam Grant, a captain the Army didn't want less than 10 years ago, now commanded more than half of the armies of the Republic in the vast area from the eastern mountains to a vague frontier fading some place in western Kansas and the Indian Territory.

For Lincoln and Stanton it meant the first unified command in the West during the War and foreshadowed a Union national command to come.

It meant also to the President and the war secretary that they had found a general who fought the enemy where he found it and with the troops and war material he had. No excuses. . . no alibis . . . . no carping about supplies . . . . no unsolicited advice about how to run the government. . ..

Lincoln now had in a key spot the general of whom he had said: "I can't spare this man; he fights."

Stanton and Grant arrived in Louisville in a cold drizzling rain and talked all day in the Salt house about the military problems in the West, chief of which was the plight of Rosecrans at Chattanooga. He was besieged by the Confederate Army of Tennessee under Gen. Braxton Bragg Rosecrans' army was recovering from its defeat at Chickamauga but food and forage were scarce.

The conference concluded, Stanton retired for the night. He had caught cold and his asthma returned. The general and Mrs. Grant went out to visit relatives in the evening.

While he was gone Stanton received a message from Charles A. Dana, assistant secretary of war, who was in Chattanooga. Unless prevented, he said, Rosecrans would retreat from the key city.

Roused from sleep by the messenger, Stanton became agitated as he was likely to do under stress. Where was Grant? Someone find him quickly! Guests and employees of the hotel were bidden to send the general to Stanton's room the moment he appeared.

"About eleven o'clock I returned to the hotel," Grant wrote in his memoirs, "and on my way, when near the house, every person I met was a messenger for the Secretary, apparently partaking of his impatience to see me. I hastened to the room of the Secretary and found him pacing the floor in his dressing gown.

"Saying the retreat must be prevented, he showed me the dispatch.

"I immediately wrote an order assuming command of the Division of the Mississippi, and telegraphed it to General Rosecrans. I then telegraphed to him the order from Washington assigning Thomas to the command of the Army of the Cumberland; and to Thomas that he must hold Chattanooga at all hazards.. . "

Soon the answer came from Thomas.

"We will hold the town till we starve," "Old Pap" Thomas replied.

"I appreciated the force of this dispatch later when I witnessed the condition of affairs which prompted it," Grant wrote.

Rosecrans was out on an inspection tour when the order relieving him arrived. One of his generals, Gordon Granger, read it and laid it on Rosecrans' desk. But Granger could not keep the secret and told it under the seal of secrecy to Maj. Gen. Daniel Butterfield, chief of Staff for Maj. Gen. Joseph Hooker, who rode into headquarters from Bridgeport. Ala., where reinforcements from the Army of the Potomac were stationed.

Rosecrans sent for Thomas and read the order. He took it "coolly and composedly, exhibiting neither surprise nor chagrin," Col. John P. Sanderson of his staff reported.

Rosecrans sent for Thomas and when "Old Pap" arrived handed the dispatch to him without comment.

"Slowly and solemnly," Thomas read the order. Rosecrans reported, "turning pale and drawing his breath harder as he proceeded."

Rosecrans went on to say to Thomas that "no cloud of doubt will ever come into my mind as to your fidelity to friendship and honor."

Saying he could not bear to take leave of his troops, Rosecrans departed early the next morning for Cincinnati to await orders.

Rosecrans always denied that he was going to retreat from Chattanooga and attributed his removal from command to the ill will of Stanton and Grant. He had formulated a plan to break the stranglehold the Confederates had clamped on his supply line.

But the plight of Chattanooga was critical whether Rosecrans was planning to retreat or not and Grant applied himself to the problem.

He arrived at Thomas' headquarters on Oct. 23. He still was crippled from a fall off his horse in New Orleans several weeks before and walked with crutches. He had to be lifted on and off his horse.

On the way he had met Rosecrans at Stevenson, Ala.

"He made some excellent suggestions as to what should be done (in Chattanooga)," Grant wrote, adding "my only wonder was that he had not carried them out."

Thomas received Grant coldly and so did other officers who had served with Rosecrans.

Colonel Sanderson wrote that "most of the officers and men feel cool, doubltufl and distrusting." He thought Grant was "a clever and affiable gentleman" but "not a great man."

The next day Grant, his staff, Thomas and Brig. Gen. W. F. (Baldy) Smith, engineering officer, went over the ground. At one point on the Tennessee River the party was within musket shot of a Confederate picket but was not fired on. Grant took this to mean the Rebels were confident they could take the city by starvation.

Grant then ordered the supply line — "cracker line" the soldiers called it — opened at once, using the plan Rosecrans and his officers had worked out.

KELOIDS AFTER SURGERY

Surgeons often are held responsible for the type of scar that forms after an operation. The barely visible, hairline mark provides good advertising and is considered a sign of the surgeon's skill and ability. This is true to a certain extent because cleanliness and careful handling of the delicate tissues are helpful in preventing infection and trauma.

The honest surgeon never forgets the words of Ambroise Pare (1510-1590) — "I treat, God heals." Infection may mar the pencil line appearance of the lesion. In addition, the formation of scar tissue is an individual matter. Some wounds knit faster than others, and the amount of scar tissue varies.

Now and then a scar will go haywire by growing and protruding upward into the immediate surrounding tissue. These are keloids and, until recently, they have been a real problem. The largest, often egg sized, are seen in Negroes, who are particularly prone to the condition. They are hard, shiny, and smooth, except for the edges, which extend outward like claws or fringes. At first, the keloid is pink or reddish, but it becomes darker in time.

Every physician who has seen these lesions is tempted to cut them out and sew up the wound. Invariably, a bigger keloid forms, frequently with satellite lesions where every suture broke the skin as the incision edges were sewed together.

Actually, there is no way to eliminate these ugly scars. They can be flattened out, leaving a soft scar that is not a thing of beauty but is not a keloid. This result can be obtained by combining surgery, X-ray, and the use of a corticosteroid (injected into the keloid or taken in tablet form).

Freezing the lesion with carbon dioxide (dry ice), liquid oxygen, or nitrogen is recommended by one authority as the beginning and end of keloid therapy. Solid carbon dioxide, for example, is placed over the scar and heavy pressure is applied for 30 seconds to 3 minutes. The tissues are destroyed by freezing, which flattens out the scar. In some instances, the top of the raised mass is shaved off before applying the dry ice. This substance is too painful to use without an anesthetic, hence is not recommended as a home remedy.

WHITE PATCHES

A. R. writes: A 3-year-old girl has leprosy on her arms. The spots are real white. Will this go away in time?

REPLY

I'm concerned about your question because the disease is uncommon in children and white spots are not the usual manifestations. Furthermore, this girl should be in quarantine if she has leprosy.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

A special train from the East pulled into the Indianapolis depot on Oct. 17, 1863 just as the Louisville train was about to pull out.

A messenger ran from the special and ordered the Louisville train held. Then a man left the special, hastened along the platform and swung aboard the Louisville train. There he met the man he wanted to see.

The man who hastily left the special train was U. S. Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton. The man he greeted was Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant. They never had met before. Furthermore Grant was in the dark about why he had been summoned all the way from Vicksburg, Miss., via Cairo, Ill., to meet "an officer of the War Department."

They introduced themselves and Stanton handed Grant two orders, signed by President Lincoln.

Stanton told Grant to accept whichever he preferred.

The orders were identical except for one provision. They made Grant chief of a new Division of the Mississippi. The new division comprised all the Union armies west of the Alleghany Mountains except the command of Maj. Gen. Nathaniel P. Banks in the southwest.

One order left departmental commanders as they were. The other replaced Maj. Gen. William S. Rosecrans as head of the army of the Cumberland at Chattanooga, Tenn., by Maj. Gen. George H. Thomas.

Grant accepted the order replacing Rosecrans.

For Grant this was more — much more — than a dramatic meeting on a train and a promotion, as great as that was. It meant that Sam Grant, a captain the Army didn't want less than 10 years ago, now commanded more than half of the armies of the Republic in the vast area from the eastern mountains to a vague frontier fading some place in western Kansas and the Indian Territory.

For Lincoln and Stanton it meant the first unified command in the West during the War and foreshadowed a Union national command to come.

It meant also to the President and the war secretary that they had found a general who fought the enemy where he found it and with the troops and war material he had. No excuses. . . no alibis . . . . no carping about supplies . . . . no unsolicited advice about how to run the government. . . .

Lincoln now had in a key spot the general of whom he had said:

"I can't spare this man; he fights."

Stanton and Grant arrived in Louisville in a cold drizzling rain and talked all day in the Salt house about the military problems in the West, chief of which was the plight of Rosecrans at Chattanooga. He was besieged by the Confederate Army of Tennessee under Gen. Braxton Bragg Rosecrans' army was recovering from its defeat at Chickamauga but food and forage were scarce.

The conference concluded, Stanton retired for the night. He had caught cold and his asthma returned. The general and Mrs. Grant went out to visit relatives in the evening.

While he was gone Stanton received a message from Charles A. Dana, assistant secretary of war, who was in Chattanooga. Unless prevented, he said, Rosecrans would retreat from the key city.

Roused from sleep by the messenger, Stanton became agitated as he was likely to do under stress. Where was Grant? Someone find him quickly! Guests and employees of the hotel were bidden to send the general to Stanton's room the moment he appeared.

"About eleven o'clock I returned to the hotel," Grant wrote in his memoirs, "and on my way, when near the house, every person I met was a messenger for the Secretary, apparently partaking of his impatience to see me. I hastened to the room of the Secretary and found him pacing the floor in his dressing gown.

"Saying the retreat must be prevented, he showed me the dispatch.

"I immediately wrote an order assuming command of the Division of the Mississippi, and telegraphed it to General Rosecrans. I then telegraphed to him the order from Washington assigning Thomas to the command of the Army of the Cumberland; and to Thomas that he must hold Chattanooga at all hazards.. . "

Soon the answer came from Thomas.

"We will hold the town till we starve," "Old Pap" Thomas replied.

"I appreciated the force of this dispatch later when I witnessed the condition of affairs which prompted it," Grant wrote.

Rosecrans was out on an inspection tour when the order relieving him arrived. One of his generals, Gordon Granger, read it and laid it on Rosecrans' desk. But Granger could not keep the secret and told it under the seal of secrecy to Maj. Gen. Daniel Butterfield, chief of Staff for Maj. Gen. Joseph Hooker, who rode into headquarters from Bridgeport. Ala., where reinforcements from the Army of the Potomac were stationed.

Rosecrans sent for Thomas and read the order. He took it "coolly and composedly, exhibiting neither surprise nor chagrin," Col. John P. Sanderson of his staff reported.

Rosecrans sent for Thomas and when "Old Pap" arrived handed the dispatch to him without comment.

"Slowly and solemnly," Thomas read the order. Rosecrans reported, "turning pale and drawing his breath harder as he proceeded."

Rosecrans went on to say to Thomas that "no cloud of doubt will ever come into my mind as to your fidelity to friendship and honor."

Saying he could not bear to take leave of his troops, Rosecrans departed early the next morning for Cincinnati to await orders.

Rosecrans always denied that he was going to retreat from Chattanooga and attributed his removal from command to the ill will of Stanton and Grant. He had formulated a plan to break the stranglehold the Confederates had clamped on his supply line.

But the plight of Chattanooga was critical whether Rosecrans was planning to retreat or not and Grant applied himself to the problem.

He arrived at Thomas' headquarters on Oct. 23. He still was crippled from a fall off his horse in New Orleans several weeks before and walked with crutches. He had to be lifted on and off his horse.

On the way he had met Rosecrans at Stevenson, Ala.

"He made some excellent suggestions as to what should be done (in Chattanooga)," Grant wrote, adding "my only wonder was that he had not carried them out."

Thomas received Grant coldly and so did other officers who had served with Rosecrans.

Colonel Sanderson wrote that "most of the officers and men feel cool, doubltufl and distrusting." He thought Grant was "a clever and affiable gentleman" but "not a great man."

The next day Grant, his staff, Thomas and Brig. Gen. W. F. (Baldy) Smith, engineering officer, went over the ground. At one point on the Tennessee River the party was within musket shot of a Confederate picket but was not fired on. Grant took this to mean the Rebels were confident they could take the city by starvation.

Grant then ordered the supply line — "cracker line" the soldiers called it — opened at once, using the plan Rosecrans and his officers had worked out.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

THE CELEBRITIES . . . A number of important Republicans are about to issue statements backing Governor Rockefeller's presidential aspirations. It's Big Move Number One in a carefully planned strategy to help him regain some of the support he lost when he married Happy. They wish he hadn't complicated things by his divorce and remarriage, but NOTHING could make them accept Barry Goldwater at the nominating convention.

Producers Fryer and Carr flew to Los Angeles to talk to Ginger Rogers about starring in their next Broadway musical . . . Get ready for a change in Fabian's "image". He's signed with a new record company and will do folk songs in stead of rock 'n' roll.

Red Skelton, who has been playing to crowds of 35,000 a day at state fairs and ball parks around the country, interrupted his tour to bring his wife to New York to celebrate her birthday. They're seeing "How to Succeed," doing the Danny's Hideaway bit, and having fun running into Broadway chums . . . Doris Lilly's most ardent admirer is a famous novelist currently in town on business . . . Ava Gardner chose a dress of purest white for her lunchtime appearance at the Colony, and drew more attention than any of the princesses, duchesses and countesses at nearby tables.

Ingrid Bergman and Anthony Quinn, two members of the Doting Parents Set, are co - starring in Rome in "A Lady's Revenge." When they're not in front of the cameras, they spend most of their time with their children — Ingrid at San Marinella, the seaside villa of her former husband Roberto Rossellini, where she visits with Robertino, Isotta and Isabella, and Tony at his own house with his mistress, Jolanda Addolori, and their little Francesco . . . The Gaslight Club will be the setting for a fabulous party celebrating Jimmy Durante's 50 years in show business. The celebrity bash is scheduled for Sept. 30, with Warner Brothers hosting.

Robert Alda and Joe Campanella are neck and neck in the race for the second lead in "What Makes Sammy Run?" which will star Steve Lawrence. Joe impressed audiences when he played opposite Judy Holliday in the ill-fated "Hot Spot" . . . Literary note: The Dictionary of American Slang is one of the books on language just selected for the White House library. (They didn't need that around when Ol' Harry Truman was prexy, did they?) . . . Arthur Laurents wants television actor Anthony George for his upcoming song-and-dancer, "Side Show."

One of Hollywood's most popular stars is playing the central role in a real life comedy-drama that Noel Coward would appreciate. She's just been cast as the heroine of a movie in which one of her leading men is her former lover, and another is her current flame. Both gents are married, of course — and so is she . . . The Algerian government is doing its best to suppress the news that Ben Bella and his staff are in for plenty of trouble. Whole companies of deserters from the National Liberation Army have set up headquarters in the foothills of the Middle Atlas, a nifty place from which to harass him with guerilla warfare.

The new night club version of George White's "Scandals" will open out of town before it comes to the International on Broadway. Phil Greenwald, the Sol Hurok of the Catskills, has snared the show for a two - night stand at the Concord on Oct. 5 and 6 . . . Betty Hutton has switched agents again. Her heart now belongs to Ashley - Steiner, may the saints preserve them . . . Just in time for the Republicans to bone up on Topic A. Rexford Tugwell, one of FDR's original brain-trusters, is coming out with a book titled "How To Become President." It will hit the stalls in the spring.

Gene Tunney thinks he will live to be 100 years old — and more. He was born in 1898 and says "I don't see why I shouldn't live in the year 2,000." His prescription:

"Leap out of bed early and do 12 minutes' exercise.

"Watch your drinking.

"Watch your weight.

"Watch your smoking."

And he adds, "Never do any exercise that strains you. Be reasonable. Take it easy."

Hokay, Gene. See you 'round the pool in 2,001.

Restaurant and night club business looked up last week. There were four conventions in town, which helped, and most of the chic people are back from Europe . . . Gertrude Gretsch (once Mrs. John Jacob) Astor turned up in the Stork Club wearing a great big orchid, and that's a sight you don't see very often these days. She lives in Detroit now, was just paying the Big Town a visit. . . If the theatre owners and producers think they're having trouble with the musicians' union, wait until they hear what the boys want for playing pay-TV gigs. Precedents will shatter all over the place.

Jackie To Visit Morrocan King

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — The Moroccan government announced Friday that Jacqueline Kennedy, wife of the American President, will pay a four-day visit to Morocco next week as guest of Moroccan King Hassan II.

Mrs. Kennedy is due here Sunday and then will go on to Marrakech in the interior by plane. The announcement said Mrs. Kennedy would remain in Marrakech until Thursday, Oct. 17. Hassan is presently in Marrakech.

KELOIDS AFTER SURGERY

Surgeons often are held responsible for the type of scar that forms after an operation. The barely visible, hairline mark provides good advertising and is considered a sign of the surgeon's skill and ability. This is true to a certain extent because cleanliness and careful handling of the delicate tissues are helpful in preventing infection and trauma.

The honest surgeon never forgets the words of Ambroise Pare (1510-1590) — "I treat, God heals." Infection may mar the pencil line appearance of the lesion. In addition, the formation of scar tissue is an individual matter. Some wounds knit faster than others, and the amount of scar tissue varies.

Now and then a scar will go haywire by growing and protruding upward into the immediate surrounding tissue. These are keloids and, until recently, they have been a real problem. The largest, often egg sized, are seen in Negroes, who are particularly prone to the condition. They are hard, shiny, and smooth, except for the edges, which extend outward like claws or fringes. At first, the keloid is pink or reddish, but it becomes darker in time.

Every physician who has seen these lesions is tempted to cut them out and sew up the wound. Invariably, a bigger keloid forms, frequently with satellite lesions where every suture broke the skin as the incision edges were sewed together.

Actually, there is no way to eliminate these ugly scars. They can be flattened out, leaving a soft scar that is not a thing of beauty but is not a keloid. This result can be obtained by combining surgery, X-ray, and the use of a corticosteroid (injected into the keloid or taken in tablet form).

Freezing the lesion with carbon dioxide (dry ice), liquid oxygen, or nitrogen is recommended by one authority as the beginning and end of keloid therapy. Solid carbon dioxide, for example, is placed over the scar and heavy pressure is applied for 30 seconds to 3 minutes. The tissues are destroyed by freezing, which flattens out the scar. In some instances, the top of the raised mass is shaved off before applying the dry ice. This substance is too painful to use without an anesthetic, hence is not recommended as a home remedy.

WHITE PATCHES

A. R. writes: A 3-year-old girl has leprosy on her arms. The spots are real white. Will this go away in time?

REPLY

I'm concerned about your question because the disease is uncommon in children and white spots are not the usual manifestations. Furthermore, this girl should be in quarantine if she has leprosy.

Dr. Pauling Comments On A-Stockpile

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Linus Pauling, winner of the 1962 Nobel Peace Prize, said Friday that according to reliable information the United States has 12 times the amount of nuclear weapons necessary to destroy every Russian alive and Russia has eight times the amount needed to wipe out all Americans.

Pauling, writing in the magazine Minority of One's November issue, said that in World War II only six megatons of explosives were used and 40 million persons were killed. At present the two major nuclear powers, the United States and Russia, have a total of 320,000 megatons of explosives, he said.

Pauling, who said he based his figures on the best scientific estimates and military evaluations, wrote that he believed the United States now possesses 240,000 megatons of nuclear explosive and that Russia has stockpiled 80,000 megatons. He said it would take only 10,000 megatons to "lead to the death of essentially all the American people and the destruction of the nation" and only 20,000 megatons to destroy Russia.

"As we consider the facts about the capabilities of destruction that are possessed by the Soviet Union and the United States, we are forced to the conclusion that we are doomed to die if the world continues along the path of insanity," Pauling said.

"Unless some steps are taken immediately in the direction of disarmament, beginning with the international agreement to stop the testing of all nuclear bombs, the United States and the Soviet Union and probably many other countries in the Northern Hemisphere will be destroyed.

Pauling underscored the word "all" in urging termination of testing of all nuclear bombs, and said such an agreement must be followed by other accords leading to general and complete disarmament. He said immediate steps should be taken to prevent transfer of nuclear weapons to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and that demilitarized zones should be set up in areas of greatest tension, beginning in Central Europe.

Pauling noted that at the time of the Cuban crisis, 750 U.S. Strategic Air Command bombers were on a 15-minute alert and could have delivered 30,000 megatons of nuclear weapons on the Soviet Union even if 20 per cent failed to reach their goal.

Morocco Ousts Two Americans As Undesirable

RABAT, Morocco (UPI) — Moroccan authorities have expelled two Americans as undesirable aliens, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said Friday.

The spokesman said the Americans were John Glenn, 34, a lawyer, and his wife, Marcia, 24, of Bloomington, Indiana. The Glenns were taken by a police car from Rabat to the Spanish enclave of Ceuta in northern Morocco and put on a ferry to Spain for onward journey to Madrid and the United States.

The Glenns were part of the group of American students who visited Cuba recently in defiance of a State Department ban on travel to Cuba. They returned via Spain and were hitchhiking through Morocco on their way to Algiers.

The American Embassy, on instructions from the State Department, invalidated their passports and limited their travel to the United States only. Their passports were taken away from them by Moroccan police at the request of the American Embassy at Rabat.

Dr. Pauling Comments On A-Stockpile

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Linus Pauling, winner of the 1962 Nobel Peace Prize, said Friday that according to reliable information the United States has 12 times the amount of nuclear weapons necessary to destroy every Russian alive and Russia has eight times the amount needed to wipe out all Americans.

Pauling, writing in the magazine Minority of One's November issue, said that in World War II only six megatons of explosives were used and 40 million persons were killed. At present the two major nuclear powers, the United States and Russia, have a total of 320,000 megatons of explosives, he said.

Pauling, who said he based his figures on the best scientific estimates and military evaluations, wrote that he believed the United States now possesses 240,000 megatons of nuclear explosive and that Russia has stockpiled 80,000 megatons. He said it would take only 10,000 megatons to "lead to the death of essentially all the American people and the destruction of the nation" and only 20,000 megatons to destroy Russia.

"As we consider the facts about the capabilities of destruction that are possessed by the Soviet Union and the United States, we are forced to the conclusion that we are doomed to die if the world continues along the path of insanity," Pauling said.

"Unless some steps are taken immediately in the direction of disarmament, beginning with the international agreement to stop the testing of all nuclear bombs, the United States and the Soviet Union and probably many other countries in the Northern Hemisphere will be destroyed.

Pauling underscored the word "all" in urging termination of testing of all nuclear bombs, and said such an agreement must be followed by other accords leading to general and complete disarmament. He said immediate steps should be taken to prevent transfer of nuclear weapons to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and that demilitarized zones should be set up in areas of greatest tension, beginning in Central Europe.

Pauling noted that at the time of the Cuban crisis, 750 U.S. Strategic Air Command bombers were on a 15-minute alert and could have delivered 30,000 megatons of nuclear weapons on the Soviet Union even if 20 per cent failed to reach their goal.

Burglary, Theft Probes Keeping Officers Busy

Burglary and theft investigations kept police busy in the Twin Cities Friday, with West Monroe reporting the clearing of one theft and four breakins.

West Monroe Police Chief Johnny B. Mitchell said his department apprehended two 16-year-old juveniles who have admitted the theft of a motorscooter from West Monroe High School last week.

The boys also admitted breaking into and pilfering three cars left parked at the school Oct. 3, and said they committed the July burglary of a new building at the high school plant. However, nothing was taken in any of the burglaries except keys to several offices in the building burglary during the summer. The boys have been released to the custody of their parents, and will be handled in juvenile court.

The West Monroe department was investigating the theft of a $40-walkie-talkie radio transciever which was taken from the West Monroe High School stadium earlier this week. They described the instrument as a nine-transistor, black and chrome transceiver.

Meanwhile, Monroe officers were probing the burglary of the Tower Grill, 211 Sterlington Rd. The door was forced open sometime Thursday night and the party or parties ransacked the shelves and took an unknown amount of change from a vending machine. However, a large amount of cash was overlooked by the burglar, according to police.

The Monroe department booked a 53-year-old Negro, Frank Savannah, of No. 3 Hoods Alley, for theft by check Friday. He was arrested on a warrant charging him with writing a bogus check for around $11 to a local grocery store.

Early Friday, Monroe police booked a 49-year-old Negro, Wilbert Morgan, 1209 Louise Anne St., for attempted murder in connection with the shooting of a Negro woman Thursday night. However, the charges were reduced Friday afternoon to counts of aggravated battery and use of a weapon. He allegedly shot a .45-caliber revolver three times, striking the woman, Etoia Hayes, in the leg once. The incident occurred at the woman's lodgings, No. Five McKinely Alley around 9:30 p.m. Thursday and Morgan surrendered to police at 1:30 a.m. Friday. He was released under a $500 bond, and the woman was given emergency treatment at Charity Hospital.

Monroe police also booked a 42-year-old Negro, Mose Jones, 905 Hoods Alley, late Friday for theft. He was charged in a warrant with theft of a tire, tube and wheel valued at $35 and released after posting a $360 bond.

The Monroe department was investigating a theft report late Friday night, involving assorted groceries and money from Caston's Grocery Store, at 504 N. 12th St. The store owner, Dave Caston, said that around 8 p.m., a Negro man called and ordered that an assortment of groceries and $20 change be delivered to 318 N. 10th St. Caston said that just before his delivery boy arrived at the address, a Negro with a black patch over one eye stopped the boy, gave him an envelope and told him the envelope contained the $20. The delivery boy reportedly handed the groceries over to the Negro, but when he later opened the envelope to get the money, it was empty.

Three persons were booked for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages by local departments. Monroe officers booked Richard A. French, 38, 608 Loop Rd., at 1:20 a.m. for DWI and reckless driving after arresting him at N. 8th and Bres Avenue. At 2:40 a.m., Monroe officers apprehended William Emerson Hill, 23, Negro, 834 Camp St., at S. 16th Street and Texas Avenue and booked him for DWI, reckless driving, speeding and no driver's license. He was held under a $465 bond.

West Monroe police booked a Farmerville man, Ray Williams, 24, of Rt. 2, for DWI around 1:40 a.m Friday. He was taken into custody on North 7th Street.

Freed Priest Held By Reds For 23 Years

Kennedy and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

As Egorov and his wife headed for freedom, they left behind them another couple accused with them of a six-year conspiracy to feed Moscow data on U.S. rocket-launching sites, atomic arms shipments, troop movements and naval installations.

Still held were a man known as Robert K. Baltch, and a companion known as Joy Ann Baltch, who also used the name Joy Ann Garber.

The Baltchs were arrested July 2 in a Washington apartment where authorities said a short-wave radio was used to broadcast stolen military data to the Soviet Union. At the same time, the Egorovs were arrested in New York.

Soviet officials repeatedly demanded the release of the Egorovs on grounds that they were in this country on Soviet diplomatic passports. This appeal was thrown out of a Brooklyn federal court just two days ago and the Egorovos and Baltchs ordered to trial Nov. 4.

A Justice Department spokesman said that the Russians evinced no interest in the Baltchs and that they will be prosecuted as scheduled.

If authorities ever learned the real identity of the Baltches, it was not made public. Baltch borrowed the name of a Roman Catholic priest in Upstate New York and his companion, as Joy Ann Garber was using the name of a Connecticut housewife and mother. Neither of those Americans was aware their name was being used by the defendants.

The path to freedom was opened for the Egorovs in proceedings in late afternoon before Brooklyn U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph C. Zavatt.

The couple was brought before him and U.S. Atty. Joseph P. Hoey told him: "The government's motion is made on the authority vested in me by the Department of Justice and I move that the indictments against thsee defendants be dismissed.

"Your honor, the government has advised me that two Americans in the Soviet Union were released this morning."

"Two for two?" Judge Zavatt asked.

"Yes," Hoey replied.

The prosecutor then asked that actual dismissal of the indictment be held up until U.S. marshals had put the Egorovs aboard their plane at Idlewild.

The attorney for the Russians, William Kleinman, said: "The two defendants do not oppose."

Judge Zavatt then ruled: "I will reserve decision on this motion until these two have left the United States for Europe. When I am so advised, I will grant the motion."

Judge Zavatt then added that he assumed the Egorovs were returning to the Soviet Union.

"Well, at least Europe," Hoey said.

Egorov smiled as he left the courtroom in the custody of the marshals. His wife followed him with a tense look on her face. She wore a flowered knit suit with a black shirt.

The couple was taken to third-floor detention cells in the Brooklyn Courthouse, pending their transfer to Idlewild.

Two Soviet officials were on hand for the court proceedings. They were Nikolai Reznichenko, chief of the consular division of the Soviet Embassy in Washington, and Juli M. Vorontsov, counselor to the Soviet mission to the United Nations.

The American priest, Father Ciszek, went to the Soviet Union sometime before March 1940, and was arrested a short time later. He was reported to have spent most of the intervening years in Siberia.

The Soviet Union charge hdim with using a Soviet passport under the name of "Lipinski" and engaging in illegal espionage activities. He was sentencde as a foreign agent.

Officials in Washington said the United States did not know of Ciszek's whereabouts until 1955, and it was not until the following year that the Russians acknowledged holding him. He is a native of Shenandoah, Pa.

Burglary, Theft Probes Keeping Officers Busy

Burglary and theft investigations kept police busy in the Twin Cities Friday, with West Monroe reporting the clearing of one theft and four breakins.

West Monroe Police Chief Johnny B. Mitchell said his department apprehended two 16-year-old juveniles who have admitted the theft of a motorscooter from West Monroe High School last week.

The boys also admitted breaking into and pilfering three cars left parked at the school Oct. 3, and said they committed the July burglary of a new building at the high school plant. However, nothing was taken in any of the burglaries except keys to several offices in the building burglary during the summer. The boys have been released to the custody of their parents, and will be handled in juvenile court.

The West Monroe department was investigating the theft of a $40-walkie-talkie radio transciever which was taken from the West Monroe High School stadium earlier this week. They described the instrument as a nine-transistor, black and chrome transceiver.

Meanwhile, Monroe officers were probing the burglary of the Tower Grill, 211 Sterlington Rd. The door was forced open sometime Thursday night and the party or parties ransacked the shelves and took an unknown amount of change from a vending machine. However, a large amount of cash was overlooked by the burglar, according to police.

The Monroe department booked a 53-year-old Negro, Frank Savannah, of No. 3 Hoods Alley, for theft by check Friday. He was arrested on a warrant charging him with writing a bogus check for around $11 to a local grocery store.

Early Friday, Monroe police booked a 49-year-old Negro, Wilbert Morgan, 1209 Louise Anne St., for attempted murder in connection with the shooting of a Negro woman Thursday night. However, the charges were reduced Friday afternoon to counts of aggravated battery and use of a weapon. He allegedly shot a .45-caliber revolver three times, striking the woman, Etoia Hayes, in the leg once. The incident occurred at the woman's lodgings, No. Five McKinely Alley around 9:30 p.m. Thursday and Morgan surrendered to police at 1:30 a.m. Friday. He was released under a $500 bond, and the woman was given emergency treatment at Charity Hospital.

Monroe police also booked a 42-year-old Negro, Mose Jones, 905 Hoods Alley, late Friday for theft. He was charged in a warrant with theft of a tire, tube and wheel valued at $35 and released after posting a $360 bond.

The Monroe department was investigating a theft report late Friday night, involving assorted groceries and money from Caston's Grocery Store, at 504 N. 12th St. The store owner, Dave Caston, said that around 8 p.m., a Negro man called and ordered that an assortment of groceries and $20 change be delivered to 318 N. 10th St. Caston said that just before his delivery boy arrived at the address, a Negro with a black patch over one eye stopped the boy, gave him an envelope and told him the envelope contained the $20. The delivery boy reportedly handed the groceries over to the Negro, but when he later opened the envelope to get the money, it was empty.

Three persons were booked for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages by local departments. Monroe officers booked Richard A. French, 38, 608 Loop Rd., at 1:20 a.m. for DWI and reckless driving after arresting him at N. 8th and Bres Avenue. At 2:40 a.m., Monroe officers apprehended William Emerson Hill, 23, Negro, 834 Camp St., at S. 16th Street and Texas Avenue and booked him for DWI, reckless driving, speeding and no driver's license. He was held under a $465 bond.

West Monroe police booked a Farmerville man, Ray Williams, 24, of Rt. 2, for DWI around 1:40 a.m Friday. He was taken into custody on North 7th Street.

Freed Priest Held By Reds For 23 Years

Kennedy and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

As Egorov and his wife headed for freedom, they left behind them another couple accused with them of a six-year conspiracy to feed Moscow data on U.S. rocket-launching sites, atomic arms shipments, troop movements and naval installations.

Still held were a man known as Robert K. Baltch, and a companion known as Joy Ann Baltch, who also used the name Joy Ann Garber.

The Baltchs were arrested July 2 in a Washington apartment where authorities said a short-wave radio was used to broadcast stolen military data to the Soviet Union. At the same time, the Egorovs were arrested in New York.

Soviet officials repeatedly demanded the release of the Egorovs on grounds that they were in this country on Soviet diplomatic passports. This appeal was thrown out of a Brooklyn federal court just two days ago and the Egorovos and Baltchs ordered to trial Nov. 4.

A Justice Department spokesman said that the Russians evinced no interest in the Baltchs and that they will be prosecuted as scheduled.

If authorities ever learned the real identity of the Baltches, it was not made public. Baltch borrowed the name of a Roman Catholic priest in Upstate New York and his companion, as Joy Ann Garber was using the name of a Connecticut housewife and mother. Neither of those Americans was aware their name was being used by the defendants.

The path to freedom was opened for the Egorovs in proceedings in late afternoon before Brooklyn U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph C. Zavatt.

The couple was brought before him and U.S. Atty. Joseph P. Hoey told him: "The government's motion is made on the authority vested in me by the Department of Justice and I move that the indictments against thsee defendants be dismissed.

"Your honor, the government has advised me that two Americans in the Soviet Union were released this morning."

"Two for two?" Judge Zavatt asked.

"Yes," Hoey replied.

The prosecutor then asked that actual dismissal of the indictment be held up until U.S. marshals had put the Egorovs aboard their plane at Idlewild.

The attorney for the Russians, William Kleinman, said: "The two defendants do not oppose."

Judge Zavatt then ruled: "I will reserve decision on this motion until these two have left the United States for Europe. When I am so advised, I will grant the motion."

Judge Zavatt then added that he assumed the Egorovs were returning to the Soviet Union.

"Well, at least Europe," Hoey said.

Egorov smiled as he left the courtroom in the custody of the marshals. His wife followed him with a tense look on her face. She wore a flowered knit suit with a black shirt.

The couple was taken to third-floor detention cells in the Brooklyn Courthouse, pending their transfer to Idlewild.

Two Soviet officials were on hand for the court proceedings. They were Nikolai Reznichenko, chief of the consular division of the Soviet Embassy in Washington, and Juli M. Vorontsov, counselor to the Soviet mission to the United Nations.

The American priest, Father Ciszek, went to the Soviet Union sometime before March 1940, and was arrested a short time later. He was reported to have spent most of the intervening years in Siberia.

The Soviet Union charge hdim with using a Soviet passport under the name of "Lipinski" and engaging in illegal espionage activities. He was sentencde as a foreign agent.

Officials in Washington said the United States did not know of Ciszek's whereabouts until 1955, and it was not until the following year that the Russians acknowledged holding him. He is a native of Shenandoah, Pa.

Moreau Kick Tips Miami, 3-0

Sparks Drops Mira Pass In LSU End Zone

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Louisiana State scored on a 20-yard field goal Friday night, then held off three fierce Miami attacks in the fourth period to escape with a 3-0 decision over the Hurricanes.

In the closing minutes an 80-yard run to the Miami goal by Don Schwab was recalled because of a holding penalty. On the final play Miami's Hoyt Sparks dropped a sure touchdown pass from George Mira in the LSU end zone.

Mira, returning to the form that made him an All-America last season, twice directed the Hurricanes deep into LSU territory. Each time, when a fourth down situation came up, Coach Andy Gustafson ordered a field goal try and 45,986 fans rocked the Orange Bowl with boos.

With Mira hitting his receivers beautifully, they wanted the Hurricanes to go for it all, not a tie. Both field goal tries by Don Cifra were from difficult positions.

A scoreless deadlock was broken in the third period when Danny Leblanc and Joe Labruzzo led the Tigers with smashing runs to the Miami 10. On fourth down, with three to go, Doug Moreau kicked the winning field goal.

Immediately afterward, and although his protection crumbled under the hard rushes of the Tigers, Mira got the Hurricanes in high gear. He hit Bob Barth with a 22-yard pass, then broke loose on a 37-yard run to the LSU 15.

After a clipping penalty set Miami back to the 27, Cifra tried a field goal from 44 yards out and it was wide and short.

Another Miami attack, during which Mira hit five passes, surged to the LSU 22 and Cifra missed a field goal from 39 yards away.

All season Mira has been plagued by butter-fingered receivers and Friday night was no exception. His pass to Sparks was directly into his arms between two receivers in the end zone.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Pat Screen, Louisiana State's star sophomore quarterback, suffered a broken clavicle in his right shoulder in the football game with Miami Friday night and probably will be lost for the season.

The team's trainer said the LSU physician told him Screen would be ou for eighth weeks, "which means the rest of the season."

More X-rays were being taken of the injury which forced Screen to leave the game in the third quarter. LSU won 3-0.

2ND HOME VICTORY?

Indians Will Try To Muzzle Howard Pack On Home Soil

Northeast State attempts to muzzle Howard College's Bulldogs in its second home game of the season tonight in Brown Stadium. The game will begin at 8 p.m., just after a grand entrance of the dozens of high school bands here for "Band Night" at Northeast. The prep bands are scheduled for a halftime performance.

Northeast's opponent has been one of the South's strongest independents for the past four years, winning 31 of 37 games and appearing in two bowl games. This year, the Bulldogs have a 1-2 record — the same as Northeast — with their defeats coming at the hands of two unbeaten teams, Mississippi State and McNeese. The victory came over Southeastern, 7-0.

Howard usually runs from the slot T and occasionally from the I formation. A strong running game is the Bulldogs' top offense threat. They have enjoyed little success through the air so far, completing only three tosses for 21 yards.

Jack Rowan's Northeast Indians have lost to Chattanooga and Northwestern on the road and won over McMurry at home. Their hopes for an upset have been dimmed by injuries to several players. Guards Don King and Billy Ross Graves will probably sit out the contest and tackle Joe Alewine has been shifted to guard to fill part of the gap. Center Tommy Beaube has been troubled by a cold and Stanley Starr will start.

All-Gulf States Conference halfback Ken Newton, who has played barely 10 minutes because of a bad ankle, may see action tonight but nobody knows for how long. Ronnie Myrick, another halfback, is considered an unlikely participant because of injuries.

Howard also has its troubles. Its best runner, halfback Reggie Allen, is not expected to play because of a leg infection and two other players are definitely out and two others ticketed for only limited action.

Northeast needs a strong game from its big line and better ball control from its backfield this week after losing three fumbles and having three passes intercepted last Saturday.

Most of the ball carrying is expected to be done by fullbacks Willie Ragan, Ronnie Graham and David Elkins, halfbacks Morris "Moose" Douglas, Alton Thomas, Ray Pommier, John Weaver and Newton. R. F. Wilson, who missed all three previous games because of a broken finger, is also slated to play tonight.

Ragan is the top gainer with 190 yards, Graham has 101. Thomas has picked up 70 and Douglas, in only five carries, has gained 26.

The halfbacks and quarterbacks Bookie Shillcutt and Mike Cooper will be the passers. Cooper has completed 11 of 22 pitches for 101 yards. He will probably have a new target tonight with end Carlyle Williams, a defensive specialist previously, scheduled for offensive duty for the first time.

Next week Northeast will meet McNeese here and takes on Southeastern in the homecoming game October 26.

SET TO START tonight for Northeast State against Howard College are halfback Morris Douglas (left) and guard James Kirkendall. Douglas, 175-pound senior from Jonesboro, has done a good job offensively and defensively for the tribe in three games this year. Kirkendall (220) is a freshman from Sulphur who was redshirted last year.

STAUBACH BRILLIANT IN LOSS

Roderick Runs Mustangs To Win Over Navy 32-28

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP)—Trackman John Roderick ran Navy into the ground in the fading minutes Friday night and Southern Methodist knocked over the nation's No. 4 football team 32-28 in the second smashing upset in a row for the Methodists.

Roger Staubach, magnificent in defeat, led Navy on a wild drive that reached the SMU seven with one second left. Staubach's pass into the end zone was batted down by Tommy Caughran as the last gun fired.

Roderick's 14-yard run on third down got SMU moving on a last quarter desperation drive and his six-yard run on another third down situation got SMU within 2½ yards of the goal line. Then Roderick crashed over for the touchdown.

Navy went back ahead on a field goal by Fred Marlin with 2:52 left. But Roderick ripped out 23 yards to get SMU moving on another drive and when interference was called on a pass at the Navy one-yard line, Billy Gannon whose 45-yard touchdown run had gotten SMU back in the game in the third period, smashed across for the touchdown that knocked Navy and its Staubach from the unbeaten ranks.

A crowd of 37,000 roared its approval of an SMU team that never quit and fought back against some of the toughest breaks it ever got.

Roderick, the 9.4 trackman who came out for football only this season, was the hero.

This was the Southern Methodist team that had won only five games in the last three years and started this season with a 27-16 defeat at the hands of Michigan, a team Navy beat.

And it was a smashing upset if ever there was one. The Methodists had been picked to lose by two touchdowns.

But last week they beat Air Force Academy 10-0 to start the drive back up. That too was a major upset.

FIRST NEW MOVE

Minoso Dropped From Solon Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators turned loose Minnie Minoso, 40-year-old Cuban outfielder, Friday in the first of several moves expected to make room for new faces.

Minoso, a veteran of 13 years in the major leagues, has a lifetime batting average of over .300 in service with four teams.

The Senators bought him from the St. Louis Cardinals shortly before the start of last season. In 129 games for Washington this year, Minoso hit .229.

"We bought Minoso with the idea of giving the club a shot in the arm, and he did," said Gneeral Manager George Selkirc. "He was willing and was a good attraction. However, Minnie is in a salary bracket where he can no longer be handled for the contribution that he makes."

Selkirk said that if Minoso couldn't line up a job with another team, Washington would be happy to have him try out again in spring training, with the understanding he would agree to take more than the maximum 25 per cent cut in his salary, estimated at $40,000 to $45,000 a year.

Several other moves are expected over the weekend to make room on the 40-man off-season roster. The Senators are expected to make several selections later this year in the draft of first year players.

Minoso came up to the majors briefly in 1949, seeing action in nine games with Cleveland. The Indians called him back in 1951, then traded him to the Chicago White Sox.

With Chicago, Minoso batted .326 as a rookie.

At the end of the 1957 season, Minoso went back to Cleveland in a trade that sent Early Wynn to the White Sox. Two years later, Minoso was back in Chicago.

After the 1961 season, the White Sox traded Minoso to St. Louis for first baseman Joe Cunningham. He suffered a fractured skull and broken right wrist crashing into a outfield wall while chasing a fly ball early in the 1962 season and played in only 39 games.

Even though the Senators have asked waivers on Minoso, and plan to give him his outright release, the colorful Cuban hasn't said goodbye yet. He makes his home in Washington and will work in the Senators' public relations department this winter.

Houston Places Bily Cannon On Injury List

HOUSTON (AP)—Billy Cannon, the American Football League rushing leader in 1961, was placed on the injury deferred list Friday by the Houston Oilers after Oakland withdrew its claim on the former Heisman Trophy winner.

According to the AFL office in New York, the Oilers placed Cannon on the waiver list in order to eventually put him on the injury list. The Raiders claimed him just before the Friday deadline, but withdrew minutes later.

A spokesman for the league said the Raiders apparently had been notified that Cannon would be taken off the waiver list unless Oakland canceled its claim. If Oakland had not withdrawn its claim, the Oilers could have taken Cannon off the list and kept him on the active roster.

Cannon now must miss at least two more games. He injured his ankle Sept 7, in a league opener against Oakland. He played against Buffalo Sept. 28, but reinjured his ankle while warming up for the Kansas City game last week.

The Oilers indicated Cannon will be replaced on the active roster by Bill Tobin, a rookie back from Missouri.

The Dodgers won their first World Series in 1955 when they beat the Yankees in the seventh and deciding game.

Grambling May Be In Jeopardy In Today's Tilt

GRAMBLING (Special) — Grambling College might get caught with its defensive platoon dwon here tonight in a non-conference encounter with Mississippi Vocational College.

The Tigers have been sharpening fangs and claws all week for their Oct. 19 clash with Prairie View and Coach Eddie Robinson is hopeful that they can show the benefit of lessons absorbed to advantage against the Delta rivals.

Robinson admits that his squad is approaching the MVC game in a position of jeopardy.

Prairie View is a key game in the tight Southwestern Athletic Conference race and Grambling must win to insure the hungry Tigers of a crack at the title.

Robinson will throw size, speed, experience and desire at MVC. Vocational hopes to offset this with depth and balance in the line and individual standouts in the backfield.

The visitors walloped Alabama State, 46-6, last week while Grambling was slipping by Tennessee State A&I with ease and agility, 36-14.

Kickoff tonight is at 7:30 p.m.

Ole Miss Rebs Resting Today; Then Greenies

After three games and only one positive showing, Ole Miss faces an open Saturday this week end a third of the way through its 1963 football campaign.

The Rebels bumped Houston last Saturday night in a 20-6 outing but not i na manner that was particularly pleasing to Coach Johnny Vaught.

Vaught labeled the Reb response "The Most passive, indifferent game we've played in years. Our best response was contributed by our sophomores — and only by sophomores," he added.

Next on the Ole Miss calendar is Tulane in New Orleans in an extension of the Rebs' Southeastern Conference season. They are defending champions, but that status doesn't figure to exist long on the basis of Houston-game playing results.

Sophomore tailback Mike Dennis padded Ole Miss' meager 7-6 intermission lead when he put together two great broken field sprints in the third and fourth quarters for essential insurance touchdowns. Both stemmed from Perry Lee Dunn aerials, the first run for the corner carrying 23 yards, the second 30 yards.

Otherwise, the Reb air game was not an effective weapon. Only five completions were recorded in 15 shots for 88 yards. The ground game was more assured, the Rebs netting 284 yards by land on 51 plays.

IN 2-AA CRUCIAL

Neville Tigers Battle Ruston To 6-6 Draw

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Writer

RUSTON — Neville High outplayed a favored Ruston club here Friday night, looking something like the Tigers of old, but had to settle for a 6-6 tie in the big district 2-AA contest.

Ruston, which had several big scoring opportunities during the first half, managed a score only seconds before the half ended to grab a 6-0 lead.

With less than two minutes to play in the half, the Bearcats took over on their own 39-yard line after forcing Neville to punt.

Halfback Billy Adney raced for 13 yards on the first play, putting the ball on the Neville 48. Quarterback Melvin Shows threw incomplete on the next play, then was trapped for a ten-yard loss when defensive end Gary Hart broke through to spill him. But Neville was penalized on the play, one of six penalties the Tigers drew during the night, and the ball was moved to the 43.

From here, fullback Eddie Taylor rammed for 13 yards before being brought down by Robert McSherry on the 31.

And then, in what must have seemed like an eternity to Neville players and fans, Ruston managed to get off three more pass plays in the less than 30 second span with the last one good for a five-yard touchdown.

Shows hit end Richard Swift in the left flat for the score. Adney's attempted PAT kick was wide and The Bearcats led 6-0 with seconds still left in the half.

On the ensuing kickoff, Neville's Ronnie Clark returned from the 25 to the 46, ending the first half.

The clock went out of working order with about 6:50 left in the first half and officials kept the time on the field from then on.

Neville completely dominated the second half, racking up 125 yards on the ground to Ruston's 20, and scored late in the third quarter.

Gary Pappas, who played possibly the best game of his high school career, picked up the Neville score when he plunged over from the two on an off-tackle play around the left side. The Tigers then tried the identical play again for the extra point attempt but Pappas was met by a horde of Bearcats at the line of scrimmage and stopped short.

Neville had begun the scoring drive on its own 45 after Adney had kicked 27 yards. Don Johnson, Dale Young and Pappas picked up most of the big yardage and quarter Doug Cookston came up with a vital first down at the Ruston three.

Pappas broke open on his pet off tackle play, sprinted past a couple of 'Cats and went 24 yards before being brought down by Shows on the 14 for the longest gainer of the night.

He and Cookston then alternated lugging the ball to the two, from where he scored.

Pappas' tally, although coming in the third quarter, actually climaxed a brilliant night for the young muscle man. He ran for a whopping 127-yards on 17 trips for a 7.5 average.

Ruston's big fullback Taylor, the leading scorer in 2-AA, finished the night with 66-yards on 18 trips as he was pretty well contained most of the night.

The game was undoubtedly Neville's finest effort of the year.

A couple of fumbles early in the game by Neville gave Ruston chances to break the contest wide open but both times the Tigers' defense rose to the occasion.

In the first period, the Bearcats drove to the Neville 33 before stalling. Adney kicked out of bounds on the Neville nine. On the first play, Johnson was hit hard and fumbled with the Bearcats recovering.

On first down, Taylor bulled his way for seven yards to the five. On second down, Wayne Parkman picked up two, leaving the ball on the three, only a yard shy of a first down or three short of a TD.

The ball was given to Taylor on the next two plays but he was stopped for no gain and Neville took over.

Again midway in the second quarter Neville fumbled and Ruston's Jack Trammell pounced on the ball at the Tigers' 19. But terrific defensive play by McSherry and Hart pushed Ruston back to the 32 in three downs forcing the Cats to punt.

Other than Neville's scoring march in the third quarter, there were no serious threats.

Much of the game was played midfield and Neville punted six times and Ruston nine.

The Tigers' Clark had a 37 yard average on his boots and Adney had a 27 yard average. Both boys got off some real fine kicks with one of Adney's going out of bounds on the Neville one.

Neville's 215 yard total yards gained was not so surprising except for the fact that every yard came on the ground. Coach Charlie Brown's crew passed only two times during the tilt.

Young with 32 yards and Johnson with 29 helped carry the load with Pappas.

Shows, Ruston's heady signal caller, showed good passing form most of the time. He connected on five of 12 and had several others dropped. The Bearcats gained 65 yards through the air with Wayne Parkman receiving three for 36 yards to lead the way.

Neville was penalized for 70 yards during the game and Ruston two times for 20 yards.

The entire Neville defensive wall was outstanding but people like Paul Eason, Walter Causey, Bill Hochsterter, Hart and McSherry led the way.

For Ruston, Shows, Trammell, Lewis Love, Taylor, and Glen Wright sparkled on defense.

Roderick Runs Mustangs To Win Over Navy 32-28

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP)—Trackman John Roderick ran Navy into the ground in the fading minutes Friday night and Southern Methodist knocked over the nation's No. 4 football team 32-28 in the second smashing upset in a row for the Methodists.

Roger Staubach, magnificent in defeat, led Navy on a wild drive that reached the SMU seven with one second left. Staubach's pass into the end zone was batted down by Tommy Caughran as the last gun fired.

Roderick's 14-yard run on third down got SMU moving on a last quarter desperation drive and his six-yard run on another third down situation got SMU within 2½ yards of the goal line. Then Roderick crashed over for the touchdown.

Navy went back ahead on a field goal by Fred Marlin with 2:52 left. But Roderick ripped out 23 yards to get SMU moving on another drive and when interference was called on a pass at the Navy one-yard line, Billy Gannon whose 45-yard touchdown run had gotten SMU back in the game in the third period, smashed across for the touchdown that knocked Navy and its Staubach from the unbeaten ranks.

A crowd of 37,000 roared its approval of an SMU team that never quit and fought back against some of the toughest breaks it ever got.

DALLAS (AP)—Statistics of the Navy-Southern Methodist football game:

	NAVY	SMU
First downs	24	11
Rushing yardage	319	201
Passing yardage	143	89
Passes	13-26	9-17
Passes Intercepted by	1	1
Punts	4-35.2	5-38.8
Fumbles lost	2	1
Yards penalized	107	52

Roderick, the 9.4 trackman who came out for football only this season, was the hero.

This was the Southern Methodist team that had won only five games in the last three years and started this season with a 27-16 defeat at the hands of Michigan, a team Navy beat.

And it was a smashing upset if ever there was one. The Methodists had been picked to lose by two touchdowns.

But last week they beat Air Force Academy 10-0 to start the drive back up. That too was a major upset.

FIRST NEW MOVE

Minoso Dropped From Solon Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators turned loose Minnie Minoso, 40-year-old Cuban outfielder, Friday in the first of several moves expected to make room for new faces.

Minoso, a veteran of 13 years in the major leagues, has a lifetime batting average of over .300 in service with four teams.

The Senators bought him from the St. Louis Cardinals shortly before the start of last season. In 129 games for Washington this year, Minoso hit .229.

"We bought Minoso with the idea of giving the club a shot in the arm, and he did," said Gneeral Manager George Selkirc. "He was willing and was a good attraction. However, Minnie is in a salary bracket where he can no longer be handled for the contribution that he makes."

Selkirk said that if Minoso couldn't line up a job with another team, Washington would be happy to have him try out again in spring training, with the understanding he would agree to take more than the maximum 25 per cent cut in his salary, estimated at $40,000 to $45,000 a year.

Several other moves are expected over the weekend to make room on the 40-man off-season roster. The Senators are expected to make several selections later this year in the draft of first year players.

Minoso came up to the majors briefly in 1949, seeing action in nine games with Cleveland. The Indians called him back in 1951, then traded him to the Chicago White Sox.

With Chicago, Minoso batted .326 as a rookie.

At the end of the 1957 season, Minoso went back to Cleveland in a trade that sent Early Wynn to the White Sox. Two years later, Minoso was back in Chicago.

After the 1961 season, the White Sox traded Minoso to St. Louis for first baseman Joe Cunningham. He suffered a fractured skull and broken right wrist crashing into a outfield wall while chasing a fly ball early in the 1962 season and played in only 39 games.

Even though the Senators have asked waivers on Minoso, and plan to give him his outright release, the colorful Cuban hasn't said goodbye yet. He makes his home in Washington and will work in the Senators' public relations department this winter.

Grambling May Be In Jeopardy In Today's Tilt

GRAMBLING (Special) — Grambling College might get caught with its defensive platoon dwon here tonight in a non-conference encounter with Mississippi Vocational College.

The Tigers have been sharpening fangs and claws all week for their Oct. 19 clash with Prairie View and Coach Eddie Robinson is hopeful that they can show the benefit of lessons absorbed to advantage against the Delta rivals.

Robinson admits that his squad is approaching the MVC game in a position of jeopardy.

Prairie View is a key game in the tight Southwestern Athletic Conference race and Grambling must win to insure the hungry Tigers of a crack at the title.

Robinson will throw size, speed, experience and desire at MVC. Vocational hopes to offset this with depth and balance in the line and individual standouts in the backfield.

The visitors walloped Alabama State, 46-6, last week while Grambling was slipping by Tennessee State A&I with ease and agility, 36-14.

Kickoff tonight is at 7:30 p.m.

Houston Places Bily Cannon On Injury List

HOUSTON (AP)—Billy Cannon, the American Football League rushing leader in 1961, was placed on the injury deferred list Friday by the Houston Oilers after Oakland withdrew its claim on the former Heisman Trophy winner.

According to the AFL office in New York, the Oilers placed Cannon on the waiver list in order to eventually put him on the injury list. The Raiders claimed him just before the Friday deadline, but withdrew minutes later.

A spokesman for the league said the Raiders apparently had been notified that Cannon would be taken off the waiver list unless Oakland canceled its claim. If Oakland had not withdrawn its claim, the Oilers could have taken Cannon off the list and kept him on the active roster.

Cannon now must miss at least two more games. He injured his ankle Sept 7, in a league opener against Oakland. He played against Buffalo Sept. 28, but reinjured his ankle while warming up for the Kansas City game last week.

The Oilers indicated Cannon will be replaced on the active roster by Bill Tobin, a rookie back from Missouri.

The Dodgers won their first World Series in 1955 when they beat the Yankees in the seventh and deciding game.

Sparks Drops Mira Pass In LSU End Zone

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Louisiana State scored on a 20-yard field goal Friday night, then held off three fierce Miami attacks in the fourth period to escape with a 3-0 decision over the Hurricanes.

In the closing minutes an 80-yard run to the Miami goal by Don Schwab was recalled because of a holding penalty. On the final play Miami's Hoyt Sparks dropped a sure touchdown pass from George Mira in the LSU end zone.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Statistics of the Louisiana State-Miami football game:

Passes	3-6	12-19
Passes intercepted by	0	0
Punts	8-42.1	5-44.2
Fumbles lost	1	2
Yards penalized	84	30

Mira, returning to the form that made him an All-America last season, twice directed the Hurricanes deep into LSU territory. Each time, when a fourth down situation came up, Coach Andy Gustafson ordered a field goal try and 45,986 fans rocked the Orange Bowl with boos.

With Mira hitting his receivers beautifully, they wanted the Hurricanes to go for it all, not a tie. Both field goal tries by Don Cifra were from difficult positions.

A scoreless deadlock was broken in the third period when Danny Leblanc and Joe Labruzzo led the Tigers with smashing runs to the Miami 10. On fourth down, with three to go, Doug Moreau kicked the winning field goal.

Immediately afterward, and although his protection crumbled under the hard rushes of the Tigers, Mira got the Hurricanes in high gear. He hit Bob Barth with a 22-yard pass, then broke loose on a 37-yard run to the LSU 15.

After a clipping penalty set Miami back to the 27, Cifra tried a field goal from 44 yards out and it was wide and short.

Another Miami attack, during which Mira hit five passes, surged to the LSU 22 and Cifra missed a field goal from 39 yards away.

All season Mira has been plagued by butter-fingered receivers and Friday night was no exception. His pass to Sparks was directly into his arms between two receivers in the end zone.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Pat Screen, Louisiana State's star sophomore quarterback, suffered a broken clavicle in his right shoulder in the football game with Miami Friday night and probably will be lost for the season.

The team's trainer said the LSU physician told him Screen would be ou for eighth weeks, "which means the rest of the season."

More X-rays were being taken of the injury which forced Screen to leave the game in the third quarter. LSU won 3-0.

Ole Miss Rebs Resting Today; Then Greenies

After three games and only one positive showing, Ole Miss faces an open Saturday this week end a third of the way through its 1963 football campaign.

The Rebels bumped Houston last Saturday night in a 20-6 outing but not i na manner that was particularly pleasing to Coach Johnny Vaught.

Vaught labeled the Reb response "The Most passive, indifferent game we've played in years. Our best response was contributed by our sophomores — and only by sophomores," he added.

Next on the Ole Miss calendar is Tulane in New Orleans in an extension of the Rebs' Southeastern Conference season. They are defending champions, but that status doesn't figure to exist long on the basis of Houston-game playing results.

Sophomore tailback Mike Dennis padded Ole Miss' meager 7-6 intermission lead when he put together two great broken field sprints in the third and fourth quarters for essential insurance touchdowns. Both stemmed from Perry Lee Dunn aerials, the first run for the corner carrying 23 yards, the second 30 yards.

Otherwise, the Reb air game was not an effective weapon. Only five completions were recorded in 15 shots for 88 yards. The ground game was more assured, the Rebs netting 284 yards by land on 51 plays.

IN 2-AA CRUCIAL

Neville Tigers Battle Ruston To 6-6 Draw

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Writer

RUSTON — Neville High outplayed a favored Ruston club here Friday night, looking something like the Tigers of old, but had to settle for a 6-6 tie in the big district 2-AA contest.

Ruston, which had several big scoring opportunities during the first half, managed a score only seconds before the half ended to grab a 6-0 lead.

With less than two minutes to play in the half, the Bearcats took over on their own 39-yard line after forcing Neville to punt.

Halfback Billy Adney raced for 13 yards on the first play, putting the ball on the Neville 48. Quarterback Melvin Shows threw incomplete on the next play, then was trapped for a ten-yard loss when defensive end Gary Hart broke through to spill him. But Neville was penalized on the play, one of six penalties the Tigers drew during the night, and the ball was moved to the 43.

From here, fullback Eddie Taylor rammed for 13 yards before being brought down by Robert McSherry on the 31.

And then, in what must have seemed like an eternity to Neville players and fans, Ruston managed to get off three more pass plays in the less than 30 second span with the last one good for a five-yard touchdown.

Shows hit end Richard Swift in the left flat for the score. Adney's attempted PAT kick was wide and The Bearcats led 6-0 with seconds still left in the half.

On the ensuing kickoff, Neville's Ronnie Clark returned from the 25 to the 46, ending the first half.

The clock went out of working order with about 6:50 left in the first half and officials kept the time on the field from then on.

Neville completely dominated the second half, racking up 125 yards on the ground to Ruston's 20, and scored late in the third quarter.

Gary Pappas, who played possibly the best game of his high school career, picked up the Neville score when he plunged over from the two on an off-tackle play around the left side. The Tigers then tried the identical play again for the extra point attempt but Pappas was met by a horde of Bearcats at the line of scrimmage and stopped short.

Neville had begun the scoring drive on its own 45 after Adney had kicked 27 yards. Don Johnson, Dale Young and Pappas picked up most of the big yardage and quarter Doug Cookston came up with a vital first down at the Ruston three.

Pappas broke open on his pet off tackle play, sprinted past a couple of 'Cats and went 24 yards before being brought down by Shows on the 14 for the longest gainer of the night.

He and Cookston then alternated lugging the ball to the two, from where he scored.

Pappas' tally, although coming in the third quarter, actually climaxed a brilliant night for the young muscle man. He ran for a whopping 127-yards on 17 trips for a 7.5 average.

Ruston's big fullback Taylor, the leading scorer in 2-AA, finished the night with 66-yards on 18 trips as he was pretty well contained most of the night.

The game was undoubtedly Neville's finest effort of the year.

A couple of fumbles early in the game by Neville gave Ruston chances to break the contest wide open but both times the Tigers' defense rose to the occasion.

In the first period, the Bearcats drove to the Neville 33 before stalling. Adney kicked out of bounds on the Neville nine. On the first play, Johnson was hit hard and fumbled with the Bearcats recovering.

On first down, Taylor bulled his way for seven yards to the five. On second down, Wayne Parkman picked up two, leaving the ball on the three, only a yard shy of a first down or three short of a TD.

The ball was given to Taylor on the next two plays but he was stopped for no gain and Neville took over.

Again midway in the second quarter Neville fumbled and Ruston's Jack Trammell pounced on the ball at the Tigers' 19. But terrific defensive play by McSherry and Hart pushed Ruston back to the 32 in three downs forcing the Cats to punt.

Other than Neville's scoring march in the third quarter, there were no serious threats.

Much of the game was played midfield and Neville punted six times and Ruston nine.

The Tigers' Clark had a 37 yard average on his boots and Adney had a 27 yard average. Both boys got off some real fine kicks with one of Adney's going out of bounds on the Neville one.

Neville's 215 yard total yards gained was not so surprising except for the fact that every yard came on the ground. Coach Charlie Brown's crew passed only two times during the tilt.

Young with 32 yards and Johnson with 29 helped carry the load with Pappas.

Shows, Ruston's heady signal caller, showed good passing form most of the time. He connected on five of 12 and had several others dropped. The Bearcats gained 65 yards through the air with Wayne Parkman receiving three for 36 yards to lead the way.

Neville was penalized for 70 yards during the game and Ruston two times for 20 yards.

The entire Neville defensive wall was outstanding but people like Paul Eason, Walter Causey, Bill Hochsterter, Hart and McSherry led the way.

For Ruston, Shows, Trammell, Lewis Love, Taylor, and Glen Wright sparkled on defense.

Score by quarters:

Ruston	0	6	0	0—6
Neville	0	0	6	0—6

Scoring Summary

Ruston — Richard Swift, 5 yard pass from Melvin Shows. PAT failed.

BOBBY HALL, West Monroe quarterback, attempts a keeper play around left end in the second period of the 1-AAA game against Woodlawn Friday night. Hall, who alternated with James Colvin at the position, gained five yards on the effort, before guard Byron Sprawls (66) came up to make the stop.

KEY AAA CLASH

Fighting Knights Stop West Monroe Rebs, 14-6

By GLYNN HUDSON
World Sports Writer

Woodlawn's fighting Knights, led by quarterback Trey Prather and fullback Johnny Piazza defeated West Monroe 14-6 at Rebel Stadium Friday night.

For the Red Knights of Shreveport, it was two 23 yard aerials by Prather, one for a touchdown, and the other which set up a score, that gave them the hard fought victory.

West Monroe's lone touchdown came in the third quarter, as Ray Alexander picked off a Pranther pass and raced 65 yards before the Knight quarterback could pull him down on the five yard line. Fullback Chuck Crawford punched across for the score on his third attempt.

Woodlawn took the opening kickoff and marched from its own 40 to the West Monroe 31 before the Rebel defense got tough and held.

On their first play from scrimmage, the football got loose from a Rebel back, and Woodlawn set up its offense on the West Monroe 30.

Prather faded back on the first play and hit his right halfback Gerald Burnett in the left flat. Burnett bulled his way to the Rebel five yard line before a host of West Monroe tacklers could pull him down.

Piazza, who played a great game at fullback racking up 100 yards rushing, hit the middle of the tough Rebel line three times, but could only come up four yards for his trouble.

On fourth and goal from the one, Prather, with a beautiful fake to Piazza gave the ball to Burnett who found the end-zone. Ralph Craft booted the PAT and Woodlawn took a seven point lead with 4:49 remaining in the first quarter.

The Rebels started to move the ball after the following kickoff as Raymond Frazier, Crawford, and Alexander ran for good gainers, that carried to the Woodlawn's 34. But the Knight forward wall got tough and the Rebs had to kick as the first quarter ended.

The second period was a scoreless dual, as both elevens moved back and forth, but neither could get a break that would mean a score.

Alexander, who does the punting for the Rebels should be given credit for the fact that Woodlawn didn't score in the second period, as his booming punts kept the Knights backed up in their own territory.

Hard rushes by the Rebels forward wall led by Scotty Pace and Larry Bowling also kept Prather on the run most of the second period but he did hit on eight for 110 yards through out the tilt.

The Rebels came back early in the fourth quarter to pull within one point, as Alexander intercepted Prather's pass in the right flat. With interference in front of him, the big Rebel halfback streaked for the goal line, but Prather warded off two West Monroe blockers and downed him on the five. At this point, the third stanza came to an end and Crawford pushed across for the tally with 10:56 left in the final period.

On the important point-after attempt, guard Gary Mitchell rushed through and blocked Alexander's kick.

As things turned out, the blocked kick didn't make as much difference as the Knights came back on the running of Piazza and Burnett to set up the final score.

With the running game working beautifully, Prather faked to his fullback, hid the ball and dropped back. By the time that the Rebel secondary, which was completely fooled, could get back into position, halfback Randy Mason was completely alone at the five yard line. Prather dropped the ball right into his hands and he crossed the goal line with no one around. This made the score 13-6, and Craft kicked true again to put the game away with 6:40 remaining.

The Knights threatened again as they recovered the ensuing kick off and set up on the Rebel 20. But the Rebel line rose to the occasion and held.

Strong Players Shoot For Title In Seniors Golf

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—Merrill L. Carlsmith and William D. Higgins, two 57-year-old golfers who like the pressure of match play, won berths Friday in the finals of the USGA Senior Amateur Golf Tournament.

For Carlsmith, the defending champion from Hilo, Hawaii, it was a close squeeze as semifinalist Joseph Morrill Jr. of Barrington, Mass. persisted to the final green before losing 1-up.

In a morning quarterfinal round, Carlsmith defeated S. P. Severino of Aurora, Ill. on the 17th hole, 2 and 1.

Higgins, from San Francisco, began the day with a 1-up decision over the club champion of the 6,521-yard Sea Island course, James H. McAlvin of Lake Forest, Ill.

Duckett Leads Syracuse Men To Top UCLA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hard-hitting Syracuse led off with a 54-yard touchdown on a punt return by Nat Duckett and overpowered UCLA in an intersectional football game Friday night 29 to 7.

Before the first quarter ended UCLA furnished its only excitement for the 22,949 in Memorial Coliseum when Byron Nelson scored on a 52-yard pass from quarterback Larry Zeno. Zeno added the extra point and UCLA held a brief 7-6 lead. A Syracuse try for a two-point conversion had failed.

Syracuse, heavier and much stronger, dominated the game from there on and held a 12-7 lead at the half.

The Orangemen drove 75 yards for their second touchdown with Gus Giardi going over from the one for the first of his two touchdowns. Again a try for two extra points failed.

A miserable punt set up the third Syracuse touchdown. Jim Nance rambled 17 yards on one play and a roughing penalty advanced the ball to the UCLA five and two plays later Giardi scored from the one.

This time the two-point conversion was made on a pass from Rich King to Mike Koski.

Syracuse added a safety and another touchdown in the final quarter, with Koski driving over from the one for the final six points.

Syracuse lost two other apparently certain touchdowns when UCLA intercepted a pass on it one and again when Nance fumbled deep in Bruin territory.

KEY AAA CLASH

Fighting Knights Stop West Monroe Rebs, 14-6

By GLYNN HUDSON
World Sports Writer

Woodlawn's fighting Knights, led by quarterback Trey Prather and fullback Johnny Piazza defeated West Monroe 14-6 at Rebel Stadium Friday night.

For the Red Knights of Shreveport, it was two 23 yard aerials by Prather, one for a touchdown, and the other which set up a score, that gave them the hard fought victory.

West Monroe's lone touchdown came in the third quarter, as Ray Alexander picked off a Pranther pass and raced 65 yards before the Knight quarterback could pull him down on the five yard line. Fullback Chuck Crawford punched across for the score on his third attempt.

Woodlawn took the opening kickoff and marched from its own 40 to the West Monroe 31 before the Rebel defense got tough and held.

On their first play from scrimmage, the football got loose from a Rebel back, and Woodlawn set up its offense on the West Monroe 30.

Prather faded back on the first play and hit his right halfback Gerald Burnett in the left flat. Burnett bulled his way to the Rebel five yard line before a host of West Monroe tacklers could pull him down.

Piazza, who played a great game at fullback racking up 100 yards rushing, hit the middle of the tough Rebel line three times, but could only come up four yards for his trouble.

On fourth and goal from the one, Prather, with a beautiful fake to Piazza gave the ball to Burnett who found the end-zone. Ralph Craft booted the PAT and Woodlawn took a seven point lead with 4:49 remaining in the first quarter.

The Rebels started to move the ball after the following kickoff as Raymond Frazier, Crawford, and Alexander ran for good gainers, that carried to the Woodlawn's 34. But the Knight forward wall got tough and the Rebs had to kick as the first quarter ended.

The second period was a scoreless dual, as both elevens moved back and forth, but neither could get a break that would mean a score.

Alexander, who does the punting for the Rebels should be given credit for the fact that Woodlawn didn't score in the second period, as his booming punts kept the Knights backed up in their own territory.

Hard rushes by the Rebels forward wall led by Scotty Pace and Larry Bowling also kept Prather on the run most of the second period but he did hit on eight for 110 yards through out the tilt.

The Rebels came back early in the fourth quarter to pull within one point, as Alexander intercepted Prather's pass in the right flat. With interference in front of him, the big Rebel halfback streaked for the goal line, but Prather warded off two West Monroe blockers and downed him on the five. At this point, the third stanza came to an end and Crawford pushed across for the tally with 10:56 left in the final period.

On the important point-after attempt, guard Gary Mitchell rushed through and blocked Alexander's kick.

As things turned out, the blocked kick didn't make as much difference as the Knights came back on the running of Piazza and Burnett to set up the final score.

With the running game working beautifully, Prather faked to his fullback, hid the ball and dropped back. By the time that the Rebel secondary, which was completely fooled, could get back into position, halfback Randy Mason was completely alone at the five yard line. Prather dropped the ball right into his hands and he crossed the goal line with no one around. This made the score 13-6, and Craft kicked true again to put the game away with 6:40 remaining.

The Knights threatened again as they recovered the ensuing kick off and set up on the Rebel 20. But the Rebel line rose to the occasion and held.

Strong Players Shoot For Title In Seniors Golf

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—Merrill L. Carlsmith and William D. Higgins, two 57-year-old golfers who like the pressure of match play, won berths Friday in the finals of the USGA Senior Amateur Golf Tournament.

For Carlsmith, the defending champion from Hilo, Hawaii, it was a close squeeze as semifinalist Joseph Morrill Jr. of Barrington, Mass. persisted to the final green before losing 1-up.

In a morning quarterfinal round, Carlsmith defeated S. P. Severino of Aurora, Ill. on the 17th hole, 2 and 1.

Higgins, from San Francisco, began the day with a 1-up decision over the club champion of the 6,521-yard Sea Island course, James H. McAlvin of Lake Forest, Ill.

Then Higgins whose game has been sizzling all week as the field shrank from 128 players, turned back semifinals George Haggarty of Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. Higgins ended the match on the 16th hole, 3 and 2.

In the quarter-finals, Haggarty defeated J. Walcott Brown of Brielle, N. J., 1-up and Morrill eased past William K. Lanman of Golf, Ill., 4 and 3.

Duckett Leads Syracuse Men To Top UCLA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hard-hitting Syracuse led off with a 54-yard touchdown on a punt return by Nat Duckett and overpowered UCLA in an intersectional football game Friday night 29 to 7.

Before the first quarter ended UCLA furnished its only excitement for the 22,949 in Memorial Coliseum when Byron Nelson scored on a 52-yard pass from quarterback Larry Zeno. Zeno added the extra point and UCLA held a brief 7-6 lead. A Syracuse try for a two-point conversion had failed.

Syracuse, heavier and much stronger, dominated the game from there on and held a 12-7 lead at the half.

The Orangemen drove 75 yards for their second touchdown with Gus Giardi going over from the one for the first of his two touchdowns. Again a try for two extra points failed.

A miserable punt set up the third Syracuse touchdown. Jim Nance rambled 17 yards on one play and a roughing penalty advanced the ball to the UCLA five and two plays later Giardi scored from the one.

This time the two-point conversion was made on a pass from Rich King to Mike Koski.

Syracuse added a safety and another touchdown in the final quarter, with Koski driving over from the one for the final six points.

Syracuse lost two other apparently certain touchdowns when UCLA intercepted a pass on it one and again when Nance fumbled deep in Bruin territory.

LaGrange Barely

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Ray Cole led LaGrange of Lake Charles—the state's fourth-ranked triple-A football team — to a come-from-behind 14-12 victory over archrival Lake Charles Friday night.

Darrell Folse went over from the two for a fourth quarter touchdown to climax a 78-yard Bastrop drive featured by a 53-yard gain on a Head pass to Morris Funderburk.

Holmer converted twice for the Rams who piled up 13 first downs to six for Fair Park.

NBA Players To Read Pact On Gambling

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter Kennedy, new president of the National Basketball Association, will leave Monday on a tour of the circuit during which he plans to have every player read the NBA contract as it applies to gambling.

"I want them to know what they signed and I want them to know that by signing they no longer are private citizens. They become public citizens and every one of their acts will be watched.

"I also will tell the players," Kennedy added, "that any player who gets into trouble will get no sympathy from my office."

Kennedy, who succeeded the retired Maurice Podooff as president, will open his trip at Cincinnati Monday.

Oklahoma won its last seven football games in 1962 then bowed to Alabama, 17-0, in the Orange Bowl.

OLLA (Special)— The Lake Providence Panthers, hurrying toward a showdown with champion Ferriday and Oak Grove in 2-A football, defeated LaSalle High, 19-0, here Friday night for their fifth victory of the season and second in district play.

It was primarily a defensive battle in which the host Tigers held the favored invader scoreless until the last 30 seconds of the first half when quarterback Billy Bayles hit David Clarkson with a screen pass to score.

End Tommy Wall's strong defensive play accounted for all other Panther scoring. He blocked a kick in the third quarter and fell on the ball in the LaSalle endzone for a TD, then on the first play from scrimmage after the kickoff he intercepted a pass and went 38 yards for another.

On a fourth down with four to go, Schweickert tossed 13 yards to Mike Cahill for a touchdown that wound up a 66-yard drive following the second half kickoff.

Two plays later, Schweickert tossed a 22-yard pass to Tommy Marvin for the touchdown.

George Washington drove to the VPI 2 midway in the third period before it was halted.

After Schweickert kicked out to the VPI 49, GW moved for a touchdown in nine plays. Merv Holland tossed a 15-yard pass to Harry Haught for the score.

Jena Stopped

Jonesboro Rolls

NATCHITOCHES (Special) — Jonesboro played ball-possession here Friday night and grounded out a 13-0 victory over Natchitoches' Red Devils.

The Tigers' big fullback Lowell Mize scored both of the Jonesboro TD's with straight up the middle charges. The J-H workhorse tallied his first six-pointer with 1:17 left in the half on a 22-yard sprint into the end zone after blasting through the gaping Red Devil line.

He added the other tally in the third stanza on the same play with a two-yard burst. Tacklers were hanging all over him but the "Hoss" staggered into the endzone.

Phil Marrus added the extra point but the second PAT was blocked.

The Tigers ate up 281 yards on the ground and completely halted the Natchitoches attack which gained a mere 25 yards overland.

Much of the credit for the defensive effort went to J-H stellar end Johnny Garlington.

Linebacker Jay Pearson was like a diamond on a rubboard on the Red Devil defense.

Block, 13-7

JONESVILLE (Special) — The Block Bears had a successful homecoming Friday night by stopping Crowville, 13-6, in a District 3-B game here.

Mangham 26-12

BERNICE (Special) — After a hard fought first half, the Mangham Dragons pulled away in the second half to defeat the Bernice Bears, 26-12, here Friday night in a district 2-B game.

Joe White scored first for Mangham on a 12-yard run, but the Bears came right back to tie it up in the first period, sending Rickie Aden across from the one on a keeper.

Lee Booth send the Dragon ahead again in the second quarter on a six-yard touchdown dash. George Marlowe kicked the point.

End Cal Colvin caught a 17-yard pass from Aden for a Bernice TD that permitted Mangham only a 13-12 edge at the half, but the Dragons kept Bernice bottled in the last half, while freeing Marlowe on a five-yard TD run in the third period and White on a 10-yarder in the fourth period. Marlowe got a point after the last TD.

Tigers Edge

FARMERVILLE (Special) — A roaring Oak Grove Tiger, fat on six consecutive victories after many lean years in district football wars, made the Farmerville Farmers a victim Friday night, 28-0.

Benny Murphy went for two Oak Grove touchdowns in the first and third quarters on 17 and 25-yard runs. End Larry Fox counted in the second quarter on a 22-yard pass from quarterback Jim Boyles, and Mickey Broadway went over from the one in the final period. Frank Earnest ran for three extra points, and Eugene O'Neal ran for one.

Tallulah Wins

RAYVILLE (Special) — The Tallulah Trojans trounced Rayville, 27-0, here Friday night.

Patriots Rally To Clip Raiders In 20-14 Sweep

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's sturdy defense forced two fumbles that led to scores and babe Parilli passed for two touchdowns as the Patriots rallied for a 20-14 American Football League victory over Oakland Friday night.

Parilli put Boston ahead in the opening minutes of the final period as he raced back and forth avoiding defenders to complete a 15-yard payoff pitch to rookie Tom Neumann.

Oakland held a 14-3 lead when Parilli shook the cobwebs off his game and his teammates out of their lethargy. The regular quarterback, sidelined much of the past four weeks, steered Boston 80 yards in four plays with the score coming on a 56-yard pass play to Jimmy Colclough. The receiver stumbled at the 8 but regained his feet and ran across.

Athletes To Fete Joe Aillet Today

RUSTON (Special) — Joe Aillet came to the North Louisiana hill country 37 years ago, quickly established himself as one of the top mentors in the state at Haynesville, and then moved into the collegiate field where for many years he has been considered one of the best in the nation.

After his 23rd year at Louisiana Tech, former lettermen in every sport decided it was time that "Joe Aillet Appreciation Day" be held to publicly recognize his talents.

So on Saturday, Oct. 12 at the halftime of Tech's homecoming game with the University of Southwestern, ceremonies honoring Aillet will be held. U. S. Representative Joe Waggonner of Plain Dealing will be the featured speaker.

During Coach Aillet's Tech career, more than 800 athletes have earned letters in all sports, over 400 of them in football. A majority of them are expected to be here for the ceremonies Saturday.

Why has Aillet remained at Louisiana Tech? It is no secret that he has been offered the same position at major colleges and universities. The genial Frenchman likes Ruston, its citizens and is devoted to Louisiana Tech.

Known for his character building and molding of men, Aillet points with pride to the success of his athletes after graduation in many fields. Only a very small percentage of athletic lettermen at Tech failed to get degrees. Selective recruiting helps but Aillet and his staff stress the academic side of college for all athletes.

There have been many "firsts" in Aillet's long coaching career. While at Haynesville for nine years, he was instrumental in founding and was first president of the North Louisiana High School Coaches Association. Later, he played a major role in the founding of the Louisiana High School Coaches Association and was its first president.

When the Gulf States conference was founded in 1948, Aillet was the prime mover in the foundation of the new league and also its first president. In 1959, the Tech coach was elected to the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics "Hall of Fame."

Aillet played prep football at Holy Cross High school in New Orleans. He was a quarterback at St. Edwards University in Austin, Tex., before transferring to Southwestern Louisiana Institute where he graduated in 1926. He holds a masters degree from LSU.

He was an assistant coach at SLI his final year, then was an assistant prep mentor at Haynesville for three years and head coach for six before entering the collegiate ranks as backfield coach at Louisiana Normal (now Northwestern State). He remained at Normal four seasons before taking his present post at Tech in 1940.

Aillet started this year at Tech with an overall record of 131 victories, 69 losses and eight ties. His teams have won or tied for the title 12 times, finished second six, third twice and fourth twice in 22 seasons. Tech did not field a team in 1943 during the war.

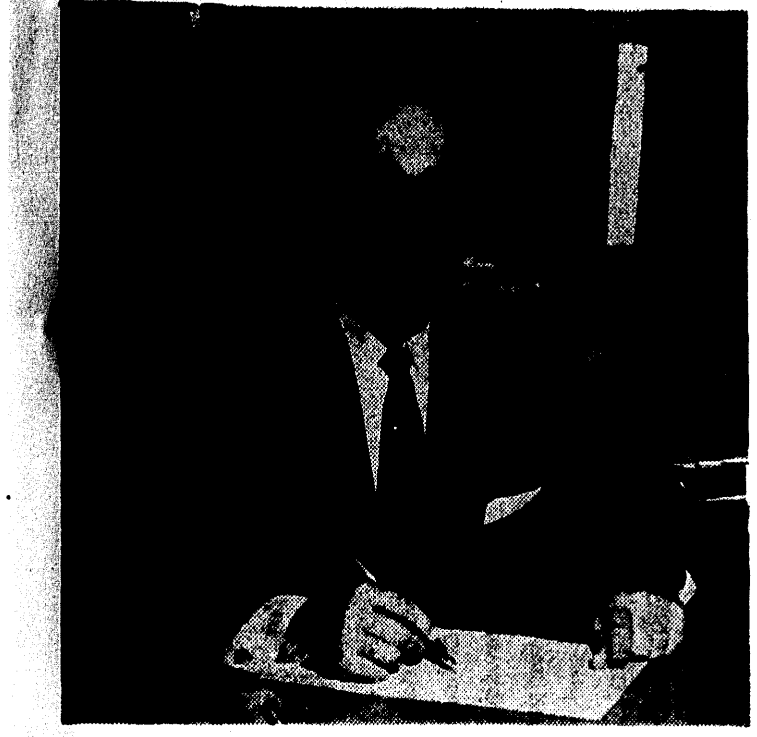
His only losing campaigns have also been war years, in 1944 and again in 1951. He has used the Notre Dame box, T, Winged-T, and pro-T formations at Tech.

Aillet-coached Tech teams have maintained a wide edge over the other league foes. He has a 15-6-2 record against old rival Northwestern State, a 15-4-1 mark against Southeastern Louisiana college, 13-9-1 against Southwestern Louisiana,8-2- 0 against Northeast State, and 10-2-0 against McNeese State.

For many years at Tech, Aillet used the "four yards and a cloud of dust" type of attack hinged on the running game. It has gradually been changed to where the Bulldogs probably have as wide open an attack as any college in the country, with heavy emphasis on the forward pass.

While most of the spotlight is on football, Aillet's golf teams at Tech have been almost unbeatable. There have been several unbeaten seasons which include nine championships in the past 11 years in the GSC.

Aillet's Tech clubs have provided both him and Tech fans with many thrills over the years. The ex-lettermen and Tech supporters hope they can somewhat return the favor with "Joe Aillet Appreciation Day" here Saturday.



JOE AILLET, a veteran of 37 years in the coaching profession, will be honored with a special "day" at Louisiana Tech during Homecoming ceremonies at the Ruston school this afternoon. Aillet, who has been athletic director and head coach at Tech since 1940, as guided the school through what as been its "golden era" in athletics.

DOG - EAT - DOG

Crucial Battle In GSC Today

RUSTON (Special) — A dog-eat-dog football scrap will open fire at 2 p.m. here today when the Bulldogs of Louisiana Tech host the Canines of Southwestern University in their annual Homecoming clash.

This will be a crucial Gulf States Conference match for both elevens since both have already lost one league game. In addition, the game has also been proclaimed as "Joe Aillet Appreciation Day". A 1927 graduate of Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Aillet has served as Tech's head coach and athletic director since 1940.

The game is the 47th meeting of the two schools since their ancient feud was first launched in 1910. In this time Tech has won 25, lost 18 and tied three times.

Ironically, however, Southwestern has given Aillet more trouble than any other GSC school. During the Aillet tenure, his Bulldogs have won only 13, while losing nine and typing once. Supposedly weak USL teams have managed to split in the series since 1959 and since that time neither club has won twice.

The "Raging Cajuns" of Coach Russ Faulkinberry are riding the crest of a two-game win streak. After dropping the season opener to Southeastern Louisiana (14-0), USL rebounded to upset both Hardin-Simmons (16-6) and the University of Tampa (19-17).

Tech has been anything but impressive this year. Smashed by McNeese State 27-6 in the season opener, the Bulldogs squeaked by Louisiana College 12-6 last week.

Faulkinberry had to leave only one regular, halfback Bert Resweber, at home. The versatile senior is nursing a leg injury sustained in the Hardin-Simmons game.

Otherwise, the Canine attack should be at full strength. Probable starters in the USL backfield will be quarterback Lindsey Landry, wingback Craig Doudreaux, halfback Lonny Price and fullback Chester Gosnell.

Maining the forward wall positions are center Charles Fuselier, guards Mike Patin and George Benoit, tackles Paul Fuehrer and Lowell Vaught and ends Jim McNutt and Ed Wroten.

Tech will also have a good back out of action in halfback Paul Lebenne. Jack Odom will move up to Labenne's post and Jack Hopkins is expected to see duty with the second unit. Others who may see action at halfback are John Wurzburger from Mansfield and Alden Reeves from Jonesboro.

Lebenne, who was hurt in the La. College game, will be out a week or longer. The rest of the squad is in good shape.

Tech showed improvement against La. College last week, but must be even better against a stronger Southwestern line. USL quarterback Lindsey Landry is a speedster who loves to go wild. Tech showed unusual weakness against wide runs last week, particularly on third down and long yardage situations.

39TH MEETING

Will Winless Tulane Pick Potent MSU For 1st Win?

NEW ORLEANS — Winless Tulane and unbeaten, once-tied Mississippi State collide for the 39th time Saturday night in Jackson, Miss., with the Green Wave still struggling to snap the longest losing streak in its football history.

Kickoff time at Memorial Stadium is 8 o'clock. A crowd of 25,000 is expected to witness the Southeastern Conference battle.

The frustrated Wave muffed three scoring opportunities last week in bowing to Miami, 10-0, and was on the Hurricane one-yard line when the game ended. It was the 14th consecutive loss for Tulane, which dropped its first two 1963 starts to Texas (21-0) and Alabama (28-0).

Tulane has won 21 games, lost 15 and tied two with Mississippi State over the years, but the Bulldogs will be heavily favored again this year. Last season State erased Tulane 35-6 in New Orleans.

Coach Paul Davis' Mississippi State team annihilated Howard College 43-0 in its 1963 opener, then battled favored Florida to a 9-9 tie. Last week the Bulldogs muffled Tennessee 7-0 in Knoxville.

Tulane Coach Tommy O'Boyle was pleased with the Wave's defensive showing against Miami. Hurricane All-America quarterback George Mira was limited to 66 yards passing and Tulane intercepted two Mira tosses. The thefts, by tackle Mike Calamari and by halfback Jim Davis, set up scoring opportunities which fizzled when Tulane's attack failed.

Miami's touchdown came on a mid - air fumble recovery and three-yard gallop by tackle Robert Brown.

O'Boyle hopes to have halfback Jerry Graves at full speed for the State game. Graves, who missed the Alabama and Texas games with a bruised thigh, saw action against Miami but was not at full strength. End Clem Dellenger, who missed the Alabama game because of a sprained ankle, also saw limited action in the Miami game. Dellenger should be at top speed for Mississippi State.

Gilbert, Ogden Hit Cage Courts In Monday Tilts

GILBERT (Special) — The Gilbert Demons start their basketball season at 7 p.m. Monday with two games at Ogden.

The girls play the first game and the boys' game follows immediately.

The Demons coached by Harold (Dusty) Rhodes won 24 and lost 12 last season. The Ogden Trojans start under a new coach this year, Milton Linder, a former Northeast Louisiana State player.

11 2-Year-Olds At Champagne For Yearly Run

NEW YORK (AP)—Eleven 2-year-olds were entered for the $125,000 added Champagne Stakes Saturday at Aqueduct, with the Harbor View Farm entry of Count Bud and Roman Brother probable favorites for the richest race ever run in New York.

Roman Brother, unbeaten in three starts, and Count Bud were listed at 7-5 for the 92nd running of the mile event. Mr. and Mrs. John Rigney's Dunfee, a triple stakes winner, is the 5-2 second choice.

Owners paid $500 each to enter, and will put up another $1,000 to start, boosting the gross purse to $212,150, with $152,150 for the winner. Warfare, the 1959 Champagne winner, earned $149,695.

FAVORITES UPSET 3-2

Palmer, Pott Downed In Ryder Cup Action

By WILL GRIMSLEY

ATLANTA (AP)—The cream of the U.S. golf professionals, stung by the defeat of Arnold Palmer and Johnny Pott in the opening match, stormed back for a clean sweep of the afternoon foursomes Friday and a 6-2 lead over Great Britain in the 15th Ryder Cup competition.

Of the eight matches played over the East Lake course which is the home of the great Bobby Jones, the 7-1 favored Yanks won five, tied two and lost two.

"I think we're over the hump now," said Palmer, the American's team's playing captain. "We just had a little stage fright in the morning."

Palmer and Pott were the embarrassed 3 and 2 victims of the two "babies" of the British team, Brian Huggett and George Will, but it was Palmer, teaming with Bill Casper Jr., who led the afternoon comeback.

Casper, roly-poly 210-pound putting wizard from Apple Valley, Calif., actually was the hero of the first day's play in which members of two-man teams hit alternate shots.

First, Casper teamed with Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla. for 1-up triumph over Peter Alliss, the pride of the British team, and Christy O'Connor of Ireland.

Then he paired with Palmer for a 5 and 4 victory over Huggett, the stocky Welshman, and the lean, 6-foot Will, a pair of 26-year-olds playing in the Ryder Cup for the first time.

Thus Casper, who missed four months of the tour this summer because of a torn tendon on the right hand, became the only player to share in as many as two points. Each victory counts one point and a drawn match counts one-half.

"Casper was tremendous," Palmer said afterward with obvious pride. "I just tagged along."

The other American victories were scored by Julius Boros and Tony Lema, who won from Bernard Hunt and 48-year-old Tom Haliburton on the final hole, 1 up; Gene Littler and Dow Finsterwald, 2 and 1 victors over Neil Coles and young Geoffrey Hunt, Bernard's brother; and the rookie team of Bob Goalby and Billy Maxwell, victors over big Dave Thomas and Harry Weetman 4 and 3.

For two of these teams—Littler-Finsterwald and Boros-Lema—the afternoon victories made up for failure to rack up a full point in the morning.

Littler, the former U.S. open champion,and Finsterwald were tied by Thomas and Weetman when the latter sank a 15-foot putt on the final green. Boros and Lema were held to a draw by Coles and Hunt after a bad chip by Boros sent the American team over par on the 200-yard 18th.

Eight more team matches are scheduled Saturday, these with the men playing best ball. Sixteen individual contests conclude the series Sunday.

There seems no stopping the Americans, who have won 11 of the 14 Cup meetings and have never lost on American soil. Scot who captains the British, was obviously disappointed.

"We wanted an even break," he said, "but my laddies gave a tremendous show. I am proud of the way Huggett and Will, my two youngsters won, and most of the other matches were very close."

Casper was the individual standout of the long, sweltering day over the 6,898-yard, par 70 course.

In the afternoon match playing with Palmer, he sank a 25½ foot putt on the sixth hole and another from 18 feet. In addition, he drove magnificently and twice made great recovery shots after Palmer's approaches had gone into traps.

Palmer and Casper had the best foursome score of the day—two under par for the 14 holes they played. Littler and Finsterwald had 71s in the morning match with Thomas and Weetman, who also had 71. Other scores were well over par, going as high as the 80 registered by Alliss and O'Connor.

Alliss and O'Connor were benched in the afternoon, as were Pott and Ragan on the American side.

"Pott isn't playing well," said Palmer. "He hit only one fairway during our match. I had hoped that by teaming with him he might steady down."

One of the most exciting matches was that between Boros and Lema and Haliburton, the old Scot, and Bernard Hunt.

Boros and Lema, one down with two to play, won the 17th to level the match when the Britons bogeyed and then won the 18th with a par on a fine chip by Boros.

AGAINST BAYLOR

Hogs May Have Fresh Backfield

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — Incredible as it may seem — the Arkansas Razorbacks may go into their all-important Southwest Conference game with Baylor with a backfield completely void of letterman experience. This amazing development was confirmed by head football coach Frank Bryoles as interest centered around the ever-changing Porker quarterback situation.

Broyles had already announced that sophomore Jackie Brasuell would step into the wingback position vacated by the injured George Walker. He joins sophomore tailback Jim Lindsey and squadman Charles Daniel at fullback. Now — sophomore Jon Brittenum is "very likely" to get the nod at quarterback in the starting lineup.

The presence of Brittenum would make this starting Arkansas backfield the youngest and least experienced in post-war football at the UofA. All three sophomores played their Shoat football in 1962; none has been redshirted. Daniel carried the football a total of seven times last year, gaining 45 yards.

Considering the fact that Arkansas is rated a contender for the '63 SWC crown — the experience of this backfield is fantastic. No one could recall the last time a Razorback team started an important SWC game with three sophomores in the backfield.

Admittedly — the four have earned a crack at this ambitious assignment — but in terms of offensive potential it's quite a change from All-American Billy Moore; All-SWC Danny Brabham; All-SWC Jesse Branch; and one of the league's top sophomore backs in George Walker.

Lindsey has already "opened some eyes" in the conference with his sparkling change of pace and power. He leads the league in rushing in his first year — 172 yards to 171 for Tommy Ford of Texas. Daniel has already far passed his 1962 production with 103 yards on 26 carries — including a big 32-yard run last Saturday against TCU.

Brasuell has seen limited offensive action in three games — but has 38 yards on five carries. He's the young "jack-rabbit" who came to the UofA a year ago without an athletic scholarship and then proceeded to break Lance Alworth's total offense records as a Shoat. And Brittenum is still an unanswered force in the Razorback attack. Broyles and offensive backfield coach Doug Dickey are extremely high on his potential. They feel that he's seen enough duty in three games to accept the challenge at quarterback. He's rated a fine passer and a quick and elusive-type runner.

Okies, Texans Vie For First

By JOHN GRIFFIN
UPI Sports Writer

Oklahoma and Texas, the nation's No. 1 and 2 teams, collide in the Cotton Bowl Saturday in the most important game so far in the 1963 college football season, and perhaps the most important game the entire season will produce.

With the national leadership at stake, Oklahoma, with nine consecutive regular-season victories since losing to Texas by 9-6 a year ago, ruled a three-point favorite.

A sellout crowd of 75,000 was assured for the clash in Dallas and disappointed ticket seekers were offering $35 to $100 for ducats. The game was scheduled for local telecasting in the Dallas and Austin areas and fans who couldn't get into the stadium were moving into these areas for the TV.

Oklahoma goes into the big game with a 2-0 record, being idle last weekend after crushing 1962 champion Southern California two weeks ago. Texas has a 3-0 mark but suffered a jolt when Ernie Koy, whose booming punts put Oklahoma in the defensive hole that led to the 9-6 loss last year, suffered a shoulder separation last week that puts him out for the year. Both teams rely heavily on ground attack and rival fullback stars Harold Phillipp of Texas and Jim Grisham of Oklahoma were high school teammates.

The nationally-televised game of the week finds Northwestern and eight - point favorite over Minnesota at Evanston, Ill. Although a little of the lustre was rubbed off this one when Illinois upset Northwestern, the game will give a good look at star Northwestern quarterback Tommy Myers, No. 2 in the national in total offense.

Sellout Expected

The largest crowd of the day, a sellout 101,001 is expected at Ann Arbor, Mich., where Michigan State is an eight-point favorite over Michigan.

Wisconsin, ranked No. 5 nationally, opens defense of its Big Ten championship as a seven-point favorite over Purdue. Chief qualification for both teams so far is that they both rallied in the second to score close victories over Notre Dame.

Alabama, third-ranked nationally with a 3-0 record and ready to step over the prostrate body of whoever gets whipped at Dallas, is an eight-point favorite over Florida.

Ohio State, ranked No. 6 nationally and unscored on in two victories so far, is a seven-point favorite over the Illinois team that upset Northwestern, and first place in the Big Ten standings is at stake. Seventh-ranked Penn State, after three big intersectional wins is a 12-point favorite over Army. Tenth-ranked Nebraska, also with a 3-0 record, is favored by 13 over the Air Force.

Among other teams ranked in the top 10, Pitt (No. 4) is idle this week while Navy (No. 6 and Southern Cal (No. 9) played Friday night.

In other leading Saturday games:

East — Holy Cross is favored by 4 over Boston University, Harvard 7 over Cornell, Columbia 7 over Yale, Colgate 12 over Rutgers, Princeton 13 over Penn, Dartmouth 15 over Brown, and Boston College 17 over Villanova.

South — North Carolina and Maryland, even money; Clemson 1 over Georgia, VMI 1 over Virginia, North Carolina State 3 over South Carolina, West Virginia 5 over William and Mary, Georgia Tech 9 over Tennessee, Southern Mississippi 14 over Richmond, Mississippi State 16 over Tulane, Kentucky 20 over Detroit, Florida State 22 over Wake Forest, Memphis State 23 over North Texas State.

Midwest — Southern California 6 over Notre Dame, Iowa 6 over Indiana, Ohio U. 7 over Toledo, Kansas 11 over Iowa St., Missouri 24 over Kansas State.

Southwest — Texas A&M 5 over Houston, Arkansas 6 over Baylor, Tulsa 7 over Cincinnati, TCU 11 over Texas Tech, Rice 13 over Stanford.

Far West— Oregon State vs. Washington, even; Colorado 1 over Oklahoma State, Duke 5 over California, Washington State 14 over San Jose State, Wyoming 26 over Colorado State.

Angels Procure Pitcher, Catcher From Syracuse

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A catcher and a righthanded pitcher are the first off-season purchases of the Los Angeles Angels, General Manager Fred Haney said Friday.

Catcher Jackie S. Moore and hurler Leo John Marentette were conditionally brought from Syracuse of the International League. They will join the Angels in spring training at Palm Springs in February.

Moore hit .296 with seven home runs and 38 runs-batted-in in 73 games for Syracuse.

Marentette, 22, played 22 games for Knoxville in the South Atlantic League before joining Syracuse. With Knoxville he had an 8-7 record in 22 games, followed by a 1-2 record in 14 games for Syracuse. He is used chiefly as a relief pitcher.

Athletes To Fete Joe Aillet Today

RUSTON (Special) — Joe Aillet came to the North Louisiana hill country 37 years ago, quickly established himself as one of the top mentors in the state at Haynesville, and then moved into the collegiate field where for many years he has been considered one of the best in the nation.

After his 23rd year at Louisiana Tech, former lettermen in every sport decided it was time that "Joe Aillet Appreciation Day" be held to publicly recognize his talents.

So on Saturday, Oct. 12 at the halftime of Tech's homecoming game with the University of Southwestern, ceremonies honoring Aillet will be held. U. S. Representative Joe Waggonner of Plain Dealing will be the featured speaker.

During Coach Aillet's Tech career, more than 800 athletes have earned letters in all sports, over 400 of them in football. A majority of them are expected to be here for the ceremonies Saturday.

JOE AILLET, a veteran of 37 years in the coaching profession, will be honored with a special "day" at Louisiana Tech during Homecoming ceremonies at the Ruston school this afternoon. Aillet, who has been athletic director and head coach at Tech since 1940, as guided the school through what as been its "golden era" in athletics.

Why has Aillet remained at Louisiana Tech? It is no secret that he has been offered the same position at major colleges and universities. The genial Frenchman likes Ruston, its citizens and is devoted to Louisiana Tech.

Known for his character building and molding of men, Aillet points with pride to the success of his athletes after graduation in many fields. Only a very small percentage of athletic lettermen at Tech failed to get degrees. Selective recruiting helps but Aillet and his staff stress the academic side of college for all athletes.

There have been many "firsts" in Aillet's long coaching career. While at Haynesville for nine years, he was instrumental in founding and was first president of the North Louisiana High School Coaches Association. Later, he played a major role in the founding of the Louisiana High School Coaches Association and was its first president.

When the Gulf States conference was founded in 1948, Aillet was the prime mover in the foundation of the new league and also its first president. In 1959, the Tech coach was elected to the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics "Hall of Fame."

Aillet played prep football at Holy Cross High school in New Orleans. He was a quarterback at St. Edwards University in Austin, Tex., before transferring to Southwestern Louisiana Institute where he graduated in 1926. He holds a masters degree from LSU.

He was an assistant coach at SLI his final year, then was an assistant prep mentor at Haynesville for three years and head coach for six before entering the collegiate ranks as backfield coach at Louisiana Normal (now Northwestern State). He remained at Normal four seasons before taking his present post at Tech in 1940.

Aillet started this year at Tech with an overall record of 131 victories, 69 losses and eight ties. His teams have won or tied for the title 12 times, finished second six, third twice and fourth twice in 22 seasons. Tech did not field a team in 1943 during the war.

His only losing campaigns have also been war years, in 1944 and again in 1951. He has used the Notre Dame box, T, Winged-T, and pro-T formations at Tech.

Aillet-coached Tech teams have maintained a wide edge over the other league foes. He has a 15-6-2 record against old rival Northwestern State, a 15-4-1 mark against Southeastern Louisiana college, 13-9-1 against Southwestern Louisiana,8-2- 0 against Northeast State, and 10-2-0 against McNeese State.

For many years at Tech, Aillet used the "four yards and a cloud of dust" type of attack hinged on the running game. It has gradually been changed to where the Bulldogs probably have as wide open an attack as any college in the country, with heavy emphasis on the forward pass.

While most of the spotlight is on football, Aillet's golf teams at Tech have been almost unbeatable. There have been several unbeaten seasons which include nine championships in the past 11 years in the GSC.

Aillet's Tech clubs have provided both him and Tech fans with many thrills over the years. The ex-lettermen and Tech supporters hope they can somewhat return the favor with "Joe Aillet Appreciation Day" here Saturday.

DOG - EAT - DOG

Crucial Battle In GSC Today

RUSTON (Special) — A dog-eat-dog football scrap will open fire at 2 p.m. here today when the Bulldogs of Louisiana Tech host the Canines of Southwestern University in their annual Homecoming clash.

This will be a crucial Gulf States Conference match for both elevens since both have already lost one league game. In addition, the game has also been proclaimed as "Joe Aillet Appreciation Day". A 1927 graduate of Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Aillet has served as Tech's head coach and athletic director since 1940.

The game is the 47th meeting of the two schools since their ancient feud was first launched in 1910. In this time Tech has won 25, lost 18 and tied three times.

Ironically, however, Southwestern has given Aillet more trouble than any other GSC school. During the Aillet tenure, his Bulldogs have won only 13, while losing nine and typing once. Supposedly weak USL teams have managed to split in the series since 1959 and since that time neither club has won twice.

The "Raging Cajuns" of Coach Russ Faulkinberry are riding the crest of a two-game win streak. After dropping the season opener to Southeastern Louisiana (14-0), USL rebounded to upset both Hardin-Simmons (16-6) and the University of Tampa (19-17).

Tech has been anything but impressive this year. Smashed by McNeese State 27-6 in the season opener, the Bulldogs squeaked by Louisiana College 12-6 last week.

Faulkinberry had to leave only one regular, halfback Bert Resweber, at home. The versatile senior is nursing a leg injury sustained in the Hardin-Simmons game.

Otherwise, the Canine attack should be at full strength. Probable starters in the USL backfield will be quarterback Lindsey Landry, wingback Craig Doudreaux, halfback Lonny Price and fullback Chester Gosnell.

Maining the forward wall positions are center Charles Fuselier, guards Mike Patin and George Benoit, tackles Paul Fuehrer and Lowell Vaught and ends Jim McNutt and Ed Wroten.

Tech will also have a good back out of action in halfback Paul Lebenne. Jack Odom will move up to Labenne's post and Jack Hopkins is expected to see duty with the second unit. Others who may see action at halfback are John Wurzburger from Mansfield and Alden Reeves from Jonesboro.

Lebenne, who was hurt in the La. College game, will be out a week or longer. The rest of the squad is in good shape.

Tech showed improvement against La. College last week, but must be even better against a stronger Southwestern line. USL quarterback Lindsey Landry is a speedster who loves to go wild. Tech showed unusual weakness against wide runs last week, particularly on third down and long yardage situations.

39TH MEETING

Will Winless Tulane Pick Potent MSU For 1st Win?

NEW ORLEANS — Winless Tulane and unbeaten, once-tied Mississippi State collide for the 39th time Saturday night in Jackson, Miss., with the Green Wave still struggling to snap the longest losing streak in its football history.

Kickoff time at Memorial Stadium is 8 o'clock. A crowd of 25,000 is expected to witness the Southeastern Conference battle.

The frustrated Wave muffed three scoring opportunities last week in bowing to Miami, 10-0, and was on the Hurricane one-yard line when the game ended. It was the 14th consecutive loss for Tulane, which dropped its first two 1963 starts to Texas (21-0) and Alabama (28-0).

Tulane has won 21 games, lost 15 and tied two with Mississippi State over the years, but the Bulldogs will be heavily favored again this year. Last season State erased Tulane 35-6 in New Orleans.

Coach Paul Davis' Mississippi State team annihilated Howard College 43-0 in its 1963 opener, then battled favored Florida to a 9-9 tie. Last week the Bulldogs muffled Tennessee 7-0 in Knoxville.

Tulane Coach Tommy O'Boyle was pleased with the Wave's defensive showing against Miami. Hurricane All-America quarterback George Mira was limited to 66 yards passing and Tulane intercepted two Mira tosses. The thefts, by tackle Mike Calamari and by halfback Jim Davis, set up scoring opportunities which fizzled when Tulane's attack failed.

Miami's touchdown came on a mid - air fumble recovery and three-yard gallop by tackle Robert Brown.

O'Boyle hopes to have halfback Jerry Graves at full speed for the State game. Graves, who missed the Alabama and Texas games with a bruised thigh, saw action against Miami but was not at full strength. End Clem Dellenger, who missed the Alabama game because of a sprained ankle, also saw limited action in the Miami game. Dellenger should be at top speed for Mississippi State.

11 2-Year-Olds At Champagne For Yearly Run

NEW YORK (AP)—Eleven 2-year-olds were entered for the $125,000 added Champagne Stakes Saturday at Aqueduct, with the Harbor View Farm entry of Count Bud and Roman Brother probable favorites for the richest race ever run in New York.

Roman Brother, unbeaten in three starts, and Count Bud were listed at 7-5 for the 92nd running of the mile event. Mr. and Mrs. John Rigney's Dunfee, a triple stakes winner, is the 5-2 second choice.

Owners paid $500 each to enter, and will put up another $1,000 to start, boosting the gross purse to $212,150, with $152,150 for the winner. Warfare, the 1959 Champagne winner, earned $149,695.

Gilbert, Ogden Hit Cage Courts In Monday Tilts

GILBERT (Special) — The Gilbert Demons start their basketball season at 7 p.m. Monday with two games at Ogden.

The girls play the first game and the boys' game follows immediately.

The Demons coached by Harold (Dusty) Rhodes won 24 and lost 12 last season. The Ogden Trojans start under a new coach this year, Milton Linder, a former Northeast Louisiana State player.

TWO BACKS who will be out to help Louisiana Tech Coach Joe Aillet observe his day this afternoon are halfback Jack Odom (left) and fullback Wayne Noland. Odom, a hard-running speedster from Shreveport, almost broke loose twice against McNeese State. Noland, a Tallulah product, is the clutch back on the Canine squad and scored both touchdowns in the victory over Louisiana College last week.

FAVORITES UPSET 3-2

Palmer, Pott Downed In Ryder Cup Action

By WILL GRIMSLEY

ATLANTA (AP)—The cream of the U.S. golf professionals, stung by the defeat of Arnold Palmer and Johnny Pott in the opening match, stormed back for a clean sweep of the afternoon foursomes Friday and a 6-2 lead over Great Britain in the 15th Ryder Cup competition.

Of the eight matches played over the East Lake course which is the home of the great Bobby Jones, the 7-1 favored Yanks won five, tied two and lost two.

"I think we're over the hump now," said Palmer, the American's team's playing captain. "We just had a little stage fright in the morning."

Palmer and Pott were the embarrassed 3 and 2 victims of the two "babies" of the British team, Brian Huggett and George Will, but it was Palmer, teaming with Bill Casper Jr., who led the afternoon comeback.

Casper, roly-poly 210-pound putting wizard from Apple Valley, Calif., actually was the hero of the first day's play in which members of two-man teams hit alternate shots.

First, Casper teamed with Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla. for 1-up triumph over Peter Alliss, the pride of the British team, and Christy O'Connor of Ireland.

Then he paired with Palmer for a 5 and 4 victory over Huggett, the stocky Welshman, and the lean, 6-foot Will, a pair of 26-year-olds playing in the Ryder Cup for the first time.

Thus Casper, who missed four months of the tour this summer because of a torn tendon on the right hand, became the only player to share in as many as two points. Each victory counts one point and a drawn match counts one-half.

"Casper was tremendous," Palmer said afterward with obvious pride. "I just tagged along."

The other American victories were scored by Julius Boros and Tony Lema, who won from Bernard Hunt and 48-year-old Tom Haliburton on the final hole, 1 up; Gene Littler and Dow Finsterwald, 2 and 1 victors over Neil Coles and young Geoffrey Hunt, Bernard's brother; and the rookie team of Bob Goalby and Billy Maxwell, victors over big Dave Thomas and Harry Weetman 4 and 3.

For two of these teams—Littler-Finsterwald and Boros-Lema—the afternoon victories made up for failure to rack up a full point in the morning.

Littler, the former U.S. open champion,and Finsterwald were tied by Thomas and Weetman when the latter sank a 15-foot putt on the final green. Boros and Lema were held to a draw by Coles and Hunt after a bad chip by Boros sent the American team over par on the 200-yard 18th.

Eight more team matches are scheduled Saturday, these with the men playing best ball. Sixteen individual contests conclude the series Sunday.

There seems no stopping the Americans, who have won 11 of the 14 Cup meetings and have never lost on American soil.

Scot who captains the British, was obviously disappointed.

"We wanted an even break," he said, "but my laddies gave a tremendous show. I am proud of the way Huggett and Will, my two youngsters won, and most of the other matches were very close."

Casper was the individual standout of the long, sweltering day over the 6,898-yard, par 70 course.

In the afternoon match playing with Palmer, he sank a 25½ foot putt on the sixth hole and another from 18 feet. In addition, he drove magnificently and twice made great recovery shots after Palmer's approaches had gone into traps.

Palmer and Casper had the best foursome score of the day—two under par for the 14 holes they played. Littler and Finsterwald had 71s in the morning match with Thomas and Weetman, who also had 71. Other scores were well over par, going as high as the 80 registered by Alliss and O'Connor.

Alliss and O'Connor were benched in the afternoon, as were Pott and Ragan on the American side.

"Pott isn't playing well," said Palmer. "He hit only one fairway during our match. I had hoped that by teaming with him he might steady down."

One of the most exciting matches was that between Boros and Lema and Haliburton, the old Scot, and Bernard Hunt.

Boros and Lema, one down with two to play, won the 17th to level the match when the Britons bogeyed and then won the 18th with a par on a fine chip by Boros.

AGAINST BAYLOR

Hogs May Have Fresh Backfield

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — Incredible as it may seem — the Arkansas Razorbacks may go into their all-important Southwest Conference game with Baylor with a backfield completely void of letterman experience. This amazing development was confirmed by head football coach Frank Bryoles as interest centered around the ever-changing Porker quarterback situation.

Broyles had already announced that sophomore Jackie Brasuell would step into the wingback position vacated by the injured George Walker. He joins sophomore tailback Jim Lindsey and squadman Charles Daniel at fullback. Now — sophomore Jon Brittenum is "very likely" to get the nod at quarterback in the starting lineup.

The presence of Brittenum would make this starting Arkansas backfield the youngest and least experienced in post-war football at the UofA. All three sophomores played their Shoat football in 1962; none has been redshirted. Daniel carried the football a total of seven times last year, gaining 45 yards.

Considering the fact that Arkansas is rated a contender for the '63 SWC crown — the experience of this backfield is fantastic. No one could recall the last time a Razorback team started an important SWC game with three sophomores in the backfield.

Admittedly — the four have earned a crack at this ambitious assignment — but in terms of offensive potential it's quite a change from All-American Billy Moore; All-SWC Danny Brabham; All-SWC Jesse Branch; and one of the league's top sophomore backs in George Walker.

Lindsey has already "opened some eyes" in the conference with his sparkling change of pace and power. He leads the league in rushing in his first year — 172 yards to 171 for Tommy Ford of Texas. Daniel has already far passed his 1962 production with 103 yards on 26 carries — including a big 32-yard run last Saturday against TCU.

Brasuell has seen limited offensive action in three games — but has 38 yards on five carries. He's the young "jack-rabbit" who came to the UofA a year ago without an athletic scholarship and then proceeded to break Lance Alworth's total offense records as a Shoat. And Brittenum is still an unanswered force in the Razorback attack. Broyles and offensive backfield coach Doug Dickey are extremely high on his potential. They feel that he's seen enough duty in three games to accept the challenge at quarterback. He's rated a fine passer and a quick and elusive-type runner.

Following a festive fall holiday theme, the show "Witchery of Furs" was written and narrated by Mrs. E. G. Long, who was attired as a most glamorous witch for the occasion. Her black full skirted gown was set off by a hat of gray fox fur with pointed crown and satin trim.

Mrs. C. A. Roberts and Mrs. D. W. Sartor were co-chairmen of the show.

Hostesses for the gala occasion were Mrs. E. F. Worthen, chairman, Mrs. Long, co-chairman, Mrs. P. T. Tennis, Mrs. C. B. Flinn, Mrs. E. L. Carroll, Mrs. A. R. Irwin, Mrs. H. S. Coon, Mrs. G. W. Wright Sr. and Mrs. M. Raphael.

MUTED SHADES

With the approach of cold weather, fashion color schemes, reflecting the season's mood, turn to the soft, muted shades, oyster white, snow white, light gray and soft beige. Nature is busily preparing herself for winter and in keeping with the quiet beauty of autumn leaves drifting the earth, the change in your seasonal wardrobe will mirror the surrounding look of nature.

In keeping with the fashion show theme, effective use was made of pumpkin containers, filled with pyracantha berries, ivy and sage oranges, which formed the centerpieces for the luncheon tables, overlaid with white and gold cloths.

Modeling the "bewitching" fur fashions from The Palace, which expressed a versatility for all occasions from sports to dressy afternoon and evening wear were two charter members, Mrs. Henry Guerriero and Mrs. J. E. Walsworth and the new members of the auxiliary. They were Mrs. George Wright, Mrs. Lionel Barraza, Mrs. Robert Harrop, Mrs. James Truly, Mrs. George Sartor, Mrs. John Spence, Mrs. Deal Welch, Mrs. James Wade and Mrs. J. R. Bullock.

DEAR ABBY: I work for an ophthalmologist. He is middle-aged, extremely handsome (the muscular, gray - at - the - temples type) and is very, very sweet. He is married and I have yet to see him give a woman any encouragement. Twice in the past month women patients have tried to attack him. You know, when an eye doctor does a refraction, he must put his face very close to the patient's. Woman Number One just suddenly threw her arms around his neck and tried desperately to kiss him. Woman Number Two backed him into a corner and started to shout all over the place that she was in love with him and didn't care who knew it. The whole office building is talking about it, and people are hinting that my doctor must have encouraged them. What can I say in his defense to save his reputation?

HIS NURSE

DEAR NURSE: Don't try too vigorously to defend him, or they might think you are Number Three! A professional man's reputation is seldom affected by obviously disturbed patients, or outlandishly aggressive ones.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my early 60's and I would like to have your opinion on a delicate subject. I have a very kind and intelligent gentleman friend whom I admire. I have been keeping company with him for three years. I see him every day. He never mentions a word about matrimony. I am wondering how to act on the subject. I could use some sound advice.

WHAT TO DO

DEAR WHAT: If a man does not mention matrimony, it is a good bet that he isn't thinking about it. My advice: keep listening and say nothing.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow with married children. I married a widower who also had married children. Our problem is where should we be buried? My first husband and my present husband's first wife are buried in separate cemeteries and each lies alone. Should my husband and I each buy a plot beside our first mates and be buried beside them? My husband thinks we should be buried together as we will no doubt finish our lives together. But I think, out of consideration for our children, we should be buried beside our previous spouses. But how would that look for me, since my name is no longer the same as my first husband's? However, he is the father of my children and that should count for something. Our children want no part of the decision, so we are appealing to you.

SECOND WIFE

DEAR SECOND WIFE: In death, those who are left behind should be considered first. For the sake of your children, I think you should be buried alongside their father.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BROAD-MINDED: "Out of sight, out of mind." And you are out of yours if you let him go off with your blessings for a little fling.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The drying out of the outer layer of the skin is one of the main reasons for wrinkles. There are other factors which pay their part in the aging process but this is one of the most important ones.

Cleanliness is absolutely essential for a beautiful complexion. Soap and water are tolerable for the normal skin and most important for the very oily complexion. The latter should use the soap and water treatment several times a day.

However, many women who have very dry skins find that soap is too drying in effect and that cleaning cream is much better for them. The kind of soap and the kind of water of course makes a difference. Some soaps are much more harsh than others. The woman with a dry or sensitive skin should use a soap with little or no free alkalin. I think that these are best for even the normal epidermis. Some authorities have suggested shaving soap as a mild soap for complexion cleaning.

Before discarding soap for your face and neck, be sure that you are using the soap which is best for you. Also use a water softener if you live where the water is hard. Many women fail to realize how important it is to rinse the face and neck well after washing them. If you do not rinse off all of the soap this may be drying. Another trick is to wash your face with soap and water at night and then wash it with water only the next morning before going out into the cold weather.

There is nothing wrong with using only a cleansing cream if you find that this keeps your complexion softer. The dry skin requires a lubricating cream daily, as well as the cleansing cream. Also pat some eye cream about your eyes. This sort of care can make the greatest difference in retaining a youthful appearance.

I fyour skin is generally dry, especially during fall and winter months, use some bath oil in your bath water.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Clear the Way For Beauty" (all about blemishes) send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet number 48 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Reader Finds Another Use For Plastic Jugs

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Those half-gallon bleach jugs have found a new use:

I used one to make a crocheted drawstring handbag. No one would ever guess that the inside part is a gallon-sized bleach bottle!

Cut the bottle down with a pair of scissiors to any size you want. Mine is about four and one-half inches high. Crochet the bag to fit the bottle about six inches taller. (About 11 inches in all.)

Do not forget to make the place for the cord about one and one-half inches from the top.

Line this up to the drawstring with material of your choice. Cover the bottle part with the same material. May be glued.

Slip the bottle part inside the crocheted bag and put the drawstring around the top and it's finished! I use Venetian blind cord.

This bag can also be made from any material to match a dress, suit, shoes, or hat. Make several different colors of purses and use the same "inside" (the bottle part) for all of your hand bags. Since it is not attached, it is very easy to change from one bag to the other for a matching outfit.

Peggy

Dear Heloise:

When I read in your column that applying dry cream of tartar to oily spots on rugs was good . . . I tried it. This is the most!

I used an old can of cream of tartar — dry — on some awful spots on my carpet and the miracle happened. Those spots were "gone with the wind" with your cream of tartar.

I left it on over night and vacuumed it up the next morning. I suggest you try it. It's fabulous.

Jo Reynolds Burke

Dear Heloise:

For those who have foam rubber pillows and mattresses with odors ... if they are fortunate enough to have a yard or a roof top in the sun ... I find that a good sunny-day-exposure with a couple of turnings out in the sunshine and air accomplishes wonders.

I simply put my bed pillows in a sunny location a couple of times a week at the beginning of the day and after the housework is completed place them back on the bed. They are truly fresher and sweeter than before the start.

The thought in my mind is: When science fails, isn't nature grand?

Reader

Dear Heloise:

City gals who must ride to work on a bus may like my idea for making it easy to locate the bus tokens in any womans purse

I just thread all the tokens on a big safety pin, making it easy to pick them out of loose change. Too, one can always tell how many they have in an instant.

Mrs. George Bickel

Dear Heloise:

For children who are too big for pajamas with feet in them, but still like that type pajama:

Buy pajamas with elastic "type" cuffs and sew on those heavy stretch socks ... presto, pajamas with feet! Real fast warmers which are never lost. They are sewen in.

Mrs. J.W.C.

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever tried using your famous nylon net to scrub potatoes before baking? It works like a charm.

Also try using rubbing alcohol to clean plastic fruit! This seems to remove the sticky, gummy grime that is so hard to remove even with detergent or soaps. Just take a soft cloth, dampen with rubbing alcohol and wipe. Presto . . . it's clean.

Anna Durham

Ladies, you might TEST A SPOT first. Because this woman says plastic fruit does not mean that yours is not made out of something else!

Heloise

Dear Folks:

Hold everything! DON'T ruin your rug by using "something" in an effort to remove that spot unless you know what it is and what it's going to do. I have written this warning before and do it again because I am still receiving letters from housewives who are concerned about the removal of spots from carpets and rugs.

I have the answer to the majority of your problems in the twelve-page booklet I compiled with the assistance of the National Institute of Rug Cleaning. This booklet is called HELOISE'S HINTS ON RUG AND CARPET CARE and has been written especially for you. It tells you what to use to remove various types of spots and stains and also gives you hints on carpet care, telling you how to store rugs and discourage moths and carpet beetles.

You can have a FREE copy by sending a self-addressed, stamped, large-size (4" x 9½") envelope to HELOISE RUG BOOKLET in care of Morning World.

I hope it saves you time and money.

Love,
Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I read in your column that applying dry cream of tartar to oily spots on rugs was good . . . I tried it. This is the most!

I used an old can of cream of tartar — dry — on some awful spots on my carpet and the miracle happened. Those spots were "gone with the wind" with your cream of tartar.

I left it on over night and vacuumed it up the next morning. I suggest you try it. It's fabulous.

Jo Reynolds Burke

Dear Heloise:

For those who have foam rubber pillows and mattresses with odors ... if they are fortunate enough to have a yard or a roof top in the sun ... I find that a good sunny-day-exposure with a couple of turnings out in the sunshine and air accomplishes wonders.

I simply put my bed pillows in a sunny location a couple of times a week at the beginning of the day and after the housework is completed place them back on the bed. They are truly fresher and sweeter than before the start.

The thought in my mind is: When science fails, isn't nature grand?

Reader

Dear Heloise:

City gals who must ride to work on a bus may like my idea for making it easy to locate the bus tokens in any womans purse

I just thread all the tokens on a big safety pin, making it easy to pick them out of loose change. Too, one can always tell how many they have in an instant.

Mrs. George Bickel

Dear Heloise:

For children who are too big for pajamas with feet in them, but still like that type pajama:

Buy pajamas with elastic "type" cuffs and sew on those heavy stretch socks ... presto, pajamas with feet! Real fast warmers which are never lost. They are sewen in.

Mrs. J.W.C.

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever tried using your famous nylon net to scrub potatoes before baking? It works like a charm.

Also try using rubbing alcohol to clean plastic fruit! This seems to remove the sticky, gummy grime that is so hard to remove even with detergent or soaps. Just take a soft cloth, dampen with rubbing alcohol and wipe. Presto . . . it's clean.

Anna Durham

Ladies, you might TEST A SPOT first. Because this woman says plastic fruit does not mean that yours is not made out of something else!

Heloise

Dear Folks:

Hold everything! DON'T ruin your rug by using "something" in an effort to remove that spot unless you know what it is and what it's going to do. I have written this warning before and do it again because I am still receiving letters from housewives who are concerned about the removal of spots from carpets and rugs.

I have the answer to the majority of your problems in the twelve-page booklet I compiled with the assistance of the National Institute of Rug Cleaning. This booklet is called HELOISE'S HINTS ON RUG AND CARPET CARE and has been written especially for you. It tells you what to use to remove various types of spots and stains and also gives you hints on carpet care, telling you how to store rugs and discourage moths and carpet beetles.

You can have a FREE copy by sending a self-addressed, stamped, large-size (4" x 9½") envelope to HELOISE RUG BOOKLET in care of Morning World.

I hope it saves you time and money.

Love,
Heloise

W. L. Rambo In Race For State Senate

WINNFIELD (Special) W. L. Rambo, oil-field drilling contractor and former state representative from Grant Parish who filed as a candidate for state senator from the 31st Senatorial District, made the following statement this week:

"This, my formal announcement as a candidate for state senator from the 31st Senatorial District comprised of the parishes of Caldwell, Grant, LaSalle and Winn is made with the full realization that never in the history of the State of Louisiana have we needed men in our legislative offices who have the experience, loyalty, integrity and honesty to fight for the preservation of that which is sacred to us and our way of life.

"I submit to you that if you will check my record in the legislature from 1952 to 1960, I feel that you will agree with me that I am best qualified to serve you in the state senate for the next four years.

"Since I am a fourth generation native of Grant Parish and a true Southerner, I am unalterably pledged to continue to fight the encroachment of Kennedys, civil rights, demonstrations and any other communistic means now being used to try to destroy our Southern way of life. I will support a free electors bill.

"I am a member of the Baptist Church and strictly believe in separation of church and state. I am also a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Order of the Eastern Star. I was in the air force six years and eight months, during which time I served in the China, Burma, India Theater, and am a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars. I feel that I have the background to face any crisis that might arise.

"I am at present 46 years of age, married to the former Mary Long of Georgetown and have three children.

"No political faction has endorsed me and I will assure you that I will represent the majority of the people of the district and not a select few. I will appreciate very much your consideration, and your support if found worthy. My number on the ballot is 103."

30 Gray Ladies Given Caps At Swartz School

Thirty new Gray Ladies at Swartz Elementary School were presented caps in recent ceremonies, signifying completion of of a first aid course and trial working period.

The School Gray Ladies were organized recently by the Ouachita Parish chapter of the American Red Cross to assist in elementary school sick rooms.

Requirements for service are a 10-hour course in first aid and 10 working hours in a school sick room. The course was given by the local Red Cross chapter and sponsored by the Swartz Parent-Teacher Assn.

L. E. Gruber is local chairman and Mrs. Sue Johnson is Swartz Gray Lady chairman.

The newly-formed Gray Ladies group is the first unit of its kind in the parish. During the month of September, the group cared for 138 children.

AEC Detonates Nuclear Blasts At Nevada Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced it set off two underground nuclear explosions at its Nevada test site Friday—one related to weapons development and the other for peaceful purposes.

Both were of low yield, meaning they had an explosive force less than that of 20,000 tons of TNT.

The weapons-related test was the 13th announced for the Nevada test site this year and the sixth since the U.S.-Soviet-British agreement on a treaty to halt all except underground nuclear testing.

The other explosion was part of the commission's Plowshare program to develop peaceful uses for nuclear explosives, and is the fifth for that purpose. The AEC said the test was one of a series to develop devices for possible use in excavation experiments.

SUCCESSFUL - - SO FAR

Monkey Kidneys Placed In Woman

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Surgeons announced Friday they have transplanted a monkey's kidneys to a young woman and she is doing fine—so far.

The operation was the first of its kind on record. It was done three days ago by a team of Tulane University surgeons and physicians. The patient was reported conscious and resting comfortably.

If successful, the transplant has an enormous medical potential. Even ailing hearts might be helped by "booster" hearts from an animal.

Dr. Keith Reemtsma, spokesman for the team, declined to speculate on the future, except to warn against expecting quick results.

The major barrier to success was the body's "immune response," in which it rejects any tissue not its own, except in the rare cases of transplants involving identical twins.

Dr. Reemtsma said the patient was given a chemical agent known as imuran and some steroid drugs in an effort to make the body accept the foreign tissue.

The woman, whose name and age were withheld, entered Charity Hospital with uremic poisoning. Her own kidneys were unable to clean out the waste in her system.

She was kept alive by use of an artificial kidney.

Her kidneys were not removed in the transplant operation. Should the monkey kidneys fail, they can be removed and she will be no worse off than she was before, Dr. Reemtsma said.

The kidney came from a 25-pound rhesus monkey. Surgery took 45 minutes.

The "booster" monkey kidneys were placed under the patient's skin above the groin and attached to main blood vessels in her leg and to the bladder.

Dr. Reemtsma said an animal's kidneys had to be used because the supply of undamaged, undiseased human kidneys is extremely limited.

"When a person dies there is a period of only about one hour in which his kidney can be transplanted to a live person," he added. "Often it is impossible to make the complicated preparations in such a short time."

Tests showed the monkey kidneys were operating 300 to 400 per cent better than the woman's own kidneys had prior to the operation.

She was taken off the artificial kidney, a machine which cleanses the blood when it is connected to the patient's arterial system.

Interest in transplanting animal organs to humans was revived a few years ago. The idea was a popular subject back in the 1920s. About all that came of it then was a collection of monkey and goat gland jokes.

Dr. Reemtsma, associate professor of surgery at Tulane's School of Medicine, said new surgical techniques conquered many problems involved but the "immune response" remains to be solved.

The surgeon is working on the transplatation of animal hearts as boosters to take part of the load off original hearts.

Others directly involved in the operation were: Drs. Charles Pearce, Robert Hewitt, J. U. Schlegel, Prentiss Smith and Howard Radwin, all of the department of surgery; Drs. Brian McCracken, Maurice Pearl and Roy Staub of the department of medicine; Dr. Hannah Woody, department of pediatrics; and Dr. Kenneth Burns, department of vivarial science.

Dr. Reemtsma said the woman agreed to the operation after a careful explanation that the changes of success were unpredictable.

The monkey kidneys began to function almost immediately.

Little Theatre Dates For Play Are Announced

A new series of showings for the Little Theatre of Monroe is being inaugurated this year, Mrs. Robert Evans, president, has announced. The plays will be presented on Thursdays through Sundays in the Strauss Playhouse, Lamy Lane.

There will be no shows Monday through Wednesday.

Mrs. Evans said the production of "Auntie Mame," the first play of the current season, will be presented Thursday, Oct. 17, through Sunday, Oct. 20, and then again Thursday, Oct. 24, through Sunday Oct. 27.

However, for the opening of "Auntie Mame," which is the 150th major production of the Little Theatre, a special "Patron Preview Night" has been designated for the Thursday, Oct. 17, presentation. For this single evening only patrons and special guests will be in attendance.

Included in the "special guests" will be members of the first play presented by the Little Theatre.

The boxoffice at the Strauss Playhouse, Lamy Lane, will be open Tuesday and remain open from 2 to 8 p.m. each day during the run of the show. Persons who have not yet purchased their membership may do so when they make reservations to see the play.

Auto Industry Slates Highest Output Levels

DETROIT (UPI)—The automotive industry has scheduled its highest output level of the year this week, Ward's Automotive Reports said Friday.

A total of 175,089 assemblies have been scheduled for the period, the statistical agency said, more than six per cent higher than the 164,625 units produced last week and more than 14 per cent higher than the 153,312 units turned out this same week last year.

Except for 176,106 units produced in a one week span last December, the week's production will be a high for any week since 1955. The industry record for weekly output came in April, 1955, when 184,277 cars were produced.

Ward's said an all-time monthly record of about 800,000 models is still in prospect for October. The one millionth 1964 model car should roll off the lines early next week.

June Allyson To Wed Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Actress June Allyson and Glenn Maxwell will be maried today in nearby Fort Lauderdale at a judge's home and not in a Miami Beach church as previously planned.

Reason given for the switch was Maxwell's divorce. However, after the civil ceremony at the home of Broward County Judge Boyd Anderson, the couple will go to the All Souls Episcopal church where prayers will be said.

"The law of our Church stipulates that a person who has been divorced cannot be married in the church," said South Florida Episcopal Suffragen Bishop James Duncan.

Maxwell, 31, a hair stylist, was divorced two years ago from his wife of five years. Miss Allyson, 39, was married to actor-producer Dick Powell who died last Jan. 2.

Bennett Seeks Ward 5 Police Jury Election

W. A. (Walt) Bennett, 56-year-old West Monroe businessman, Friday formally announced as a candidate for the Ouachita Parish police jury from Ward 5. He is seeking one of the four posts which will be decided in the Dec. 7 Democratic primary.

A resident of Ward 5 for 35 years. He is married to the former Annie Mae Franton of Calhoun and is the father of three sons.

Bennett, a former member of the parish school board, said he will attempt to contact as many of the residents of Ward 5 as possible.

His statement said:

"I am 56 years old, married to the former Annie Mae Frantom of Calhoun, father of three sons. I have been in the restaurant business for 21 years in West Monroe and have lived in Ward 5 for 35 years.

"I had the pleasure of serving you for six years as your school board member and as the records will prove more progress was made in those six years than in all the history of Ward 5 schools.

"To mention a few, land was purchased where West Monroe Junior High was built, West Monroe football stadium was built, additional classrooms built at the Drew School. Land was purchased and more classrooms built at Claiborne School. More classrooms were built at Ransom School. Land was purchased at Smith and Washington streets from the Riser brothers, where the preesnt junior high is being built.

"In my tenure of office as your school board member, I never missed a single meeting. I never failed to vote for you on any issue. I think that is why you elect the members of any body, to vote for the issues that come before them and not abstain.

"I know of several projects that are needed and being studied now that ward 5 needs. I would like to be in office to help you get them.

"These projects will be discussed later in the campaign.

"I hope to see as many as I can but I know that there will be a few voters in Ward 5 that I will miss and I now ask for the vote and support of all in the ward."

President - Elect Of Argentina To Take Post Today

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — President-elect Arturo U. Illia will take office Saturday after 19 months of provisional military-civilian government in Argentina.

Persistent rumors that the air force was exerting pressure on Illia in connection with the appointment of his military ministers led that branch of the armed forces to issue a specific denial of the reports.

"Such appointments are made solely and exclusively by the president-elect," the official denial said.

The speech is awaited with interest by foreign oil men because of Illia's pre-election challenges of the legality of oil contracts signed with them during the ousted Frondizi regime.

Illia named two secretaries Thursday night to sub-cabinet posts. They were Antonio Pages Larraya to communications and Pedro Gervasio Fleitas to transport. Still to be appointed are secretaries of the three armed forces.

Provisional President Jose Maria Guido, who was sworn into the presidency in March, 1962, after the military ouster of President Arturo Frondizi, held a reception Friday for delegates named by their governments to attend Illia's inauguration.

Grand Jury Fall Session Slated

Fall session of the Ouachita Parish Grand Jury is scheduled to open Monday with ten cases on the docket.

The 12-man body is to be selected in Fourth District Court from a venire of 20 persons. The jury will then go into its secret sessions.

In addition to hearing the evidence in the cases, the jury will inspect parish and state owned and operated facilities, including the parish jail and extension, Green Oaks Juvenile Detention Home, Louisiana Traning Institute, courthouse and Charity Hospital.

JOHN A. CARTER

John Carter Is Candidate For Juryman

John A. (Johnny) Carter, a West Monroe businessman, has announced his candidacy for the Ouachita Parish Police Jury from Ward 5 in the Democratic Primary, Dec. 7.

A life-long resident of Ouachita Parish, Carter is married to the former Miss Martha Frances Henry of Union Parish. They are parents of a son, John Jr. The candidate is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Carter of West Monroe, route one.

Carter attended Ouachita Parish High School and Northeast Louisiana State College. He served overseas with a United States artillery unit and has completed six years in the Louisiana National Guard.

The 30-year-old candidate is active in civic organizations. At present he is a member of the Baptist Church, West Monroe Lions Club, West Monroe Chamber of Commerce, Farm Bureau, Ouachita Cattlemens Assn. He took an active role in the Ouachita Parish Cancer Drive and in the West Monroe Tulip Festival. Carter is a board director of the Lions Club in West Monroe and choir director of Cheniere Baptist Church.

His announcement follows:

"I will strive for a sound parish government for all residents of Ouachita Parish and will work to bring industry into our area. I have no political obligations or groups except the voters of Ward 5. I will strive for better roads and drainage by economical spending of your tax dollar. I solicit the vote and support of all voters of Ward 5.

Actress Sells Mementos For Charity Fund

NYACK, N.Y. (UPI) — Household goods and mementoes collected over 32 years by actress Helen Hayes were auctioned for charity Friday.

The bidding for the estimated 1,000 items was not as spirited as expected. About 200 persons, most of them housewives, attended the sale at Miss Hayes' home here. The widow of playwright Charles MacArthur auctioned paintings, dishes, furniture and theater memorabilia.

An auctioneer said many of those at the auction, which will continue Saturday, appeared to be curious housewives who paid the $5 admission but did not engage in bidding.

"One set of Dickens' works went for $35," he said. "We could have gotten $100 for it elsewhere."

The "First Lady of the Theater" recently sold the rambling, 20-room white house because she wanted to move to smaller quarters. She was not present at the sale.

Proceeds will go to the American Academy of Dramatic Art for a scholarship fund established by Miss Hayes in memory of her daughter, Mary MacArthur, who died of polio in 1949.

Among the mementoes of the theater being sold were a carved wooden horse from Alexander Woolcott; a salad bowl from John Barrymore; a china vase from Maxwell Anderson and a Queen Victoria statue from Lillian Gish.

PLAQUEMINE TEEN-AGERS

Legal Squeeze Put On Negroes

PLAQUEMINE, La. (AP) — A legal squeeze was applied Friday to Negro teen-agers here who have defied tear gas and electric cattle prods to keep civil rights demonstrations boiling.

Sheriff's deputies served every teen-age demonstrator they could find with copies of a preliminary injunction issued against the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) here.

Kenny Johnson, 16-year-old chairman of the youngsters' "Committee on Freedom," was among the first served.

Johnson helped organize the committee at Iberville Parish High School, one of several Negro schools being boycotted because they are segregated.

The committee and its activity came after CORE was placed under court restraint. Johnson said it has no connection with CORE.

Whether the state court injunction against CORE and those acting "in conjunction" with it also applies to the teen-agers was a legal question for the courts.

Sheriff C. A. Griffon said he felt that anyone caught demonstrating after receiving official notice of the injunction could be liable to a charge of contempt of court.

CORE was enjoined against violating any local or state laws in protests against segregation or in its voter registration drive.

Ronnie Moore, state field secretary for CORE, was arrested here on a bench warrant issued in Baton Rouge. The move came after the State Supreme Court refused to review a case in which he was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $50.

Moore was convicted in Baton Rouge in 1962 on a charge of creating a nuisance by using a loudspeaker. The charge grew out of a 1961 racial demonstration.

During the afternoon, pickets were chased away from city hall but otherwise it was quiet.

Attendance was off considerably at the Negro schools.

L. G. Hoffman, superintendent of parish schools, said strict new measures would be used against absent pupils, including charges of juvenile delinquency and the threat of reform school.

"We have been reluctant to take these measures because the Negroes will call them reprisals," he said.

Bi-Racial Group Holds 2nd Meet At Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — A city-sponsored biracial committee held its second meeting Friday but there appeared to be little hope of an easing of racial tensions here.

Negro laeders, threatening new mass protest marches, have said the committee was "too little, too late."

The Community Affairs Committee on Human Relations was formed last week under the guidance of the Rt. Rev. C. C. J. Carpenter, Episcopal bishop of Alabama. Carpenter said the meeting would be private.

Negroes have warned of more demonstrations if the city does not answer their demands for a speed-up of desegregation.

Shuttlesworth and the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the South's best - known integration leader, demanded that 25 Negro policemen be hired within two weeks and that "face-to-face" negotiations be started.

City leaders, including Mayor Albert Boutwell, said they did not plan to reply.

Negroes moved ahead with preparations for demonstrations, holding "non-violent workshops" to teach the methods to be used.

A mass meeting was scheduled for Monday night when King, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, is to return with Shuttlesworth.

King led demonstrations here last spring that resulted in more than 2,500 arrests and racial tension rose to the boiling point. Integraiton of three public schools early in September added to the tension which exploded in the bombing of the 16th Street Baptist Church Sept. 15, killing four Negro girls and leading to two other deaths in the same day.

The seriousness of the Negro leaders' threats to resume demonstrations if their demands are not met, was pointed out by the presence of protest leaders from other cities. The Rev. J. Metz Rollins, a leader of demonstrations last spring in Nashville, Tenn., and others were here.

Despite the promised showdown between Negro leaders and the city, President Kennedy's special two man committee told newsmen racial tension here was easing.

"This, my formal announcement as a candidate for state senator from the 31st Senatorial District comprised of the parishes of Caldwell, Grant, LaSalle and Winn is made with the full realization that never in the history of the State of Louisiana have we needed men in our legislative offices who have the experience, loyalty, integrity and honesty to fight for the preservation of that which is sacred to us and our way of life.

"I submit to you that if you will check my record in the legislature from 1952 to 1960, I feel that you will agree with me that I am best qualified to serve you in the state senate for the next four years.

"Since I am a fourth generation native of Grant Parish and a true Southerner, I am unalterably pledged to continue to fight the encroachment of Kennedys, civil rights, demonstrations and any other communistic means now being used to try to destroy our Southern way of life. I will support a free electors bill.

"I am a member of the Baptist Church and strictly believe in separation of church and state. I am also a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Order of the Eastern Star. I was in the air force six years and eight months, during which time I served in the China, Burma, India Theater, and am a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars. I feel that I have the background to face any crisis that might arise.

"I am at present 46 years of age, married to the former Mary Long of Georgetown and have three children.

"No political faction has endorsed me and I will assure you that I will represent the majority of the people of the district and not a select few. I will apprceiate very much your consideration, and your support if found worthy. My number on the ballot is 103."

Thirty new Gray Ladies at Swartz Elementary School were presented caps in recent ceremonies, signifying completion of of a first aid course and trial working period.

The School Gray Ladies were organized recently by the Ouachita Parish chapter of the American Red Cross to assist in elementary school sick rooms.

Requirements for service are a 10-hour course in first aid and 10 working hours in a school sick room. The course was given by the local Red Cross chapter and sponsored by the Swartz Parent-Teacher Assn.

L. E. Gruber is local chairman and Mrs. Sue Johnson is Swartz Gray Lady chairman.

The newly-formed Gray Ladies group is the first unit of its kind in the parish. During the month of September, the group cared for 138 children.

AEC Detonates Nuclear Blasts At Nevada Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced it set off two underground nuclear explosions at its Nevada test site Friday—one related to weapons development and the other for peaceful purposes.

Both were of low yield, meaning they had an explosive force less than that of 20,000 tons of TNT.

The weapons-related test was the 13th announced for the Nevada test site this year and the sixth since the U.S.-Soviet-British agreement on a treaty to halt all except underground nuclear testing.

The other explosion was part of the commission's Plowshare program to develop peaceful uses for nuclear explosives, and is the fifth for that purpose. The AEC said the test was one of a series to develop devices for possible use in excavation experiments.

SUCCESSFUL - - SO FAR

Monkey Kidneys Placed In Woman

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Surgeons announced Friday they have transplanted a monkey's kidneys to a young woman and she is doing fine—so far.

The operation was the first of its kind on record. It was done three days ago by a team of Tulane University surgeons and physicians. The patient was reported conscious and resting comfortably.

If successful, the transplant has an enormous medical potential. Even ailing hearts might be helped by "booster" hearts from an animal.

Dr. Keith Reemtsma, spokesman for the team, declined to speculate on the future, except to warn against expecting quick results.

The major barrier to success was the body's "immune response," in which it rejects any tissue not its own, except in the rare cases of transplants involving identical twins.

Dr. Reemtsma said the patient was given a chemical agent known as imuran and some steroid drugs in an effort to make the body accept the foreign tissue.

The woman, whose name and age were withheld, entered Charity Hospital with uremic poisoning. Her own kidneys were unable to clean out the waste in her system.

She was kept alive by use of an artificial kidney.

Her kidneys were not removed in the transplant operation. Should the monkey kidneys fail, they can be removed and she will be no worse off than she was before, Dr. Reemtsma said.

The kidney came from a 25-pound rhesus monkey. Surgery took 45 minutes.

The "booster" monkey kidneys were placed under the patient's skin above the groin and attached to main blood vessels in her leg and to the bladder.

Dr. Reemtsma said an animal's kidneys had to be used because the supply of undamaged, undiseased human kidneys is extremely limited.

"When a person dies there is a period of only about one hour in which his kidney can be transplanted to a live person," he added. "Often it is impossible to make the complicated preparations in such a short time."

Tests showed the monkey kidneys were operating 300 to 400 per cent better than the woman's own kidneys had prior to the operation.

She was taken off the artificial kidney, a machine which cleanses the blood when it is connected to the patient's arterial system.

Interest in transplanting animal organs to humans was revived a few years ago. The idea was a popular subject back in the 1920s. About all that came of it then was a collection of monkey and goat gland jokes.

Dr. Reemtsma, associate professor of surgery at Tulane's School of Medicine, said new surgical techniques conquered many problems involved but the "immune response" remains to be solved.

The surgeon is working on the transplatation of animal hearts as boosters to take part of the load off original hearts.

Others directly involved in the operation were: Drs. Charles Pearce, Robert Hewitt, J. U. Schlegel, Prentiss Smith and Howard Radwin, all of the department of surgery; Drs. Brian McCracken, Maurice Pearl and Roy Staub of the department of medicine; Dr. Hannah Woody, department of pediatrics; and Dr. Kenneth Burns, department of vivarial science.

Dr. Reemtsma said the woman agreed to the operation after a careful explanation that the changes of success were unpredictable.

The monkey kidneys began to function almost immediately.

Little Theatre Dates For Play Are Announced

A new series of showings for the Little Theatre of Monroe is being inaugurated this year, Mrs. Robert Evans, president, has announced. The plays will be presented on Thursdays through Sundays in the Strauss Playhouse, Lamy Lane.

There will be no shows Monday through Wednesday.

Mrs. Evans said the production of "Auntie Mame," the first play of the current season, will be presented Thursday, Oct. 17, through Sunday, Oct. 20, and then again Thursday, Oct. 24, through Sunday Oct. 27.

However, for the opening of "Auntie Mame," which is the 150-th major production of the Little Theatre, a special "Patron Preview Night" has been designated for the Thursday, Oct. 17, presentation. For this single evening only patrons and special guests will be in attendance.

Included in the "special guests" will be members of the first play presented by the Little Theatre.

The boxoffice at the Strauss Playhouse, Lamy Lane, will be open Tuesday and remain open from 2 to 8 p.m. each day during the run of the show. Persons who have not yet purchased their membership may do so when they make reservations to see the play.

Auto Industry Slates Highest Output Levels

DETROIT (UPI)—The automotive industry has scheduled its highest output level of the year this week, Ward's Automotive Reports said Friday.

A total of 175,089 assemblies have been scheduled for the period, the statistical agency said, more than six per cent higher than the 164,625 units produced last week and more than 14 per cent higher than the 153,312 units turned out this same week last year.

Except for 176,106 units produced in a one week span last December, the week's production will be a high for any week since 1955. The industry record for weekly output came in April, 1955, when 184,277 cars were produced.

Ward's said an all-time monthly record of about 800,000 models is still in prospect for October. The one millionth 1964 model car should roll off the lines early next week.

June Allyson To Wed Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Actress June Allyson and Glenn Maxwell will be maried today in nearby Fort Lauderdale at a judge's home and not in a Miami Beach church as previously planned.

Reason given for the switch was Maxwell's divorce. However, after the civil ceremony at the home of Broward County Judge Boyd Anderson, the couple will go to the All Souls Episcopal church where prayers will be said.

"The law of our Church stipulates that a person who has been divorced cannot be married in the church," said South Florida Episcopal Suffragen Bishop James Duncan.

Maxwell, 31, a hair stylist, was divorced two years ago from his wife of five years. Miss Allyson, 39, was married to actor-producer Dick Powell who died last Jan. 2.

Bennett Seeks Ward 5 Police Jury Election

W. A. (Walt) Bennett, 56-year-old West Monroe businessman, Friday formally announced as a candidate for the Ouachita Parish police jury from Ward 5. He is seeking one of the four posts which will be decided in the Dec. 7 Democratic primary.

A resident of Ward 5 for 35 years. He is married to the former Annie Mae Franton of Calhoun and is the father of three sons.

Bennett, a former member of the parish school board, said he will attempt to contact as many of the residents of Ward 5 as possible.

His statement said:

"I am 56 years old, married to the former Annie Mae Frantom of Calhoun, father of three sons. I have been in the restaurant business for 21 years in West Monroe and have lived in Ward 5 for 35 years.

"I had the pleasure of serving you for six years as your school board member and as the records will prove more progress was made in those six years than in all the history of Ward 5 schools.

"To mention a few, land was purchased where West Monroe Junior High was built, West Monroe football stadium was built, additional classrooms built at the Drew School. Land was purchased and more classrooms built at Claiborne School. More classrooms were built at Ransom School. Land was purchased at Smith and Washington streets from the Riser brothers, where the preesnt junior high is being built.

"In my tenure of office as your school board member, I never missed a single meeting. I never failed to vote for you on any issue. I think that is why you elect the members of any body, to vote for the issues that come before them and not abstain.

"I know of several projects that are needed and being studied now that ward 5 needs. I would like to be in office to help you get them.

"These projects will be discussed later in the campaign.

"I hope to see as many as I can but I know that there will be a few voters in Ward 5 that I will miss and I now ask for the vote and support of all in the ward."

President - Elect Of Argentina To Take Post Today

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — President-elect Arturo U. Illia will take office Saturday after 19 months of provisional military-civilian government in Argentina.

Persistent rumors that the air force was exerting pressure on Illia in connection with the appointment of his military ministers led that branch of the armed forces to issue a specific denial of the reports.

"Such appointments are made solely and exclusively by the president-elect," the official denial said.

Illia will deliver his inauguration address, outlining broad goals of his administration, before both houses of congress immediately after taking the oath of office.

The speech is awaited with interest by foreign oil men because of Illia's pre-election challenges of the legality of oil contracts signed with them during the ousted Frondizi regime.

Illia named two secretaries Thursday night to sub-cabinet posts. They were Antonio Pages Larraya to communications and Pedro Gervasio Fleitas to transport. Still to be appointed are secretaries of the three armed forces.

Provisional President Jose Maria Guido, who was sworn into the presidency in March, 1962, after the military ouster of President Arturo Frondizi, held a reception Friday for delegates named by their governments to attend Illia's inauguration.

Grand Jury Fall Session Slated

Fall session of the Ouachita Parish Grand Jury is scheduled to open Monday with ten cases on the docket.

The 12-man body is to be selected in Fourth District Court from a venire of 20 persons. The jury will then go into its secret sessions.

In addition to hearing the evidence in the cases, the jury will inspect parish and state owned and operated facilities, including the parish jail and extension, Green Oaks Juvenile Detention Home, Louisiana Traning Institute, courthouse and Charity Hospital.

JOHN A. CARTER

John Carter Is Candidate For Juryman

John A. (Johnny) Carter, a West Monroe businessman, has announced his candidacy for the Ouachita Parish Police Jury from Ward 5 in the Democratic Primary, Dec. 7.

A life-long resident of Ouachita Parish, Carter is married to the former Miss Martha Frances Henry of Union Parish. They are parents of a son, John Jr. The candidate is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Carter of West Monroe, route one.

Carter attended Ouachita Parish High School and Northeast Louisiana State College. He served overseas with a United States artillery unit and has completed six years in the Louisiana National Guard.

The 30-year-old candidate is active in civic organizations. At present he is a member of the Baptist Church, West Monroe Lions Club, West Monroe Chamber of Commerce, Farm Bureau, Ouachita Cattlemens Assn. He took an active role in the Ouachita Parish Cancer Drive and in the West Monroe Tulip Festival. Carter is a board director of the Lions Club in West Monroe and choir director of Cheniere Baptist Church.

His announcement follows:

"I will strive for a sound parish government for all residents of Ouachita Parish and will work to bring industry into our area. I have no political obligations or groups except the voters of Ward 5. I will strive for better roads and drainage by economical spending of your tax dollar. I solicit the vote and support of all voters of Ward 5.

Actress Sells Mementos For Charity Fund

NYACK, N.Y. (UPI) — Household goods and mementoes collected over 32 years by actress Helen Hayes were auctioned for charity Friday.

The bidding for the estimated 1,000 items was not as spirited as expected. About 200 persons, most of them housewives, attended the sale at Miss Hayes' home here. The widow of playwright Charles MacArthur auctioned paintings, dishes, furniture and theater memorabilia.

An auctioneer said many of those at the auction, which will continue Saturday, appeared to be curious housewives who paid the $5 admission but did not engage in bidding.

"One set of Dickens' works went for $35," he said. "We could have gotten $100 for it elsewhere."

The "First Lady of the Theater" recently sold the rambling, 20-room white house because she wanted to move to smaller quarters. She was not present at the sale.

Proceeds will go to the American Academy of Dramatic Art for a scholarship fund established by Miss Hayes in memory of her daughter, Mary MacArthur, who died of polio in 1949.

Among the mementoes of the theater being sold were a carved wooden horse from Alexander Woolcott; a salad bowl from John Barrymore; a china vase from Maxwell Anderson and a Queen Victoria statue from Lillian Gish.

PLAQUEMINE TEEN-AGERS

Legal Squeeze Put On Negroes

PLAQUEMINE, La. (AP) — A legal squeeze was applied Friday to Negro teen-agers here who have defied tear gas and electric cattle prods to keep civil rights demonstrations boiling.

Sheriff's deputies served every teen-age demonstrator they could find with copies of a preliminary injunction issued against the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) here.

Kenny Johnson, 16-year-old chairman of the youngsters' "Committee on Freedom," was among the first served.

Johnson helped organize the committee at Iberville Parish High School, one of several Negro schools being boycotted because they are segregated.

The committee and its activity came after CORE was placed under court restraint. Johnson said it has no connection with CORE.

Whether the state court injunction against CORE and those acting "in conjunction" with it also applies to the teen-agers was a legal question for the courts.

Sheriff C. A. Griffon said he felt that anyone caught demonstrating after receiving official notice of the injunction could be liable to a charge of contempt of court.

CORE was enjoined against violating any local or state laws in protests against segregation or in its voter registration drive.

Ronnie Moore, state field secretary for CORE, was arrested here on a bench warrant issued in Baton Rouge. The move came after the State Supreme Court refused to review a case in which he was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $50.

Moore was convicted in Baton Rouge in 1962 on a charge of creating a nuisance by using a loudspeaker. The charge grew out of a 1961 racial demonstration.

During the afternoon, pickets were chased away from city hall but otherwise it was quiet.

Attendance was off considerably at the Negro schools.

L. G. Hoffman, superintendent of parish schools, said strict new measures would be used against absent pupils, including charges of juvenile delinquency and the threat of reform school.

"We have been reluctant to take these measures because the Negroes will call them reprisals," he said.

Bi-Racial Group Holds 2nd Meet At Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — A city-sponsored biracial committee held its second meeting Friday but there appeared to be little hope of an easing of racial tensions here.

Negro laeders, threatening new mass protest marches, have said the committee was "too little, too late."

The Community Affairs Committee on Human Relations was formed last week under the guidance of the Rt. Rev. C. C. J. Carpenter, Episcopal bishop of Alabama. Carpenter said the meeting would be private.

Negroes have warned of more demonstrations if the city does not answer their demands for a speed-up of desegregation.

Shuttlesworth and the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the South's best - known integration leader, demanded that 25 Negro policemen be hired within two weeks and that "face-to-face" negotiations be started.

City leaders, including Mayor Albert Boutwell, said they did not plan to reply.

Negroes moved ahead with preparations for demonstrations, holding "non-violent workshops" to teach the methods to be used.

A mass meeting was scheduled for Monday night when King, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, is to return with Shuttlesworth.

King led demonstrations here last spring that resulted in more than 2,500 arrests and racial tension rose to the boiling point. Integraiton of three public schools early in September added to the tension which exploded in the bombing of the 16th Street Baptist Church Sept. 15, killing four Negro girls and leading to two other deaths in the same day.

The seriousness of the Negro leaders' threats to resume demonstrations if their demands are not met, was pointed out by the presence of protest leaders from other cities. The Rev. J. Metz Rollins, a leader of demonstrations last spring in Nashville, Tenn., and others were here.

Despite the promised showdown between Negro leaders and the city, President Kennedy's special two man committee told newsmen racial tension here was easing.

Borch Named Head Of Large Firm

NEW YORK (AP) — Fred J. Borch was hired by General Electric Co. 32 years ago at $115 a month. Eighteen months later he was making $78 a month at the same job.

From that inauspicious start, the sandy-haired 6-footer climbed straight to the top.

Borch, now 53, will take over Dec. 21 as president and chief executive officer of GE, world's largest manufacturer of electrical equipment, at probably upward of $200,000 a year.

He will foresee a vast industrial empire with 260,000 domestic and Canadian employes, 120 operating departments, $3 billion assets and approaching $5 billion annual sales.

GE is the nation's fourth-ranking industrial employer behind General Motors, American Telephone & Telegraph and Ford Motor Co.

The great depression, responsible for the early pay cuts, was a disaster for many. Borch counts it as a stroke of fortune for him.

"Jobs were scarce around Cleveland when I graduated from Western Reserve University. GE and other companies weren't hiring many young fellows, and hadn't been for a couple of years," he recalled.

"When business picked up, a great need developed for men in more responsible jobs. It helped those who came along when I did to move ahead faster."

His biggest "breaks," he said in an interview, were bosses who kept pushing him into increasingly demanding jobs he never was quite ready for.

"If a superior waits until a man feels he's ready before nudging him up, the boat will have sailed," Borch said.

This personnel policy tenet, characteristic at GE which prides itself on topnotch manpower recruitment and training policies and for its scientific and management talent pools, is viewed by outsiders as an importnt key to the company's success.

Beginning as an internal auditor working with the sales and distribution forces, Borch advanced through the company's lamp division.

He gained proficiency as a marketing strategist and a reputation as a meticulous planner and manager.

In 1953, he was entrusted with the task of restructuring the lamp division into six operating divisions as part of the GE companywide decentralization program.

The following year Borch was named vice president for marketing services, and from there on worked closely with Ralph J. Cordiner, the man he will succeed as GE head man.

Gerald L. Phillippe, 54, GE president for the last two years will become board chairman when Borch takes the corporate reins from Cordiner, who holds them in the board chairman post.

Borch sees rapidly increasing world trade as both a competitive challenge and an opportunity in GE's future.

"Increasingly we're recognizing the offshore marketing opportunities and scoping our activities to take advantage of them," he said.

He is married to the former Martha Kananem. They have a married son, Richard, 22, and a daughter, Kay, 24. The Borch home is on a three-acre wooded site at Darien, Conn.

Plans For Boy Scout Parade Here Finalized

Plans for next Saturday's annual Ouachita Valley Boy Scout Council parade in the Twin Cities Friday were reported by Chairman Jim Mullis as nearing completion.

Cub packs, Scout troops and Explorer posts from 15 parishes are expected to participate.

The parade is scheduled to form at 9 a.m. in the Crosley School area in West Monroe and will move out at 10 a.m.

Bands taking part will include that of West Monroe High School and the Neville High School Cadet Band, according to Parade Marshal Frank Kirby.

Route of the march will be east on Pine from Crosley School to Trenton, south on Trenton to Coleman, east on Coleman across the old traffic bridge, and east down DeSiard to the Illinois Central Railroad tracks.

All units participating will receive parade banners.

Assistant parade marshal is Bob Trent.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) —Cotton futures closed 45 cents a bale lower to $1.10 higher Friday.

Liquidation depressed current crop months, with selling encouraged by a market rise Thursday.

Distant new crop positions were up about $1 a bale in part reflecting the possibility of U. S. surplus cotton export deals similar to the one President Kennedy approved for Russian-U. S. wheat.

There was some switching from October to December in near months, although no October delivery notices were issued.

Borch Named Head Of Large Firm

NEW YORK (AP) — Fred J. Borch was hired by General Electric Co. 32 years ago at $115 a month. Eighteen months later he was making $78 a month at the same job.

From that inauspicious start, the sandy-haired 6-footer climbed straight to the top.

Borch, now 53, will take over Dec. 21 as president and chief executive officer of GE, world's largest manufacturer of electrical equipment, at probably upward of $200,000 a year.

He will foresee a vast industrial empire with 260,000 domestic and Canadian employes, 120 operating departments, $3 billion assets and approaching $5 billion annual sales.

GE is the nation's fourth-ranking industrial employer behind General Motors, American Telephone & Telegraph and Ford Motor Co.

The great depression, responsible for the early pay cuts, was a disaster for many. Borch counts it as a stroke of fortune for him.

"Jobs were scarce around Cleveland when I graduated from Western Reserve University. GE and other companies weren't hiring many young fellows, and hadn't been for a couple of years," he recalled.

"When business picked up, a great need developed for men in more responsible jobs. It helped those who came along when I did to move ahead faster."

His biggest "breaks," he said in an interview, were bosses who kept pushing him into increasingly demanding jobs he never was quite ready for.

"If a superior waits until a man feels he's ready before nudging him up, the boat will have sailed," Borch said.

This personnel policy tenet, characteristic at GE which prides itself on topnotch manpower recruitment and training policies and for its scientific and management talent pools, is viewed by outsiders as an importnt key to the company's success.

Beginning as an internal auditor working with the sales and distribution forces, Borch advanced through the company's lamp division.

He gained proficiency as a marketing strategist and a reputation as a meticulous planner and manager.

In 1953, he was entrusted with the task of restructuring the lamp division into six operating divisions as part of the GE company-wide decentralization program.

The following year Borch was named vice president for marketing services, and from there on worked closely with Ralph J. Cordiner, the man he will succeed as GE head man.

Gerald L. Phillippe, 54, GE president for the last two years will become board chairman when Borch takes the corporate reins from Cordiner, who holds them in the board chairman post.

Borch sees rapidly increasing world trade as both a competitive challenge and an opportunity in GE's future.

"Increasingly we're recognizing the offshore marketing opportunities and scoping our activities to take advantage of them," he said.

He is married to the former Martha Kananem. They have a married son, Richard, 22, and a daughter, Kay, 24. The Borch home is on a three-acre wooded site at Darien, Conn.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) —Cotton futures closed 45 cents a bale lower to $1.10 higher Friday.

Liquidation depressed current crop months, with selling encouraged by a market rise Thursday.

Distant new crop positions were up about $1 a bale in part reflecting the possibility of U. S. surplus cotton export deals similar to the one President Kennedy approved for Russian-U. S. wheat.

There was some switching from October to December in near months, although no October delivery notices were issued.

Monroe Man Gets Year In Parish Jail

Judge Mack E. Barham sentenced a Monroe man to one year in the Ouachita Parish jail in misdemeanor session of Fourth District court Friday and set arraignment dates of Oct. 15 for six felony cases.

Leon Swarn, alias Leon Swan, 1511 Griffin St., received the one year jail term for attempted theft. Oct. 15 was set as the arraignment dates for Lawrence Eldridge Day, Bastrop, charged with three counts of simple burglary, and for Dalton Simons, Chatham, Louis Huddleston, Jonesboro, Maurice Corley, and Billy Joe Caskey, both of Jonesboro, all charged with aggravated battery. Day is charged with the two burglaries of the C. E. Snyder home and one burglary of the M. J. Sanderson residence.

Judge Barham also sentenced two Monroe residents, Ruby and Wilson Degeyter, to six months in jail on each of two counts of contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile, the terms to run concurrently. However, he later suspended the sentences and placed each of them on three years probation.

In other action, he sentenced a West Monroe man, Marvin C. Hollis, Rt. 3, to 125 days in the parish jail for second offense of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages. Hollis was also fined $400 and costs or 60 days in jail on the charge.

Four others were fined $300 each for DWI, while counts of DWI and negligent injuring against Larry H. Hamilton, 215 King St., were nolle prossed. Those fined include Cecil B. Williams, 107 Popular St., Tommie C. Briggs, 1612 Sunset Dr., John D. Calhoun, Rayville, and Carlton E. Heckford, Alexandria.

Charles M. Caples, Rt. 2, Monroe, pleaded guilty to counts of DWI, (2 counts) and no license plates and was remanded until Oct. 15 for sentencing. Levi D. Wilbanks, Rt. 3, West Monroe, and Cornelius Wright, 2025 Short Thomas St., both charged with DWI, forfeited bonds on the count. Wright was also charged with no driver's license.

Judge Barham set Oct. 18 as a trial date for Roosevelt Rogers, 3114 Pearl St., who pleaded not guilty to counts of DWI and hit and run driving. Nov. 15 was set for trial date on a Ruston man, Lane Stewart, who entered a not guilty plea to DWI.

A peeping tom charge against a Monroe Negro, Earl Lavender, was nolle prossed. D. A. Steele, of West Monroe, forfeited bonds on counts of disturbing the peace and aggravated assault.

E. R. Gorton, of 501 Bres Avenue, Monroe, pleaded not guilty to following too close in traffic, driving with a revoked license and leaving the scene of an accident and will be tried Dec. 6. A reckless driving charge against James E. Bordelon, 310 N. 6th St., Monroe, was withdrawn but he will be tried Dec. 6 on a speeding violation and for driving with improper lights.

Two others fined $37 and court costs for reckless driving were William A. Hobbs, Rt. 2, West Monroe, and Kenny Preston Powell, Negro, Rt. 1, Monroe. Powell was fined an additional $25 and costs for no driver's license.

Section Of I-20 To Calhoun May Open In March

Next March has been designated the approximate date of opening of the 11-mile section of Interstate-20 between West Monroe and Calhoun.

Fifth District Highway Engineer George P. Forman points out the four-lane, 5.2 million roadway still lacks "surface on the shoulders, completion of sodding and seeding and final dressing on it."

Contractor on the project is Louisiana Paving Company.

Ticing in with a completed interchange at Thomas Road in West Monroe, the section will connect with U.S. Highway 80 near Calhoun.

Next connecting link, from West Monroe city limits at Stella Street to Fifth Street will be complete "about Oct. 15, 1964," including 1.161 miles of construction, 3000 feet of it elevated, being built at a cost of $4.8 million by Foster & Creighton of Nashville, Tenn.

In Monroe, I-20 from Catalpa to Texas Avenue, being built by Phillip Farnsworth of New Orleans for $4.5 million, is approximately 30 per cent completed.

S and W Construction Company has the $4.7 million contract for three projects involving 3.8 miles work in the Highway 165 by-pass area, begun in September and due to run three years.

Special Showing Of Color Slides Due At College

A special showing of pictorial color slides from the Louisiana State Fair International Salon of Photography will be held on the Northeast Louisiana State College campus Sunday afternoon.

The exhibition will be held in the auditorium of the College Union Building at 2 p.m. The public is invited.

Sponsoring the showing are the Northeast Louisiana Camera Club and the NLSC chapter of Kappa Pi art fraternity.

The show contains 353 exhibition color slides from around the world representing 228 entrants whose slides were accepted out of a total entry of 1,656 slides from 40 states and ten foreign countries.

Some of the better known contributors include Wellington Lee of New York, Jose Zakany of Mexico City, Ken Sloop of Santa Anna, Calif., Bill Miller of Dunedin, New Zealand, and Fredric Castaneda of Guantemala City, Guatemala.

In addition to the pictorial slides, some sixty or more color slides from the nature salon and several of the winning prints will be on display, according to Lee Estes of the camera club.

"This is the first time for a show of this caliber to be exhibited in Monroe," Estes said.

The show is being brought to Monroe by Henry Rush general chairman of the Louisiana State Fair International Salon, and Clayton Schmidt, color slide chairman.

STILL ALONE

BALTIMORE (AP) — Actress Greta Garbo was true to her anti-publicity stereotype when she arrived at Friendship International Airport from Stockholm not long ago.

Customs inspectors said she wore a floppy coat, knee-length green wool hose and "what appeared to be a sailor's cap with the brim turned down."

Monroe Man Gets Year In Parish Jail

Judge Mack E. Barham sentenced a Monroe man to one year in the Ouachita Parish jail in misdemeanor session of Fourth District court Friday and set arraignment dates of Oct. 15 for six felony cases.

Leon Swarn, alias Leon Swan, 1511 Griffin St., received the one year jail term for attempted theft. Oct. 15 was set as the arraignment dates for Lawrence Eldridge Day, Bastrop, charged with three counts of simple burglary, and for Dalton Simons, Chatham, Louis Huddleston, Jonesboro, Maurice Corley, and Billy Joe Caskey, both of Jonesboro, all charged with aggravated battery. Day is charged with the two burglaries of the C. E. Snyder home and one burglary of the M. J. Sanderson residence.

Judge Barham also sentenced two Monroe residents, Ruby and Wilson Degeyter, to six months in jail on each of two counts of contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile, the terms to run concurrently. However, he later suspended the sentences and placed each of them on three years probation.

In other action, he sentenced a West Monroe man, Marvin C. Hollis, Rt. 3, to 125 days in the parish jail for second offense of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages. Hollis was also fined $400 and costs or 60 days in jail on the charge.

Four others were fined $300 each for DWI, while counts of DWI and negligent injuring against Larry H. Hamilton, 215 King St., were nolle prossed. Those fined include Cecil B. Williams, 107 Popular St., Tommie C. Briggs, 1612 Sunset Dr., John D. Calhoun, Rayville, and Carlton E. Heckford, Alexandria.

Charles M. Caples, Rt. 2, Monroe, pleaded guilty to counts of DWI, (2 counts) and no license plates and was remanded until Oct. 15 for sentencing. Levi D. Wilbanks, Rt. 3, West Monroe, and Cornelius Wright, 2025 Short Thomas St., both charged with DWI, forfeited bonds on the count. Wright was also charged with no driver's license.

Judge Barham set Oct. 18 as a trial date for Roosevelt Rogers, 3114 Pearl St., who pleaded not guilty to counts of DWI and hit and run driving. Nov. 15 was set for trial date on a Ruston man, Lane Stewart, who entered a not guilty plea to DWI.

A peeping tom charge against a Monroe Negro, Earl Lavender, was nolle prossed. D. A. Steele, of West Monroe, forfeited bonds on counts of disturbing the peace and aggravated assault.

E. R. Gorton, of 501 Bres Avenue, Monroe, pleaded not guilty to following too close in traffic, driving with a revoked license and leaving the scene of an accident and will be tried Dec. 6. A reckless driving charge against James E. Bordelon, 310 N. 6th St., Monroe, was withdrawn but he will be tried Dec. 6 on a speeding violation and for driving with improper lights.

Two others fined $37 and court costs for reckless driving were William A. Hobbs, Rt. 2, West Monroe, and Kenny Preston Powell, Negro, Rt. 1, Monroe. Powell was fined an additional $25 and costs for no driver's license.

Other cases handled include such minor counts as disturbing the peace, following too close in traffic, improper parking, no motor vehicle inspection sticker, no 1963 license plate, simple obstruction of the highway, resisting arrest and defective brakes.

Section Of I-20 To Calhoun May Open In March

Next March has been designated the approximate date of opening of the 11-mile section of Interstate-20 between West Monroe and Calhoun.

Fifth District Highway Engineer George P. Forman points out the four-lane, 5.2 million roadway still lacks "surface on the shoulders, completion of sodding and seeding and final dressing on it."

Contractor on the project is Louisiana Paving Company.

Tieing in with a completed interchange at Thomas Road in West Monroe, the section will connect with U.S. Highway 80 near Calhoun.

Next connecting link, from West Monroe city limits at Stella Street to Fifth Street will be complete "about Oct. 15, 1964," including 1.161 miles of construction, 3000 feet of it elevated, being built at a cost of $4.8 million by Foster & Creighton of Nashville, Tenn.

In Monroe, I-20 from Catalpa to Texas Avenue, being built by Phillip Farnsworth of New Orleans for $4.5 million, is approximately 30 per cent completed.

S and W Construction Company has the $4.7 million contract for three projects involving 3.8 miles work in the Highway 165 by-pass area, begun in September and due to run three years.

BRAVE LADY

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. Aileen Cipolloni had a dreadful head cold, which was becoming worse and worse.

Then she remember the blue pills prescribed for her cat, Brave Eagle, for an infected leg. The veterinarian had said they were fit for human consumption.

Mrs. Cipolloni took two of the pills, six hours apart. Next day, she said, she was well.

Special Showing Of Color Slides Due At College

A special showing of pictorial color slides from the Louisiana State Fair International Salon of Photography will be held on the Northeast Louisiana State College campus Sunday afternoon.

The exhibition will be held in the auditorium of the College Union Building at 2 p.m. The public is invited.

Sponsoring the showing are the Northeast Louisiana Camera Club and the NLSC chapter of Kappa Pi art fraternity.

The show contains 353 exhibition color slides from around the world representing 228 entrants whose slides were accepted out of a total entry of 1,656 slides from 40 states and ten foreign countries.

Some of the better known contributors include Wellington Lee of New York, Jose Zakany of Mexico City, Ken Sloop of Santa Anna, Calif., Bill Miller of Dunedin, New Zealand, and Fredric Castaneda of Guantemala City, Guatemala.

In addition to the pictorial slides, some sixty or more color slides from the nature salon and several of the winning prints will be on display, according to Lee Estes of the camera club.

"This is the first time for a show of this caliber to be exhibited in Monroe," Estes said.

The show is being brought to Monroe by Henry Rush general chairman of the Louisiana State Fair International Salon, and Clayton Schmidt, color slide chairman.

STILL ALONE

BALTIMORE (AP) — Actress Greta Garbo was true to her anti-publicity stereotype when she arrived at Friendship International Airport from Stockholm not long ago.

Customs inspectors said she wore a floppy coat, knee-length green wool hose and "what appeared to be a sailor's cap with the brim turned down."

FIVE HOURS APART

Death Fells Piaf, Cocteau In France

PARIS (UPI) — "Bon soir, ma cherie" — goodnight, my dear. With those words to her nurse Edith Piaf fell back asleep to die.

Piaf, 47, the "sparrow of the streets" whose bitter-sweet songs mirrored her own tragic life, died at 7 a.m. Friday from internal bleeding after years of pain and heartbreak.

She probably was the best known French popular artist in the world after Maurice Chevalier.

"I'll die if I stop singing," she once told her doctors and perhaps that was her secret.

Her death Friday came five hours before that of poet-playwright Jean Cocteau, 71, who had suffered heart attacks for the past few years.

"The ship is sinking ..." he wept as he learned of her death.

"I have an awful fever and the death of Edith Piaf chokes me up," he said. He lay down on a coach and died soon afterwards of another heart attack.

The frail, frizzy-haired "little sparrow," who rung tears from more than a generation of music hall lovers with her husky torch-songs, returned by aircraft and ambulance Thursday from her villa on the Cote d'Azur after a relapse she suffered while recuperating from an earlier illness. She fell into a coma about midnight at her home here.

Piaf's life was tortured by illness, broken hearts, accidents and an appalling childhood.

Edith, known also as the "Waif," stood four-feet-10-inches and weighed about 80 pounds.

This small, taut body could not fight the illnesses that plagued her or stand the pace she enforced on it with drugs and overwork.

She reached music halls from the back streets of Montmartre where she passed her childhood in the hurly-burly atmosphere which followed World War I in Paris.

Her first child died at the age of 18 months from meningitis. The father deserted Edith.

Stimulants to keep going and sleeping pills for rest nearly killed Edith in 1959, her lowest point.

Then came another relapse, a comeback again last winter in Paris' Olympia and finally the slow death.

She will be buried Tuesday.

Kurdish Rebels End Iraq Fight

BEIRUT (UPI) — Kurdish rebels, led by their religious leader, Friday surrendered to the Iraqi government and swore allegiance to the regime, Radio Baghdad reported.

The broadcast heard here said Muillah (Priest) Mustafa Barzani and his brother, Ahmed Barzani, led their followers in the capitulation in northern Iraq and they agreed to become "wards" of the government.

It reported their allegiance was accepted by the ruling Baath Socialist ruling council.

Such a surrender, bringing together the brothers and ending the years' long revolt, would be a triumph for the government, the first to contain the Kurds.

Police Arrest Bank Pickets At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Police arrested about 30 white and Negro demonstrators — including two St. Louis aldermen and a state representative—during rush-hour racial demonstrations at the Jefferson Bank & Trust Co. on Friday.

Charged with obstructing a police van were Alderman William Clay and Lawrence Woodson, and State Rep. Hugh J. White. All are Negroes. Officers said they sat on the bumper of a patrol van loaded with arrested demonstrators and refused to move. They were taken to police headquarters in a squad car.

The demonstrators were protesting alleged discriminatory hiring practices at the bank. Circuit Judge Michael J. Scott has issued an injunction barring demonstrations from bank property, although allowing peaceful picketing on sidewalks around the bank.

About 150 demonstrators appeared at the bank, marching and singing. Many carried placards. Half-an-hour before the bank's 6 p.m. closing time about 50 demonstrators entered bank property and many lay down on the parking lot.

A police officer, Glenn Pauley, was injured when one of the police vans hit him as he stood trying to keep the crowd away. He was rushed to a hospital.

Plaquemine Negroes Talk With Sheriff

PLAQUEMINE, La. (UPI) — Negro parents met with Sheriff C. A. Griffin Friday to see if a racial crisis involving more than 1,300 Negro students can be eased before blood is shed. Griffin said the Negroes conceded nothing and nothing was accomplished.

Negroes have demonstrated almost weekly in Plaquemine, an industrial community about 20 miles south of Baton Rouge, the state capital, since August. Hundreds have been arrested. The latest crisis involves a boycott by 1,388 Negro students against three schools in the Plaquemine area.

A total of 2,059 students, both high school and elementary, attend the schools. The boycott began Monday with a demonstration by Negroes at Iberville (Negro) High School. Authorities used tear gas three straight days—Tuesday through Thursday—to discourage demonstrations.

Negro parents, led by David McNair, met with Griffin privately Friday for 70 minutes and asked whether he would use his influence to arrange a meeting between Negroes and city and parish (county) officials before "blood is shed."

Griffin said the Negroes insisted on all their demands being satisfied. The demands include complete integration of all schools and reinstatement of 34 Negro students who led a big demonstration a week ago.

Griffin said he told the Negroes that what they wanted was "outside his sphere of influence." He said he told them "it is only by an act of God that there has been no bloodshed."

But Griffin said he would start serving copies of an injunction isued Thursday by a state district judge against demonstrations. Griffin said all Negro leaders—student and adult—will get copies.

He said he will tell the Negro leaders that penalty for violating the injunction is a $1,000 fine or a year in jail, or both.

Pay Lag Still Hits Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women still aren't getting a fair break with men, particularly in jobs and equal pay, President Kennedy's Commission on the Status of Women reported Friday.

The reason, the commission said: Foot dragging by the federal and state governments and failure of the women to prod them into action.

The unanimous 86-page fact-crammed report by 13 women and 11 men saw no need for any constitutional amendment beyond that for woman suffrage ratified in 1920. The commission said women already have equal rights under provisions guarding against deprivation of life, liberty and property.

But the commission stressed that there is need for legal clarification of women's rights.

Specifically, the report said: "State legislatures are most directly responsible for action necessary to eliminate injustices to women under the law. These inequalities are primarily in areas of jury service and personal property rights of women."

The commission said only 20 states let women serve on the juries on the same basis as men, and women are barred completely from sitting in court judgement on their peers in South Carolina, Alabama and Mississippi.

In accusing Uncle Sam of dragging his feet in this field, the commission said one reason is "fear of impinging on states' rights."

Telling the women they are not blameless in the matter, the commission said they outnumber men in this country by about 3.75 million yet their failure to vote makes them a political minority.

The report called on Kennedy to take the lead in making things better for the women in the home, community on the job and in civil and political life.

The commission laid down three major acts it said the President should take:

—Issue an executive order to encourage equal treatment for women in private employment as well as under federal contracts. The report noted that Kennedy had already taken a step in that direction in a 1962 directive to federal agencies.

—Launch a federal program to encourage adult education for women, who the commission pointed out generally outlive men and can look forward to a number of useful years after raising families.

—Designate a Cabinet officer to make certain that the commission's recommendations are carried out and appoint a citizens' committee to keep tabs on what progress is being made.

One thing the states can do, the commission said, is enact equal pay laws similar to the federal equal pay act signed by Kennedy last June and which goes into effect over the next two years. This is estimated to affect less than one-third of the nation's 24 million women with jobs—only those covered by the federal minimum wage law.

The commission's findings on the status of women at work included these:

—"Advancement of single women is noticeable, but not strikingly, greater than that of married women."

—All women suffer low pay compared to men, averaging about 60 per cent of men's earnings for the same job.

FIVE HOURS APART

Death Fells Piaf, Cocteau In France

PARIS (UPI) — "Bon soir, ma cherie" — goodnight, my dear. With those words to her nurse Edith Piaf fell back asleep to die.

Piaf, 47, the "sparrow of the streets" whose bitter-sweet songs mirrored her own tragic life, died at 7 a.m. Friday from internal bleeding after years of pain and heartbreak.

She probably was the best-known French popular artist in the world after Maurice Chevalier.

"I'll die if I stop singing," she once told her doctors and perhaps that was her secret.

Her death Friday came five hours before that of poet-playwright Jean Cocteau, 74, who had suffered heart attacks for the past few years.

"The ship is sinking . . . "he wept as he learned of her death.

"I have an awful fever and the death of Edith Piaf chokes me up," he said. He lay down on a coach and died soon afterwards of another heart attack.

The frail, frizzy-haired "little sparrow," who rung tears from more than a generation of music hall lovers with her husky torch-songs, returned by aircraft and ambulance Thursday from her villa on the Cote d'Azur after a relapse she suffered while recuperating from an earlier illness. She fell into a coma about midnight at her home here.

Piaf's life was tortured by illness, broken hearts, accidents and an appalling childhood.

Edith, known also as the "Waif," stood four-feet-10-inches and weighed about 80 pounds.

This small, taut body could not fight the illnesses that plagued her or stand the pace she enforced on it with drugs and overwork.

She reached music halls from the back streets of Montmartre where she passed her childhood in the hurly-burly atmosphere which followed World War I in Paris.

Her first child died at the age of 18 months from meningitis. The father deserted Edith.

Stimulants to keep going and sleeping pills for rest nearly killed Edith in 1959, her lowest point.

Then came another relapse, a comeback again last winter in Paris' Olympia and finally the slow death.

She will be buried Tuesday.
